PRINTERS, NEW YORK.

P R E F A C E .

THE compiler is fully aware that, from the nature of the statistical and other information relating to the officers of the United States Government, the County officers, State officers and State Commissions located in this city, together with the officers of the local government, and the names, officers, etc., of the many public and private educational, charitable and correctional institutions with which this Municipality abounds, a seeming repetition each year is unavoidable. To offset this apparent defect, and to render a compilation of this character of any value, accuracy in detail is indispensable, and unusual care and circumspection has been taken in this regard; while, in the arrangement and classification of the different offices, institutions and statistics, care has been taken to make it as nearly perfect as possible, the exceptions being only in cases where information was not obtained in time for insertion in its appropriate place. The Financial and Commercial Statistics contained in the present volume, for which the compiler is mainly indebted to the reports of the Chamber of Commerce, is a new feature, and it is hoped will find favor with the public.

In the preparation of the present volume (the second one of the new series), the compiler has been greatly encouraged in his labors by the very flattering encomiums bestowed by the press and people of this city upon his first effort at compilation—the “Manual” of last year. He has also been aided by the kind tender of access to a most extensive and valuable collection of original letters and papers, of an ante-revolutionary date, in possession of T. BAILEY MYERS, Esq., relating to the history of the "Province" and the city of New York, and he has drawn heavily upon the store so generously placed at his disposal. All the fac-similes contained in the present edition, together with the portraits of the Colonial Governors, and many other rare and valuable items, have been obtained from that source. He desires here gratefully and publicly to acknowledge the obligation, and to solicit a continuance of the favor.

The compiler is well aware that there are in this city, particularly among the descendants of its early inhabitants, many such mines of historical wealth unexplored, from which might be brought to light, and distributed to the people, numberless glittering historical gems. To the owners of such he respectfully tenders the pages of the "Manual," and earnestly solicits the valuable privilege of being instrumental in giving to the public, any such reminiscences connected with the settlement, progress and development of this great city. It is a fruitful theme, and he confidently anticipates the pleasure of contributing, by such assistance, to the value, interest and reputation of succeeding editions of the work. Full credit will be given to each contributor, simple justice requiring such a proceeding.

As a specimen of the Printer's art, as well the letter-press as the lithographing and engraving, it will, the compiler hopes, compare favorably with any former edition of either the old or new series.

Perfection, however, is not to be expected, as it is seldom, if ever, attainable in any mere human undertaking. If the present edition meets the favor which was extended to the first effort at "bookmaking" of the compiler (the edition for last year), he will deem himself highly complimented and extremely fortunate, and will, in consequence, be further encouraged in his efforts to secure to the Corporation and people of this city, annually, a book of statistical, historical and general information at once useful, interesting and reliable.

JOSEPH SHANNON,

Clerk Common Council.

An Act

TO AMEND THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 7, 1830.—CHAPTER 122.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the Corporation of the city of New York shall be vested in a Board of Aldermen and a Board of Assistants, who together shall form the Common Council of the city.

§ 2. Each ward of the city shall be entitled to elect one person, to be denominated the Alderman of the ward, and the persons so chosen, together shall form the Board of Aldermen; and each ward shall also be entitled to elect one person, to be denominated as Assistant Alderman, and the persons so chosen, together shall form the Board of Assistants.

§ 3. The Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen shall be chosen for one year; and no person shall be eligible to either office who shall not, at the time of his election, be a resident of the ward for which he is chosen.

§ 4. The annual election for charter officers shall commence on the second Tuesday in April, and the officers elected shall be sworn into office on the second Tuesday in May thereafter; and all the provisions of law now in force in regard to the notification, duration, and conduct of elections for members of Assembly, and in regard to the appointment, powers, and duties of the inspectors holding the same, shall apply to the annual election of charter officers.

§ 5. The first election for charter officers, after the passage of this law, shall take place on the second Tuesday in April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one; and all those persons who shall have been elected under the former laws regulating the election of charter officers, and shall be in office at the time of the passage of this law, shall continue in office until the officers elected under this law shall be entitled to be sworn into office.

§ 6. The Board of Aldermen shall have power to direct a special election to be held, to supply the place of any Alderman whose seat shall become vacant by death, removal from the city, resignation, or otherwise; and the Board of Assistants shall also have power to direct a special election to supply any vacancy that may occur in the Board of Assistants; and in both cases the persons elected to supply the vacancy shall hold his seat only for the residue of the term of office of his immediate predecessor.

§ 7. The Boards shall meet in separate chambers, and a majority of each shall be a quorum to do business. Each Board shall appoint a President from its own body, and shall also choose its Clerk and other officers, determine the rules of its own proceedings, and be the judge of the qualifications of its own members. Each Board shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and the doors of each shall be kept open, except when the public welfare shall require secrecy; and all resolutions and reports of Committees, which shall recommend any specific improvement involving the appropriation of public moneys, or taxing or assessing the citizens of said city, shall be published immediately after the adjournment of the Board, under the authority of the Common Council, in all the newspapers employed by the Corporation; and whenever a vote is taken in relation thereto, the ayes and noes shall be called, and published in the same manner.

§ 8. Each Board shall have the authority to compel the attendance of absent members; to punish its members for disorderly behavior, and to expel a member, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to the Board; and the member so expelled shall, by such expulsion, forfeit all his rights and powers as an Alderman or Assistant Alderman.

§ 9. The stated and occasional meetings of each Board of the Common Council shall be regulated by its own ordinances; and both Boards may meet on the same or on different days, as they may severally judge expedient.

§ 10. Any law, ordinance, or resolution of the Common Council may originate in either Board, and when it shall have passed one Board, may be rejected or amended by the other.

§ 11. No member of either Board shall, during the period for which he was elected, be appointed to, or be competent to hold any office of which the emoluments are paid from the city treasury, or by fees directed to be paid by any ordinance or act of the Common Council, or be directly or indirectly interested in any contract, the expenses or consideration whereof are to be paid under any ordinance of the Common Council; but this section shall not be construed to deprive any Alderman or Assistant of any emoluments or fees which he is entitled to by virtue of his office.

§ 12. Every act, ordinance, or resolution which shall have passed the two Boards of the Common Council, before it shall take effect shall be presented, duly certified, to the Mayor of the city for his approbation. If he approve, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections to the Board in which it originated, within ten days thereafter; or if such Board be not then in session, at its next stated meeting. The Board to which it shall be returned shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and cause the same to be published in one or more of the public newspapers of the city.

§ 13. The Board to which such act, ordinance, or resolution shall have been so returned, shall, after the expiration of not less than ten days thereafter, proceed to reconsider the same. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the members elected to the Board shall agree to pass the same, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other Board, by which it shall be likewise reconsidered, and, if approved by a majority of all the members elected to such Board, it shall take effect as an act or law of the Corporation. In all such cases the votes of both Boards shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the passage of the measure reconsidered shall be entered on the journal of each Board respectively.

§ 14. If the Mayor shall not return any act, ordinance, or resolution so presented to him within the time above limited for that purpose, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had signed it.

§ 15. Neither the Mayor or Recorder of the city of New York shall be a member of the Common Council thereof after the second Tuesday of May, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one.

§ 16. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of Mayor, and whenever the Mayor shall be absent from the city, or be prevented by sickness, or any other cause, from attending to the duties of his office, the President of the Board of Aldermen shall act as Mayor, and shall possess all the rights and powers of the Mayor during the continuance of such vacancy, absence, or disability.

§ 17. It shall be the duty of the Mayor—

1. To communicate to the Common Council at least once a year, and oftener if he shall deem it expedient, a general statement of the situation and condition of the city, in relation to its government, finances, and improvements.
2. To recommend to the adoption of the Common Council all such measures connected with the police, security, health, cleanliness, and ornament of the city, and the improvement of its government and finances, as he shall deem expedient.
3. To be vigilant and active in causing the laws and ordinances of the government of the city to be duly executed and enforced.

4. To exercise a constant supervision and control over the conduct and acts of all subordinate officers, and to receive and examine into all such complaints as may be preferred against any of them for violation or neglect of duty, and generally to perform all such duties as may be prescribed to him by the charter and city ordinances, and the laws of this State and the United States.

§ 18. Annual and occasional appropriations shall be made by proper ordinances of the Common Council, for every branch and object of city expenditure, nor shall any money be drawn from the city treasury, except the same shall have been previously appropriated to the purpose for which it was drawn.

§ 19. The Common Council shall not have authority to borrow any sums of money whatever on the credit of the Corporation, except in anticipation of the revenue of the year in which such loan shall be made, unless authorized by a special act of the Legislature.

§ 20. It shall be the duty of the Common Council to publish, two months before the annual election of charter officers in each year, for the general information of the citizens of New York, a full and detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Corporation during the year, ending on the first day of the month in which such publication is made; and in every such statement the different sources of city revenue and the amount received from each; the several appropriations made by the Common Council, the objects for which the same were made, and the amount of moneys expended under each; the moneys borrowed on the credit of the Corporation, the authority under which each loan was made, and the terms on which the same was obtained, shall be clearly and particularly specified.

§ 21. The executive business of the Corporation of New York shall hereafter be performed by distinct departments, which it shall be the duty of the Common Council to organize and appoint for that purpose.

§ 22. It shall be the duty of the Common Council to provide for the accountability of all officers and other persons to whom the receipt or expenditure of the funds of the city shall be intrusted, by requiring from them sufficient security for the performance of their duties or trust, which security shall be annually renewed; but the security first taken shall remain in force until new security shall be given.

§ 23. The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen shall, by virtue of his office, be Clerk of the Common Council, and shall perform all the duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the Common Council, except such as shall be assigned to the Clerk of the Board of Assistant Aldermen; and it shall be his duty to keep open for inspection, at all reasonable times, the records and minutes of the proceedings of the Common Council, except such as shall be specially ordered otherwise.

§ 24. The division of the Common Council into two Boards shall not take effect until the officers to be elected under this law enter on the duties of their office. Each Board shall hold its first meeting, for the purpose of organizing, on the second Tuesday of May in each year, at which time the Mayor or Clerk of the Common Council shall attend, by whom the oath of office shall be administered to the members elected. In the absence of the Mayor and Clerk, such oath may be administered by the Recorder, or First Judge of the city, or by any of the Justices of the Superior Court.

§ 25. None of the provisions of this act, except the eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-second sections, shall be construed as applying to the Common Council as now constituted.

§ 26. Such parts of the charter of the city of New York, and of the several acts of the Legislature amending the same, as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this law, shall not be construed as repealed, modified, or in any manner affected thereby; but shall continue and remain in full force.

An Act

TO AMEND THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 2, 1849; THREE-FIFTHS BEING PRESENT.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the Corporation of the city of New York shall continue to be vested in a Board of Aldermen and a Board of Assistant Aldermen, who together shall form the Common Council of the city. The Board of Aldermen shall consist of one Alderman from each ward, who shall be elected by the people of the respective wards for two years. The Board of Assistant Aldermen shall consist of one Assistant Alderman from each ward, who shall be elected in like manner, and shall hold their office for one year.

§ 2. The election for charter officers shall be held on the day of the general State election, when all charter officers eligible by the people shall be chosen, and the officers who shall be elected shall be sworn into office on the first Monday of January thereafter; and the laws of the State regulating elections shall apply to elections of charter officers; but the Common Council may, by law, extend the time for the canvass of the votes. The Mayor shall hold his office for a period of two years.

§ 3. The Common Council, during the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty, may hold its sessions as often as each Board shall, by resolution, appoint, and thereafter the Common Council shall annually hold only three stated sessions of not exceeding one month each, commencing on the first Monday of January, May, and September. The Mayor may convene the Common Council, or the Board of Aldermen only, at any time between the sessions, if, in his judgment, any exigency shall have arisen to render such a proceeding necessary, on the request, in writing, of a majority of the members elected to each Board, specifying the purposes for which such meeting is called; in which case the action of the Common Council shall be confined to the matters in reference to which it shall have been so convened, or to such other matters as may be submitted by the Mayor for its consideration during such session; and the respective Boards may adjourn from day to day until such business shall be completed.

§ 4. The Boards shall sit in separate chambers, and the doors shall be kept open, except when the public welfare shall require secrecy. The majority of each shall be a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members. Each Board shall appoint a President from its own body; shall choose its Clerk and other officers; determine the rules of its own proceedings; be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members; keep a journal of its proceedings, and have power to direct special elections to fill its own vacancies; to compel the attendance of members; to punish them for disorderly conduct, and expel a member by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected, after five days' notice and opportunity of being heard has been given to him; but such resolution of expulsion shall be of no effect unless it contain a provision for a special election within two weeks thereafter to supply such vacancy; provided, however, that such special election shall not be ordered unless there be at least two months of the term of the expelled member unexpired. The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen shall, by virtue of his office, be Clerk of the Common Council, and shall perform all the duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the Common Council, except such as shall be assigned to the Clerk of the Board of Assistant Aldermen; and it shall be his duty to keep open for inspection, at all reasonable times, the records and minutes of the proceedings of the Common Council, except such as shall be specially ordered otherwise. The two Boards shall have concurrent powers, and a negative on each other's proceedings, and shall in all cases act as separate bodies, and shall not appoint joint committees, except a committee on accounts. Each Board may originate, amend, concur in, or reject any law, ordinance, or resolution; but no law shall pass either Board, except by a majority of the members elected. Neither Board shall adjourn for a longer period than three days, except by a resolution to be concurred in by the other body.

§ 5. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the respective Boards to publish all ordinances and amendments of ordinances which shall be passed, and also the proceedings, in the newspapers employed by the Corporation, except such parts as may require secrecy, and whenever a vote shall be taken in either Board upon the passage of a resolution or ordinance which shall contemplate any specific improvement, or involve the sale, disposition, or appropriation of public property, or the expenditure of public moneys or income therefrom, or lay any tax or assessment, such resolution or ordinance shall, before the same shall be sent to the other Board, and immediately after the adjournment of the Board at which the same shall have been passed, be published, with the ayes and noes, with the names of the persons voting for and against the same, in at least two newspapers, as a part of the proceedings; and no act, resolution, or ordinance which shall have passed one Board shall be acted upon by the other Board on the same day, unless by unanimous consent, except in case of invasion, insurrection, or pestilence.

§ 6. If any ordinance or resolution passed by each Board, as provided by sections twelve and thirteen of the amended charter of one thousand eight hundred and thirty, shall not be returned by the Mayor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall become a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the close of the session of the Common Council shall prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law until the expiration of five days after the commencement of the next session of the Common Council, by whom the ordinance or resolution shall be reconsidered, if returned within such time, and be disposed of in the same manner and with like effect as if presented at the preceding session.

§ 7. No money shall be drawn from the city treasury except the same shall have been previously appropriated to the purpose for which it is drawn; and all appropriations shall be based upon specific and detailed statements, in writing, of the several heads of the departments, through the Comptroller.

§ 8. The Board of Assistant Aldermen shall have the sole power of impeachment of all city officers, not otherwise provided for; and pending such impeachment, and until the final disposition thereof, the party impeached shall not exercise any of the functions of his office. The Board of Aldermen shall have the sole power to try all impeachments; when sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation, truly and impartially to try the impeachment, according to evidence, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected to said board. Judgment in case of impeachment shall not extend further than removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office under the city charter; but the party convicted shall be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

§ 9. The executive power of the Corporation shall be vested in the Mayor, the heads of departments, and such other executive officers as shall be from time to time created by law, and neither the Common Council, nor any committee or member thereof, shall perform any executive business whatever, except such as is or shall be specially imposed on them by the laws of the State, and except that the Board of Aldermen may approve or reject the nominations made to them, as hereinafter provided.

Every person elected or appointed to any office under the City Government shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before the Mayor, faithfully to perform the duties of his office, which oath or affirmation shall be filed in the Mayor's office.

§ 24. All officers or other persons to whom the receipts or expenditure of the funds of the city, or fees or funds payable into the city treasury, shall be intrusted, shall give sufficient security for the faithful performance of their duty, in such form and amount as the Common Council may by ordinance prescribe, which shall be annually renewed. No security shall be deemed canceled or lost for want of renewal or reappointment.

§ 25. Any officer of the city government, or person, or persons employed in any department thereof, who shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this charter, or commit any fraud, or convert any of the public property to his own use, or knowingly permit any other person so to convert it, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and in addition to the penalties imposed by law, shall forfeit his office, and be excluded for ever after from receiving or holding any office under the city charter. And any person who shall willfully swear falsely in any oath or affirmation required by this act, shall be guilty of perjury.

§ 26. The first election of officers to be elected under this act, shall be held at the next general State election. The Mayor, who shall be elected at the charter election, on the second Tuesday in April, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, shall hold his office until the first Monday of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, and the Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen who shall be elected at that election, shall hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, and no longer. All officers of said city government, who shall be in office when this act shall take effect, shall hold their offices and execute the duties thereof until their successors shall be duly qualified.

§ 28. All such parts of the charter of the city of New York, and the several acts of the Legislature amending the same, or in any manner affecting the same, as are inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed; but so much and such parts thereof as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this law, shall not be construed as repealed, altered, or modified, or in any form affected thereby, but shall continue and remain in full force and virtue.

§ 29. This act shall be submitted for the approval of the electors of the city and county of New York, at an election to be held in said city, on the second Tuesday of April, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, for which the Common Council of the city shall make the necessary arrangements. The tickets which shall be polled at the said election shall contain either the words "In favor of amendments to charter," or "Against amendments to charter," and if a majority of all the persons voting thereon at the said election shall vote the ticket "In favor of amendments to charter," this act shall become a law; if a majority of such persons shall vote "Against amendments to charter," this act shall be void.

§ 30. In case this act shall be approved of by a majority of the electors of said city, as aforesaid, and become a law, it shall go into effect on the first day of June next; and the terms of office of all the officers elected at such election on the second Tuesday of April next shall expire on the days and in the manner hereinbefore provided.

An Act

IN RELATION TO THE CHIEF OF POLICE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 10, 1852.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. All that portion of section second, of an act entitled "An act to amend the charter of the city of New York," passed the eleventh day of July, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, relative to the appointment of the Chief of Police, be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

An Act

FURTHER TO AMEND THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 12, 1853.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. The legislative powers of the Corporation of the city of New York shall be vested in a Board of Aldermen and a Board of Councilmen, who, together, shall form the Common Council of the city.

The Board of Aldermen shall consist of one Alderman from each ward, who shall be elected by the people of the respective wards for two years. The Board of Councilmen shall consist of sixty members, to be elected from as many districts, who shall be sworn into office on the first Monday of January next succeeding their election, and shall hold their offices for one year, and shall receive the same compensation as the Aldermen.

§ 2. The members of the Board of Aldermen, first elected under this act, shall be classified as follows : On or before the first Tuesday in December, succeeding the next general election, the Clerk of the city and county of New York shall, in the presence of the Mayor, Recorder, and Comptroller, or a majority thereof, draw from a box, to be provided for the purpose, in which two ballots shall have been deposited, having thereon, respectively, either the word "odd," or the word "even," one ballot; if the ballot so drawn shall have thereon the word "odd," then the term of office of the Aldermen chosen from wards having an odd numerical designation shall expire on the first Monday of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five; and in case the ballot having thereon the word "even," shall be drawn, then the term of office of the Aldermen having an even numerical designation shall expire on the first Monday in January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six. At all subsequent elections, Aldermen shall be elected for the full term of two years.

§ 3. For the election of Councilmen, the said city shall be divided into sixty districts of contiguous territory, and as near as may be of equal population, each of which shall choose one Councilman. The Common Council shall so divide the city into such districts, on or before the first Monday in September next; and thereafter, within one year after the State and national census shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, in like manner, re-district said city.

§ 4. Every act, resolution, or ordinance appropriating money, or involving the expenditure of money, not rendered imperative under the provisions of any State law, shall originate in the Board of Councilmen; but the Board of Aldermen may propose, or concur with amendments, as in other cases.

§ 5. A vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each Board shall be necessary to pass any act, ordinance, or resolution of the Common Council, which shall have been returned by the Mayor with his objections.

§ 6. No Alderman shall hereafter sit or act as Judge of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, or in the Courts of General or Special Sessions in the city and county of New York; but this section shall not prevent his exercising the power of a magistrate in the arrest, commitment, or bailing of offenders, except that he can not let the bail, or discharge a person arrested or committed by another magistrate.

§ 7. All ferries, docks, piers, and slips shall be leased; and all leases and sales of public property and franchises (other than grants of lands under water, to which the owners of the upland shall have a pre-emption right), shall be made by public auction, and to the highest bidder, who will give adequate security (no lease hereafter given, except as the same may be required by covenants of the Corporation already existing, shall be for a longer period than ten years, and all ferry leases shall be revocable by the Common Council, for mismanagement, or neglect to provide adequate accommodations). All persons requiring any ferry lease or franchise, under the provisions of this act, shall be required to purchase, at a fair appraised valuation, the boats, buildings, and other property of the former lessees actually necessary for the purposes of such ferry. Previous notice of all sales referred to in this section shall be given, under the direction of the Comptroller, for thirty days, in the newspapers employed by the Corporation.

§ 8. No bids shall be accepted from, or contract awarded to any person who is in arrears to the Corporation, upon debt or contract, or who is a defaulter, as security or otherwise, upon any obligation to the Corporation.

§ 9. No money shall be expended by the Corporation for any celebration, procession, or entertainment of any kind; or on any occasion, except for the celebration of the anniversary of the National Independence; the twenty-fifth of November, "Evacuation Day," and the anniversary of the birthday of Washington, unless by the vote of three-fourths of all the members elected in each Board of the Common Council.

§ 10. No additional allowance, beyond the legal claim under any contract with the Corporation, or for any service on its account, or in its employment, shall ever be allowed.

§ 11. The officers of the police and policemen shall hereafter be appointed by a Board of Commissioners, consisting of the Mayor, Recorder, and City Judge.

§ 12. All work to be done, and all supplies to be furnished by the Corporation, involving an expenditure of more than two hundred and fifty dollars, shall be by contract, founded on sealed bids or proposals, made in compliance with public notice, for the full period of ten days; and all such contracts, when given, shall be given to the lowest bidder, with adequate security. All such bids or proposals shall be opened by the heads of departments advertising for them, in the presence of the Comptroller, and such of the parties making them as may desire to be present.

§ 13. There shall be a bureau in the Department of Finance, to be called the "Auditing Bureau," and the chief officer thereof shall be the "Auditor of Accounts." It shall revise, audit, and settle all accounts in which the city is concerned, as debtor or creditor; it shall keep an account of each claim for or against the Corporation, and of the sums allowed upon each, and certify the same, with reasons therefor, to the Comptroller. The Comptroller shall report to the Common Council, once in ninety days, the name and decision of the Auditor upon the same, together with the final action of the Comptroller thereon. All moneys drawn from the city treasury shall be upon vouchers for the expenditure thereof, examined and allowed by the Auditor, and approved by the Comptroller.

§ 14. Every person who shall promise, offer, or give, or cause or aid or abet, in causing to be promised, offered, or given, or furnish or agree to furnish, in whole or in part, to be promised, offered, or given to any member of the Common Council, or any officer of the Corporation, after his election as such member, or before or after he shall have qualified and taken his seat, any money, goods, right in action or other property, or any thing of value, or any pecuniary advantage, present or prospective, with intent to influence his vote, opinion, judgment, or action on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding which may be then pending, or may, by law, be brought before him, in his official capacity, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in a State prison for a term not exceeding ten years, or shall be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the Court. Every officer in this section enumerated, who shall accept any such gift, or any promise or undertaking to make the same, under any agreement or undertaking, that his vote, opinion, judgment, or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any particular manner, or upon any particular side of any question, matter, cause, or proceeding then pending, or which may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, shall, upon conviction, be disqualified from holding any public office, trust, or appointment under the charter of the city of New York, and shall forfeit his office, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the State prison not exceeding ten years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the Court. Every person offending against either of the provisions of this section shall be a competent witness against any other person offending in the same transaction, and may be compelled to appear and give evidence before any Grand Jury, or in any court, in the same manner as other persons; but the testimony so given shall not be used in any prosecution or proceeding, civil or criminal, against the person so testifying.

§ 15. No contract by the Supervisors shall be valid unless expressly authorized by statute, and such as are authorized must be made in the manner provided in the twelfth section of this act.

§ 16. All ordinary appropriations made for the support and government of the Almshouse Department shall, before the same are finally made, be submitted by the Governors of the Almshouse to a Board of Commissioners, consisting of the Mayor, Recorder, Comptroller, the President of the Board of Aldermen, and the President of the Board of Councilmen; if the said Commissioners approve of the appropriations, they shall immediately report the same to the Board of Supervisors; if they shall disapprove of the same, they shall return them, with their objections, to the Governors of the Almshouse for reconsideration; and in case the said Governors shall, upon a reconsideration, adhere, by a vote of two-thirds of all the Governors then in office, to the original appropriations, they shall return them to the Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to report to the Board of Supervisors.

§ 17. The Board of Education shall also submit, in like manner, all appropriations required by them to the Commissioners named in the last preceding section; and said appropriations shall be subject to all the provisions of said section, so far as the same may be applicable.

§ 18. All such parts of the charter of the city of New York, and the several acts of the Legislature amending the same, or in any manner affecting the same, as are inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed; but so much and such parts thereof as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this law shall not be construed as repealed, altered, or modified, or in any form affected thereby, but shall continue and remain in full force and effect.

§ 19. The power now vested in the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistant

Aldermen in granting and revoking tavern licenses, together with all other powers as Excise Commissioners, shall be hereafter vested in the Mayor, with the Alderman and Councilman representing the district in which the premises of the party licensed, or to be licensed, may be located.

§ 20. This act shall be submitted for the approval of the electors of the city and county of New York, at an election to be held in said city, on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in June, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three. The tickets which shall be polled at such election shall contain either the words "In favor of amendments to charter," or "Against amendments to charter," and if a majority of all the persons voting thereon at such election shall vote the ticket "In favor of amendments to charter," this act shall become a law; if a majority of such electors shall vote the ticket "Against amendments to charter," this act shall be void.

§ 21. The Common Council are hereby authorized and directed to make all necessary arrangements, by ordinance or otherwise, for the conduct and regulation of all elections authorized under the provisions of this act, and in conformity, as far as may be, to the general election laws.

Secretary of State.

An Act

TO AMEND THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 14, 1857; THREE-FIFTHS BEING PRESENT.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. The Corporation now existing, and known by the name of "The Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the city of New York," shall continue to be a body politic and corporate, in fact and in name, by the same name, and shall have perpetual succession, with all the grants, powers, and privileges heretofore had by "The Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the city of New York."

§ 2. The legislative power of the said Corporation shall be vested in a Board of Aldermen and a Board of Councilmen, who, together, shall form the Common Council of the city of New York.

§ 3. The Board of Aldermen shall consist of one Alderman to be elected from each district in the city and county of New York, as hereinafter provided for. The members of the Board of Aldermen first elected under this act shall be classified as follows: The Aldermen from districts having an odd numerical designation shall hold such office for the term of one year, and those from districts having an even numerical designation shall hold such office for the term of two years. At all subsequent elections for Aldermen, they shall be elected for the term of two years.

§ 4. There shall be six Councilmen elected from each senatorial district in the city of New York, as the same now are, or may hereafter be constituted, by general ticket, in each of said districts; and the persons so elected from each of said senatorial districts shall together form the Board of Councilmen for the said city. The Councilmen shall be chosen for one year.

§ 5. No person shall be eligible to the office of Alderman or Councilman who shall not, at the time of his election, be a resident of the district from which he is chosen.

§ 6. Each Board of the Common Council shall have power to direct a special election to be held, to supply the place of any member whose seat shall become vacant by death, removal from the city, resignation, or otherwise; and in either case the person elected to supply the vacancy shall hold his seat only for the residue of the term of office of his immediate predecessor.

§ 7. The Boards shall meet in separate chambers, and a majority of either shall be a quorum to do business. Each Board shall appoint a President from its own body, and shall choose its clerk and other officers, determine the rules of its own proceedings, and be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members. Each Board shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and its doors shall be kept open, except when the public welfare shall require secrecy; and all resolutions and reports of Committees, which shall recommend any specific improvement, involving the appropriation of public moneys, or the taxing or assessing the citizens of the city, shall be published immediately after the adjournment of the Board, under the authority of the Board, in all the newspapers employed by the Corporation, and shall not be passed or adopted until after such notice has been published at least two days; and whenever a vote is taken in relation thereto, the ayes and noes shall be called, and published in the same manner.

§ 8. Each Board shall have the authority to compel the attendance of absent members, to punish its members for disorderly behavior, and to expel a member with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to the Board; and the members so expelled shall, by such expulsion, forfeit all his rights and powers as an Alderman or Councilman, and no Alderman or Councilman shall be questioned in any other place for any speech or vote in either Board.

§ 9. The stated and occasional meetings of each Board of the Common Council shall be regulated by its own ordinances; and both Boards may meet on the same or on different days, as they may severally judge expedient.

§ 10. Any person holding office under this charter who shall, during his term of office, accept, hold, or retain any other civil office of honor, trust, or emolument under the Government of the United States, or under this charter, or who shall, during his said term of office, receive any fees or emoluments, directed to be paid by any ordinance of the Common Council, except as is hereinafter provided, shall be deemed thereby to have vacated his office.

§ 11. Every legislative act of the Common Council shall be by ordinance, act, or resolution which shall have passed the two Boards of Common Council before it shall take effect, shall be presented, duly certified, to the Mayor of the city for his approval. If he approve, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it within ten days thereafter, with his objections, to the Board in which it originated; or, if such Board be not then in session, at its next stated meeting. The Board to which it shall be returned shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and cause the same to be published in one or more of the daily newspapers of the city; but no ordinance, act, or resolution shall be valid, unless the same shall have received the assent of both Boards within the same year.

§ 12. The Board to which such ordinance, act, or resolution shall have been so returned, shall, after the expiration of not less than ten days thereafter, proceed to reconsider the same. If, after such reconsideration, at least two-thirds of all the members elected to the Board shall agree to pass the same, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other Board, by which it shall be likewise reconsidered, and if approved by at least two-thirds of all the members elected to such Board, it shall take effect as an act or law of the Corporation. In all such cases the votes of both Boards shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the passage of the ordinance reconsidered shall be entered on the journal of each Board, respectively.

§ 13. If the Mayor shall not return the ordinance so presented to him within the time above limited for that purpose, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had approved of it.

§ 14. Any ordinance of the Common Council may originate in either Board, and when it shall have passed one Board, may be rejected or amended by the other. But no ordinance shall be passed by either Board, except by the vote of a majority of all the members elected to such Board.

§ 15. Neither the Mayor nor Recorder of the city of New York shall be a member of the Common Council thereof.

§ 16. The executive power of the Corporation shall be vested in the Mayor and the Executive Department.

§ 17. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of Mayor, or whenever the Mayor shall be absent from the city, or be prevented by sickness, or any other cause, from attending to the duties of his office, or shall be removed, as hereinafter provided for, the President of the Board of Aldermen shall act as Mayor, and shall possess all the rights and powers of the Mayor, during the continuance of such vacancy, absence, or disability, and until the next charter election, in the case of a vacancy or removal from office.

§ 18. It shall be the duty of the Mayor—

1. To communicate to the Common Council, at least once a year, and oftener if he shall deem it expedient, a general statement of the situation and condition of the city, in relation to its government, finances, and improvement.

2. To recommend for the adoption of the Common Council all such measures connected with the police, security, health, cleanliness, and ornament of the city, and the improvement of its government and finances, as he shall deem expedient.

3. To be vigilant and active in causing the ordinances of the city to be duly executed and enforced.

4. To exercise a constant supervision over the conduct and acts of all subordinate officers, and to receive and examine into all such complaints as may be preferred against any of them for violation or neglect of duty, and generally to perform all such duties as may be prescribed for him by the charter and city ordinances, and the laws of this State or the United States.

5. To appoint such clerks as may be authorized by the Common Council, and as may be required in his office, to aid him in the discharge of his official duties.

§ 19. The Mayor, Comptroller, and Counsel to the Corporation shall each be elected by the electors of the city; the Mayor for the term of two years, the Counsel to the Corporation for the term of three years, and the Comptroller for the term of four years. The Comptroller shall be voted for on a separate ballot. The other heads of departments shall be appointed by the Mayor, with the advice and consent of the Board of Aldermen. The Board of Aldermen shall have power to confirm or reject all nominations of officers made by the Mayor; and whenever any person nominated by the Mayor shall be rejected by the Board of Aldermen, the Mayor shall immediately nominate another person.

§ 10. The Mayor, Comptroller, and Counsel to the Corporation may each be removed by the Governor, for cause, in the manner provided by law in the case of sheriffs. The vacancy occasioned by the removal of the Comptroller or Counsel to the Corporation shall be filled by the Mayor, with the advice and consent of the Board of Aldermen, until it shall be supplied at the next annual election of charter officers.

§ 21. The other heads of the Executive Department, except the officers of the Croton Aqueduct Board, shall hold their office for two years, and until the appointment of their successors. The Mayor shall have power to suspend, for cause, during any recess of the Common Council, and by and with the consent of the Board of Aldermen, to remove any of the heads of departments, except the Comptroller and the Counsel to the Corporation, which suspension, and the cause thereof, shall be communicated to the Common Council, if in session; and if not, then at the first meeting thereof. The Board of Aldermen shall have power, without the consent of the Mayor, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected, to remove any of the heads of departments, for cause, other than the Comptroller and Counsel to the Corporation. The heads of departments shall have power to appoint and remove the chiefs of bureaux and clerks in their respective departments; except that the Chamberlain shall be appointed by the Mayor, with the consent of the Board of Aldermen, and may be removed in the same manner with heads of departments. The chiefs of bureaux and clerks of departments and bureaux shall hold office during the same term enjoyed by the heads of departments, unless sooner removed. The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department shall be elected in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by law. The number of clerks to the department shall be as fixed by the Common Council, who shall also fix the terms of all offices created by them under authority of law.

§ 22. There shall be an executive department, which shall be denominated the "Department of Finance," which shall have control of all the fiscal concerns of the Corporation, and shall prescribe the form of keeping and rendering all city accounts; and all accounts rendered to, or kept in the other departments of the City Government, shall be subject to the inspection and revision of the officers of this department. It shall settle and adjust all claims in favor of or against the Corporation, and all accounts in which the Corporation is concerned, either as debtor or creditor. The chief officer of this department shall be called the "Comptroller of the city of New York." There shall be a bureau in this department for the collection of the revenue accruing from rents and interest of bonds and mortgages, and for the collection of all revenues arising from the use or sale of property belonging to or managed by the city; and for the performance of such other duties as may be directed by the Common Council, the chief officer of which shall be called the "Collector of the City Revenue." There shall also be a bureau in this department for the collection of taxes; the chief officer thereof shall be called the "Receiver of Taxes," who shall have all the powers and perform all the duties now prescribed by law for the Receiver of Taxes; and the office of Receiver of Taxes, as heretofore constituted, and the provisions of law relating to him, are hereby modified so as to conform to the provisions of this act. There shall also be a bureau in this department for the collection of arrears of taxes, arrears of assessments, and arrears of water rents, the chief officer of which shall be called the "Clerk of Arrears." There shall also be a bureau in this department for the reception of all moneys paid into the treasury of the city, and for the payment of moneys on the warrants drawn by the Comptroller and countersigned by the Mayor and Clerk of the Common Council; and the chief officer thereof shall be called the "Chamberlain of the city of New York." The Chamberlain shall keep books, showing the amounts paid on account of the several appropriations; and no warrant shall be paid on account of any appropriations after the amount authorized to be raised by tax for that specific purpose shall have been expended. There shall be another bureau in the Department of Finance, to be called the "Auditing Bureau," and the chief officer thereof shall be the "Auditor of Accounts." It shall revise, audit, and settle all accounts in which the city is concerned as debtor or creditor; it shall keep an account of each claim for or against the Corporation, and of the sums allowed upon each, and certify the same, with the reasons for the allowance, to the Comptroller. The Comptroller shall report to the Common Council, once in ninety days, the name of every person in whose favor an account has been audited, with the decision of the auditor upon the same, together with the final action of the Comptroller thereon. An Act

RELATING TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 15, 1857; THREE-FIFTHS BEING PRESENT.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. The Mayor and Recorder of the city of New York shall cease to be members of the Board of Supervisors of the county of New York. There shall be voted for, at each and every charter election hereafter to be held in the city of New York, twelve supervisors, who shall, together, compose the Board of Supervisors of the county of New York, and hold office for one year from the first of January in each and every year hereafter. They shall be voted for upon a separate and general ticket, but only six names for Supervisors shall be upon one ticket. The six persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected by the Board of City Canvassers, who shall canvass the votes in the same manner as they are required to canvass votes for charter officers; and all the provisions of law, relating to election of charter officers, are hereby applied to the election of Supervisors. On or before the twenty-fourth day of December, in each and every year succeeding the charter election, the Mayor of the city shall appoint as Supervisors the six persons receiving severally the highest number of votes next to the votes received by the six Supervisors having the return of the Board of City Canvassers.

§ 2. The vote of a majority of all the members elected to the Board of Supervisors shall be necessary to pass any act, ordinance, or resolution appropriating money; and every act, ordinance, or resolution which shall have passed the Board of Supervisors, except such as levy any tax or taxes, before it shall take effect shall be presented, duly certified, to the Mayor of the city of New York for his approval. If he approve, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the Board within ten days thereafter, or, if said Board be not in session, at its next meeting after that period. The Board shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and cause the same to be published in one or more of the daily newspapers of the city of New York.

§ 3. The Board shall, after the expiration of not less than ten days thereafter, proceed to reconsider the same; and such act, resolution, or ordinance, if approved by a majority of all the members elected to the Board, shall thereupon take effect. In all such cases the votes of the Board shall be determined by the ayes and noes, and the names of the persons voting for and against its passage shall be entered on the journal of the Board.

§ 4. If the Mayor shall not return any act, resolution, or ordinance so presented to him within the time above limited for that purpose, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had signed it.

§ 5. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, except the same shall have been previously appropriated to the purpose for which it is drawn ; and no expense shall be incurred, whether it shall have been ordered by the Board or not, unless an appropriation of money, then in the treasury, sufficient to cover such expense, shall have been previously made.

§ 6. The Finance Department of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the city of New York, and its officers, shall have the like power, and perform the like duties, in regard to the fiscal concerns of said Board, as they possess in regard to the local concerns of the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty. All moneys drawn from the treasury, by authority of the Board of Supervisors, shall be upon vouchers for the expenditure thereof, examined and allowed by the Auditor, and approved by the Comptroller ; and no such moneys shall be drawn therefrom except on a warrant drawn by the Comptroller, and countersigned by the Mayor and Clerk of the Board, and no other warrant shall be necessary for such purpose.

§ 7. No allowance or payment, beyond legal claims, shall ever be allowed by the Board.

§ 8. The members of the Board of Supervisors, when attending as members of the Board of County Canvassers, shall not receive compensation for a greater period than ten days for canvassing the votes of any election ; nor shall any person receive any compensation for services as a Supervisor of the said county of New York.

§ 9. The Counsel to the Corporation of the city of New York shall be the legal advisor of the said Board of Supervisors, and shall receive such compensation for his services as shall be fixed by said Board, not exceeding the sum of two thousand dollars per annum.

§ 10. This act shall take effect immediately.

V. The President, in all cases, has the right of voting ; and when the Board shall be equally divided, including his vote, the question shall be lost.

VI. Whenever it shall be moved, or carried, that the Board go into Committee of the Whole, the President shall leave the chair, and shall appoint a Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, who shall report the proceedings of the Committee. The Rules of the Board shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole, except the rules respecting the call for the ayes and noes, and limiting the time for speaking.

VII. On motion, in Committee, to rise and report, the question shall be decided without debate.

VIII. No amendment shall be allowed in the Board on any question which has been decided in Committee of the Whole, unless by the consent of two-thirds of the members present.

IX. If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided.

X. A motion to refer, or to lay on the table, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments to the main question.

XI. When a question has been once put and decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted in the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be made after the ordinance, resolution, or act shall have gone out of the possessions of the Board; and no motion of reconsideration shall be taken more than once.

XII. No act, resolution, or ordinance shall be sent from this Board to the other Board for concurrence on the same day on which it passes this Board, unless upon the consent of the majority of the members present first had and obtained; nor shall any ordinance sent to this Board from the other Board for concurrence be acted upon the same day it passed the other Board, unless by consent of a majority of the members present, except in cases of invasion, insurrection, or pestilence.

XIII. It shall be the duty of the Clerk to publish all ordinances and amendments of ordinances which shall be passed, and also the proceedings, in the newspapers employed by the Corporation, except such parts as may require secrecy; and whenever a vote shall be taken upon the passage of a resolution or ordinance which shall contemplate any specific improvement, or involve the sale, disposition, or appropriation of public property, or lay any tax or assessment, he shall, before the same is sent to the other Board, and immediately after the adjournment, cause the same to be published, with the ayes and noes, with the names of the persons voting for and against the same, in at least two newspapers, as a part of the proceedings, and shall thereafter certify and send to the other Board every act, ordinance, and resolution which has originated in and passed this Board, and which requires a concurrent vote of the Board of Assistant Aldermen; and to deliver to the Mayor, certified in like manner, all such ordinances and resolutions which shall have been received from the Board of Assistant Aldermen and concurred in by this Board, and which are required to be submitted to him for approval; and shall certify to the other Board the proceedings of this Board in reference to all acts or business originating with the other Board.

XIV. The President shall preserve order and decorum, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Board.

XV. Every member, previous to his speaking, shall rise from his seat, and address himself to the President.

XVI. When two or more members shall rise at once, the President shall name the member who is first to speak.

XVII. No person shall speak more than twice to the same question without leave of the Board; nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

XVIII. While a member is speaking, no member shall entertain any private discourse or pass between him and the Chair.

XIX. No question on a motion shall be debated and put unless the same be seconded. When a motion is seconded, it shall be stated by the President before debate; and every such motion shall be reduced to writing, if any member desire it.

6. To adjourn.

XXII. A motion to lay on the table shall be decided without amendment or debate, and a motion to commit, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debate on the main question.

XXIII. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

XXIV. The previous question, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debate, and shall be put in this form—"Shall the main question be now put?"

XXV. Every member who shall be present when a question is put shall vote for or against the same unless the Board shall excuse him, unless he be immediately interested in the question, in which case he shall not vote; but no member shall be permitted to vote upon a question when a division is called unless present when his name is called in regular order.

XXVI. A member called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the Board, if appealed to, shall decide on the case, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to.

XXXIV. Whenever the doors are directed to be closed all persons, excepting the members and the Clerk, shall retire.

XXXV. Every petition, remonstrance, or other written application intended to be presented to the Common Council, may be delivered to the President, or any member of the Board; and the member to whom it shall be given shall examine the same, and indorse thereon the name of the applicant, and the substance of such application, and sign his name thereto; which indorsement only shall be read by the President, unless a member shall require the reading of the paper, in which case the whole shall be read.

Rules and Orders

OF THE

BOARD OF ASSISTANT ALDERMEN.

1869.

I. Upon the appearance of eleven members, the Board shall be called to order by the President, or, if he be absent, by the Clerk, and a President pro tem. appointed by the Board for that meeting, or until the President appear.

II. After reading and approving the Minutes, the order of business, which shall not be departed from, except by the consent of eleven members, shall be as follows:

1. Presentation of Petitions.
2. Motions and Resolutions, for which the Assembly District shall be called in numerical order.
3. Reports of Committees.
4. Motions to take up and consider—
 1. Resolutions.
 2. Reports of previous meetings.
5. Communications and Reports from Departments.
6. Special Order of the Day.
7. General Orders.
8. Messages from the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen may be received at any time.
9. Unfinished Business may be resumed at any time, under the same order upon which it was taken.

III. Every petition, remonstrance, and other paper presented to the Board shall be presented by a member in his place; and, before presenting the same, the person presenting shall indorse thereon the substance thereof, and sign his name thereto.

IV. No motion or resolution shall be debated or put unless it be seconded, nor until it be stated by the President; and every such motion shall be reduced to writing if any member desire it.

V. When the Board shall be equally divided, including the vote of the President, the question shall be lost.

VI. A motion or a resolution may be withdrawn at any time, before action is had on it, by consent of the Board.

VII. All questions relating to priority of business shall be decided by the President without debate.

VIII. The President shall preserve order and decorum, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Board.

IX. Whenever the President shall wish to leave the chair he may substitute a member in his place; but such substitution shall not continue beyond the day on which it is made.

X. The President, or in his absence the Clerk, shall call special meetings of the Board whenever the interests of the city may require it, at the written request of eleven members, notice in writing to be sent to each member at least four hours prior to each meeting.

XI. In forming a Committee of the Whole, the President shall leave the chair and appoint a Chairman to preside. The Rules of the Board shall be observed in such Committee, except the rules respecting the ayes and nays, the times of speaking, and the previous question; and a motion to pass over shall be decided without debate.

XII. On motion in Committee to rise and report, the question shall be decided without debate.

XIII. After the report of the Committee of the Whole, such amendments only shall be in order as were offered and acted on in said Committee.

XIV. When the question in debate contains several distinct propositions, the same may be divided at the request of eleven members.

XV. All questions shall be put in the order they are moved, except those of privilege. When blanks are under consideration as to time and amounts the longest time and the largest amount shall be put first.

XVI. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be entertained, unless—

1. To adjourn.
2. To lay on the table.
3. For the previous question.
4. To postpone to a certain day.
5. To refer.
6. To postpone indefinitely.
7. To amend.

Which motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand. A call of the Board may be ordered at any time.

XVII. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion to refer any subject, and different Committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order :

1. A Standing Committee.
2. A Select Committee.
3. A Committee of the Whole.

XVIII. A motion to refer or lay on the table, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments or debate.

A motion to postpone, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments of the main question.

A motion to adjourn shall always be in order ; and that and a motion for the call of the Board shall be decided without debate ; but no motion whatever, except to admit a member to explain his vote, shall be entertained by the Chair after the ayes and noes shall have been ordered, until the result of the vote shall have been announced by the Chair.

XIX. No act, resolution, or ordinance sent from the Board of Aldermen shall be called up for final passage on the same day it is presented to this Board unless by the consent of eleven members ; nor shall it be acted upon the same day it passed the other Board unless by consent of two-thirds of the members, except in case of invasion, insurrection, pestilence, or in such cases as do not conflict with the charter.

XX. It shall be the duty of the Clerk to publish all ordinances and amendments of ordinances which shall be passed, and also the proceedings; in the newspapers employed by the Corporation, except such parts as may require secrecy ; and whenever a vote shall be taken upon the passage of a resolution or ordinance which shall contemplate any specific improvements, or involve the sale, disposition, or appropriation of public property, or the expenditure of public money, or the income therefrom, or lay any tax or assessment, he shall, before the same is sent to the other Board, and immediately after adjournment, cause the same to be published with the ayes and nays, with the names of the persons voting for and against the same, in at least two newspapers, as a part of the proceedings, and shall thereafter cause the same to be engrossed, certified, and sent to the other Board every act, resolution, or ordinance which has originated in and passed this Board, and which requires a concurrent vote of the Board of Aldermen ; and shall deliver to the Mayor, certified in like manner, all such acts, ordinances, and resolutions which shall have been received from the Board of Aldermen and concurred in by this Board, and which are required to be submitted to him for his approval ; and shall certify to the other Board the proceedings of this Board in reference to all acts or business originating in the other Board.

XXI. It shall be the duty of the Clerk to make and keep a list of all messages, acts, resolutions, ordinances, and reports not finally or specially disposed of in order of priority, which list shall be the "General Orders."

XXII. Every member who shall be present when a question is put shall vote thereon, unless the Board shall excuse him, or unless he be immediately interested in the question, in which case he shall not vote. But no member, on a taking of the ayes and noes, shall be permitted to vote unless present when his name is called in regular order, except by consent of a majority of the members present.

XXIII. Any member may move for a reconsideration, provided he do so at the time of the next meeting, and while the act, resolution, or ordinance is in possession of the Board; such motion having been once put and lost shall not be renewed except by the consent of eleven members.

XXIV. Every member, previous to speaking, shall rise in his place and address the President.

XXV. When two or more members rise at the same time, the President shall name the member who is to speak first.

XXVI. No person shall speak more than twice to the same question without leave from the Board; nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

XXVII. A member called to order shall immediately sit down, and the Chair shall decide the point of order; and the Board, if appealed to on such or any other decision, shall decide the same without debate. If there be no appeal the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to.

XXVIII. The previous question shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the members present, and until decided shall preclude all amendment or debate, and must be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"

XXIX. When the previous question shall have been ordered, and there shall be amendments pending, the question shall first be taken upon such amendments in their order, and then upon the main question, without further debate or amendment.

XXX. On taking a vote by ayes and noes in the cases required by law, as well as when required by three members, the names of those who vote for and those who vote against the question shall be so entered in the Minutes, and when so taken on the call of a member, the name of such member and the fact shall also be entered in the Minutes.

XXXI. The following officers shall be elected by ballot, viz.: President, Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper.

XXXII. All Committees shall be appointed by the President, unless otherwise ordered by the Board.

XXXIII. The Standing Committees shall be as follows :

1. Arts and Sciences.
2. Assessments.
3. Belgian Pavement.
4. Croton Aqueduct Department.
5. Donations and Charities.
6. Ferries.
7. Finance.

25. Joint Committee on Accounts.

Each of which shall consist of three members, except the Committees on Railroads, Repairs and Supplies, National Affairs, Markets, Wharves, Piers, and Slips, and Belgian Pavement, which shall consist of five members each.

XXXIV. The President shall be, ex officio, a member of all Committees; but a majority of the other members shall be sufficient to agree upon a report.

XXXV. Committees shall inquire into the matters referred to them, and report in writing the facts in relation thereto, with their opinion thereon, and attach to such report all resolutions, petitions, remonstrances, and other papers relating to the papers referred ; but no report shall be made without consent first had, unless signed by a majority of the Committee, nor shall any matter reported on be taken up for final action the same day on which it is reported, unless by consent of eleven members. No report shall be printed unless by the express direction of the Board specifying the number of copies to be printed.

XXXVI. No member shall absent himself without permission of the President, nor, on adjournment, leave his place until the President leaves the chair.

XXXVII. Whenever the doors are directed to be closed all persons, excepting members and the Clerk, shall retire.

XXXVIII. No person shall be permitted on the floor of the Board, unless in the discharge of official duty or by special invitation of the President, except the Mayor, Aldermen, members of the Boards of Supervisors and Education, and such persons as have been members of the Common Council, heads of departments, or officers of the State Government, and reporters of the press. The privilege of admission, under any invitation, shall not extend beyond the day on which it is given; and it is the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms and the Doorkeeper rigidly to enforce this rule.

XXXIX. The regular sessions of the Board shall be held on Mondays and Thursdays of each week, commencing at two o'clock P.M.; but the Board may, by a majority of five members present, adjourn for a shorter or a longer time.

XL. No standing rule or order of this Board shall be changed or rescinded without one day's previous notice being given of the motion therefor. But any rule or order may be suspended, for a special purpose, by a vote of thirteen members.

Firemen's Lyceum.

A circulating Library and Reading-room has been organized at Headquarters, under a resolution of the Board, intrusting the same to Colonel T. Bailey Myers as Commissioner in charge.

The large hall above the office has been handsomely fitted up, the men of the Department performing the work. A selection of over 3,000 volumes of suitable books has been purchased by Mr. Charles E. Gildersleeve, the Secretary, entirely at auction sales, with many contributed from private sources, and have been uniformly covered, arranged, and catalogued by Mr. C. De F. Burns, who acts as Librarian. The room is adorned with a variety of curious relics, antique furniture, and rare engravings, which have either been contributed by friends, or deposited by the Commissioner in charge.

The books will be ready for regular issue in the fall, and the hall probably used as a Reading-room and for other purposes improving to the men.

Bennett Medal.

James Gordon Bennett, Esq., has placed in the hands of T. Bailey Myers, James M. McLean, and Robert J. Hone, Esqs., Trustees, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, of which five hundred dollars is to be used in striking a die for a medal, and the interest of the balance of one thousand dollars to be devoted annually to procuring a Gold Medal to be struck, to be conferred on the member of the Department they may consider most meritorious. The die is in the hands of Messrs. Tiffany & Co. for execution, and the first medal will be awarded as soon as interest enough accrues to cover the cost of striking it. The trust is in perpetuity.

The plan devised several years since, by which the children of the schools are allowed the use of the Play-grounds of the Park, has proved very successful and acceptable.

Any child attending the public schools of the city may have the privilege of the Play-grounds, upon application to the Commissioners of the Park, with a certificate from his or her teacher as to the punctual attendance of the applicant upon the school, and of good character.

More than twenty thousand children have played this year, and the grounds have often been filled to overflowing.

On three days of the week, Monday, Thursday, and Saturday, the grounds are open for this purpose, and the scenes of activity and enjoyment of hundreds of children on the lawns attract numerous observers.

Croquet play upon the girl's ground has been initiated, and there is no doubt that its advantages will be sought by continually increasing numbers.

Applications are still made for the privilege of the Play-grounds by adults, both male and female, but the Board see no sufficient reason to depart from the rules in this respect that they have adopted for the use of these grounds.

By the method adopted of confining the use of the grounds to school-children, the practice of adult clubs of match games, and the objectionable features that have become the frequent attendant of these games, have been effectually prevented.

Several swings have been erected, also for children's use, and are often occupied to their full capacity.

It is determined to render the Park an interesting, safe, and pleasant place of amusement and entertainment to children of all ages, and to develop the practice of those out-of-door exercises that will be beneficial to them and to the whole community.

In the arrangements to this end, no exclusiveness is allowed; they are especially intended for the children of the whole people.

The "Spring," a structure at an interesting point of the Park, north of the "Green," is so far complete as to admit of public use.

It has been considerably frequented by visitors. Great care is taken that its various waters are of the best quality.

It is the custom of many of the first physicians of the city to send their patients thither to add to the effects of the waters the benefits of the air and exercise.

Thermometrical and barometrical observations have been continued throughout the year. Abstracts of these results are published weekly in several of the city papers, and are forwarded to other institutions of similar character. The same tables comprehend statistics of the force of the wind, of moisture, and of the daily fall of rain and snow.

The following shows the rain-fall of the years 1867 and 1868 :

Year.	Duration.	Days.	Hours.	Min.	Depth.
1867.....	132 days.....	31	15	33	45' 100 inches.
1868.....	140 ".....	31	15	49	50' 421 "

The fall of rain during 1868 was greater than of the previous year, which was considered large, and that the number of inches that fell in the months of August and September was quite unusual. The amount of rain that fell in the month of September, 1868, was more than eleven times as much as fell in September, 1867. The snow-storms of the winter of 1867-8 were frequent, as compared with the previous winter.

THE SPA. Central Park

In the winter of 1866-7 there were 36 storms.

The Chamber of Commerce of this city has kindly presented to the Board one of Hough's Automatic Self-registering Barometers, as a contribution to the Meteorological Department.

The Park Commissioners have yet neither the facilities nor the equipment necessary for astronomical observations. They hope to be able to proceed, during the present year, to establish an Astronomical Observatory that will eventually rank with any existing establishment of this character. It is intended that its range of observation shall combine those of a higher scientific character, like those of London, Paris, and Pulkona, with that class of practical facilities needed in a commercial community, that have rendered the observatory at Liverpool an institution of high character, eminently useful to navigators from all parts of the world.

The commercial importance of the city of New York, and the convenience of her merchants, demand the establishment within its limits of a public observatory, with all the necessary facilities, that shall be second to none in the world.

The operations of observatories of this character are in every way elevating to the country; they furnish the only sure means of determining time with precision, and of accurately correcting chronometers, which are almost exclusively relied on at sea for ascertaining the longitude from day to day.

By extending a knowledge of the heavenly bodies, which are the unchanging beacons of the mariner on every water, it directly contributes to the security of commerce.

Its great office being to bring to light new truths, it stimulates the spirit of invention, discovery, and commercial enterprise, no less than educational reform.

The Park Commissioners have availed themselves of the stay in this country of Mr. B. Waterhouse Hawkins, whose reconstruction of extinct animals of the old world have been so well received in England, to engage his services for the restoration for the Museum of the Park of a group of the animals of this continent.

The Zoological Gardens have made but little actual progress, the streets surrounding the borders of the ground where they are to be located are now, with the exception of the Eighth avenue, being regulated; the unsettled condition of the grade of this avenue affecting the streets that abut upon it is one chief occasion of the delay of the work of improvement, and another is the want of a sewer to connect those of this part of the Park with an outlet to the river.

Animals in great variety are added to the collection of the Park by public-spirited citizens from all parts of the country, and although their accommodations are not yet all that the Commissioners could wish, yet, even in their present quarters, these specimens afford great amusement to a very large number of people.

HON. ANDREW H. GREEN, Comptroller of Central Park:

DEAR SIR—We have much pleasure in presenting through you to the Central Park the admirable statue in bronze, heroic size, of "The Indian Hunter," J. Q. A. Ward, sculptor. Both in Europe and America it justly ranks among the best examples of the plastic art for its bold and vigorous treatment, and its truthful delineation.

We have peculiar satisfaction in placing at your disposal a work so truly American in subject, and so admirably executed by one of our native and most celebrated sculptors.

We trust it may find a fitting place in the great Park which is so much admired and appreciated, not only by our own citizens, but by all who visit the great metropolis.

In behalf of the subscribers to the "Indian Hunter Fund," we are,

Very respectfully yours,

Where two Circuits are to be held at the same time, the odd numbers will be placed on the calendar of Part 1, and the even numbers on the calendar of Part 2. When Part 3 is held, the reserved and set-down causes will be placed on the calendar for that part, without regard to numbers.

REGULATIONS.

Notices of all issues of fact already joined and triable in the city of New York, with a notice that the same have not been disposed of, to be served on the Clerk, and be put on the calendar for the ensuing January Circuit.

During the first week of that Circuit, motions to correct the calendar may be made.

After that week the calendar will remain unchanged, and continue the calendar for every successive Circuit during the year until all the causes on it shall be tried, each Circuit beginning on the calendar where the immediately preceding Circuit left off, and new causes to be placed in order at the foot of the permanent calendar.

After the first week of each Circuit (during which motions to correct the calendar may be made), the calendar of the causes which may have gone down at the previous Circuit and the new issues will be entered as part and in continuation of the permanent calendar; and so on, from Court to Court, until the end of the year.

These regulations do not affect the question of noticing the causes for trial, as the Statute may require.

Hereafter no causes will be reserved, generally, after they are placed on the day calendar.

No cause on any Day Calendar will be passed, except where the counsel is actually engaged in a trial of a cause in another court in the city, or in the Court of Appeals; and then only until such an engagement is discharged, or upon proof of the absence of a witness duly subpoenaed.

Parties, by consent, may apply to the Clerk, and have any cause on the Circuit Calendar reserved generally, and set down for a particular day, before it is placed on the Day Calendar; and may, on filing with the Clerk a like consent, have the same placed on the Day Calendar, or apply to the Court on a notice of two days therefor.

SPECIAL CIRCUIT CALENDAR.

At any Circuit, until further orders, any causes belonging to either of the following causes may be placed on a Special Circuit Calendar, unless the trial is likely to occupy more than one hour.

1st. Where the action is on contract, and the answer merely denies the allegations in the complaint, without setting up any new matter.

2d. Where the action is on contract, and new matter is set up in the answer, and there shall be reason to believe that the defense is made only for the purpose of delay, or where it shall appear in such action, by affidavit, that the cause can be tried in an hour.

To entitle the cause to be placed on such calendar, the plaintiff's attorney must give a notice of four days, to be heard before a Judge at Chambers, that he will move to have the cause placed on such calendar; and if the motion be granted, the cause may be heard on any subsequent Friday.

If the motion be founded on the belief that the defense is for delay, or that the cause can be tried in an hour, affidavits must be served at the time of notice.

The plaintiff's attorney must deliver to the Clerk of the Circuit a like notice one day before such Friday, containing also the number of the cause on the General Circuit Calendar.

If the cause shall actually occupy more than one hour on the trial, the trial may be suspended, at the discretion of the Court, and the cause be put down at the foot of the calendar; and the party moving the cause on the short calendar may be charged with the costs of the term.

RULES.

(Adopted February, 1869.)

GENERAL TERMS.

RULE I. There shall be a General Term of the Court held in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, October, November, and December, commencing on the first Monday in each month, and terminating on the second Saturday thereafter, unless further extended by the Justices holding the Term.

There shall also be a General Term held on the days designated in vacation, for the hearing of appeals from orders only.

Appeals from orders shall be heard in the General Term on the first and second Mondays, and the second Friday in Term, and on the days appointed in vacation, at the opening of the Court.

In calendar causes, and also in appeals from orders, the parties shall deliver eight copies of the printed papers and points to the Clerk at the commencement of the argument.

SPECIAL TERMS.

RULE II. There shall be a Special Term of the Court for the trial of issues of law, and of issues of fact without a jury, and for the hearing of motions, held during each month in the year, commencing on the first Monday of each month, and terminating on the Saturday immediately preceding the first Monday of the succeeding month.

In the months of July, August, and September no trials shall be had, unless ordered by the Justice presiding.

No more than one Special Term shall be held at the same time.

Ex parte orders must be applied for and non-enumerated motions heard at Special Term only. For such purpose the Special Term will be opened at 10 o'clock A.M., and continue in session until 3 o'clock P.M., of each day, except New Year's Day, the Twenty-second of February, Good Friday, the Fourth of July, the days of the Annual and Charter elections, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

Ex parte orders must be applied for between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock A.M. of each day, or at any other times when the Justice, while holding the Special Term, may be disengaged.

The first Monday, and each of the Saturdays in the Special Term, shall be set apart for the hearing of non-enumerated motions. All motions must be noticed for, and orders to show cause returnable on one of those days, unless otherwise directed by the Justice holding the Special Term.

JURY TERMS.

RULE III. There shall be two terms of the Court for the trial of causes by jury, denominated respectively "PART FIRST" and "PART SECOND," held in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, October, November, and December, commencing on the first Monday and terminating on the last Saturday in each month.

The Day Calendar shall be called through each morning, at the opening of the Court. The plaintiff, on failure of the defendant to appear, may take an inquest; and the defendant, on failure of the plaintiff to appear, may have a dismissal of the complaint.

RULE IV. Causes on the Jury Calendar may be reserved generally at any time before the cause is on the Day Calendar, by filing with the Clerk the written consent of the attorneys.

Motions to put such causes on the Day Calendar may be made to the Justice holding the Special Term on two days' notice.

RULE V. It shall be the duty of the attorney by whom the copy pleadings shall be furnished for the use of the Court on a trial, plainly to designate on each pleading the part or parts thereof admitted or controverted by the succeeding pleading.

RULE VI. The General, Jury, and Special Terms for the trial of causes shall respectively be opened at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

RULE VII. No ex parte order for the substitution of attorney for either party to any action pending in this Court shall be granted, unless upon the consent in writing, signed by the party and his attorney, duly acknowledged or proven by affidavit.

RULE VIII. No case or exceptions, to be annexed to the Judgment Roll, shall hereafter be filed by the Clerk of this Court, unless the same is so ordered by the Justice or Referee who tried the cause.

RULE IX. Case or exceptions presented for settlement shall have plainly marked upon the proposed case or exceptions, and also upon the stenographer's minutes of the evidence, the parts to which the proposed amendments are applicable, together with the number of the amendment.

SPECIAL CALENDAR.

RULE X. In actions on contract, where there is reason to believe that the defense is interposed for the purpose of delay, and that the trial will not occupy more than one hour, the plaintiff may apply, by motion at Special Term on a notice of four days, to have the issue placed upon a Special Calendar for trial (serving with such notice any affidavits or papers he may wish to use on the motion which have not already been served); and the same may be so ordered in the discretion of the Justice before whom the motion shall be made.

If such motion be granted, the cause will be entered on a Special Calendar, to be made by the Clerk, on receiving a note of the issue specifying the number of the cause on the General Calendar, and the date of the order directing it to be placed on such Special Calendar. Such Note of Issue to be filed with the Clerk four days before the day on which the cause shall be so entered.

The Special Calendar shall be called on the second and last Friday of each Jury Term in Part First by the Justice there presiding, and the causes may be tried in either part as may be directed by such Justice.

If the trial of the cause shall occupy more than one hour the trial may be suspended, at the discretion of the Court, and the cause be placed at the foot of the General Calendar.

All rules heretofore adopted are hereby abrogated.

The County Jail.

The New York County Jail (better known as the Ludlow Street Jail) is situated at the corner of Ludlow street and Essex Market place, and was first occupied in June, 1862, taking the place of the noted Eldridge Street Jail. It is built of Philadelphia brick, ornamented with New Jersey free-stone trimmings. The building is built in the form of an L, ninety feet on each street, forty feet deep, and about sixty-five feet high, leaving an angle of about fifty feet square, surrounded by a high wall, for a yard in which the prisoners are permitted to take their daily exercises. The jail contains eighty-seven cells, each about ten feet square, sufficiently large to contain two beds, chair, wash-basin, etc., while for light and ventilation it is probably not surpassed by any prison in the United States.

The prison cells are situated upon the second floor, and are lighted by means of windows about thirty feet in height and of proportionate width, and were it not for the ornamental iron grating with which they are covered, a stranger in passing would mistake it for an old-fashioned Methodist church.

Upon the first floor, to the right of the main entrance, is the office, a spacious apartment, well lighted, and decorated in the latest style of fresco work, while numerous pictures adorn the walls. At the opposite side of the hall, to the left of the main entrance, is the reception and reading-room, where prisoners are allowed to receive their friends and counsel, while the remainder of the first floor is devoted to the dining-room, kitchen, and apartments of the resident keeper and family. From the office a spiral stairway ascends to the prison cells above, entering the main hall, where a billiard table has been placed for the use and amusement of the prisoners, which, as no work-shops are attached to the institution, is in constant demand.

The first warden of the jail was Daniel Linn (deceased during his term of office), succeeded by William Moore for the balance of the term. Mr. Moore was subsequently reappointed for the full term under Sheriff Kelly, and was in turn succeeded by the present warden, John M. Tracy, appointed by the present sheriff. The under officers are William L. Gardner, who for the past twelve years has held the position of Deputy Warden of this and Eldridge Street Jail, John Magee, Edward Hagan, Francis Hughes, Samuel Brown, John Lowrey, and Peter McMartin, Deputy Keepers.

The class of prisoners confined herein consists principally of all arrests and commitments upon civil process, with the few arrests made by the United States Marshal for this district.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO COMMON SCHOOLS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

PASSED APRIL 30, 1869; THREE-FIFTHS BEING PRESENT.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. At the general election to be held in the city of New York in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, twelve Commissioners of Common Schools of the city of New York shall be voted for upon a separate general ticket, but only seven names shall be on one ticket, and any ticket having thereon more than seven names for Commissioners of Common Schools shall not be counted. The seven persons having the highest number of votes shall be declared elected by the Board of County Canvassers, who shall canvass the votes; and all the provisions of law relating to the election of county officers in said county are hereby applied to the election of said Commissioners. On or before the fourth Wednesday of December in said year the Mayor of said city shall appoint, as Commissioners of Common Schools as aforesaid, the five persons who received the highest number of votes for Commissioners of Common Schools, next to the votes received by such Commissioners having the return of the Board of County Canvassers, as having been elected at such election. The Commissioners elected and appointed pursuant to this section shall enter upon their duties on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two: they shall hold their office for the term of three years; they shall possess all the powers and perform all the duties of Commissioners of Common Schools of said city, and shall constitute the Board of Education for the city and county of New York. At the general election held every three years thereafter in the said city twelve Commissioners of Common Schools of said city shall, in like manner, be elected and appointed, who shall enter on their duties on the first day of January thereafter, and shall hold their offices for the term of three years, with the like powers and duties as above provided.

SEC. 2. The terms of office of the present Commissioners of Common Schools of the city of New York shall end, and their official functions cease at the expiration of ten days from the passage of this act. The Mayor of the said city shall, within five days from and after the passage of this act, appoint twelve Commissioners of Common Schools, recognizing the principle of representation to the minority provided for in the preceeding section, who shall enter on their duties at the expiration of ten days from the passage of this act, in the places of the present Commissioners of Schools, whose terms of office are ended as above provided. The said Commissioners so appointed shall possess all the powers and perform all the duties of Commissioners of Common Schools of said city, and shall constitute the Board of Education for said city and county, and shall hold their offices until the thirty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one. Any vacancy in the said office of Commissioner, by death, resignation, or otherwise, shall be filled by the appointment of the Mayor for the remainder of the unexpired term.

SEC. 3. The Board of Education, as constituted pursuant to the provisions of this act, shall not have power to provide additional sites or buildings, or remove any teacher, except by a vote of three-fourths of all the members of said Board.

SEC. 4. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

THE COLLEGE.

The College of the City of New York, originally entitled the Free Academy, although academic in name, was intended, from its very first inception, to furnish a complete collegiate education. This appears from the language of a committee appointed by the Board of Education, July 27, 1846, to report upon the subject of the establishment of an institution of this nature, which report was made and considered at a meeting of the Board held on February 10, 1847, and formed the basis of a memorial to the Legislature. It recommended the establishment of a "Free College" in the following terms:

"Your Committee will briefly remark that their design is to offer the idea of a college in which, while it shall be in no way inferior to our colleges in the character, amount, and value of the information given to the pupils, the course of studies to be pursued will have reference to the active duties of operative life rather than those more particularly regarded as necessary for the pulpit, bar, or medical profession."

In accordance with this recommendation the Legislature authorized the establishment of the New York Free Academy, and a course of study was laid down adapted to accomplish this great purpose of its organization. From time to time, as practical experience suggested amendments, the course was modified and enlarged, until it attained such breadth and symmetry that the Legislature, in the year 1854, passed a law endowing the institution with full power to confer upon its graduates the usual collegiate degrees and diplomas in the arts and sciences.

As one class after another graduated and left the city to reside in other parts of the country, where their Alma Mater was only known by its name, they found the impression existing that they had not enjoyed a collegiate education, and hence arose the unpleasant necessity of vindicating their claim to liberal learning by explaining their status as graduates of the New York Free Academy. This cloud which rested upon the graduates began to cast its shadow upon the institution itself.

From year to year there was an increasing number of those who repaired to different colleges to finish their education, not because of any superior advantages to be enjoyed there, but simply that they might graduate from institutions having the title as well as the functions of a college. It, therefore, became a general conviction among our graduates and students that it would be an act of policy as well as of justice to give the institution the name to which it was fairly entitled, both by its course of study and by the act of the Legislature empowering it to confer collegiate degrees.

Such, we believe, was also the sentiment of the most enlightened friends of education, who had become acquainted with the character of the Free Academy and the thorough training of its graduates in the liberal arts and sciences. For these reasons, on the recommendation of the Board of Education, the Legislature changed the name to that of "THE COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK" by an act passed March 30, 1866.

COURSE OF STUDIES.

The entire course embraces a period of five years, of two terms each year. The full course is the same for all students, and comprises either Ancient or Modern Languages, under the following regulations, viz. :

1. A full course, with Modern Languages, includes French, Spanish, and German.
2. A full course, with Ancient Languages, includes Latin, Greek, and, in the senior year, any one of the above three Modern Languages.
3. Students unable to follow a full course, or desirous of perfecting themselves in any particular branch of knowledge, may enter in partial course, which embraces any studies less than either of the full courses.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

The examination of candidates for admission takes place immediately after the general examination in June. No student can be admitted to the College unless he resides in the city, be fourteen years of age, have attended the Common Schools in the city twelve months, and pass a good examination in

Spelling,	Algebra, as far as quadratic equations,
Reading,	inclusive,
Writing,	Geography,
English Grammar,	History of the United States,
Arithmetic,	Elementary Book-keeping.

No candidate can be examined for admission unless he present to the President of the College a certificate in the form prepared by the Executive Committee, signed by the Principals of the Schools of which he has been a member, and specifying the age of the candidate, the Grammar Schools of this city which he has attended, the dates and the length of time of his attendance in each. If the number qualified for admission be more than can be admitted, the preference is to be given to those who have attended the Grammar Schools the greater period.

At either of the regular examinations candidates may be admitted to any class to pursue the studies of any one or more departments, provided they shall have attended the Grammar Schools the requisite period, shall be of the proper age, shall pass the proper examination for admission, and also an examination satisfactory to the Faculty in the previous studies of the class or departments to which they wish to be admitted.

No person is allowed to be present at the examination for admission except the instructors in the College and the members of the Board of Trustees; neither the names of the candidates nor the schools from which they are sent are made known to the instructors conducting the examinations, but each candidate is designated, during examination, by a number given to him on a card by the President. Only the names of such as have passed a good examination are afterward ascertained, in order to be inscribed on the rolls of the College.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must be fifteen years of age, and must pass an examination in the studies pursued by the Introductory Class, in addition to the usual examination for admission.

The choice of each student as to the course of studies he intends to pursue must be made in writing at the time of his admission, and registered and filed at the College. It must be made by the parent or guardian, or by the parent or guardian be submitted in writing to the discretion of the Faculty. It is important that the subject be carefully considered before the selection is made, as, from considerations of advantage to the student, as well as from a proper regard for the orderly working and discipline of the institution, when once commenced, the same course must be pursued as long as the student remains in the College.

Every student admitted into the College receives a certificate thereof, stating that, on leaving the institution with a good character, after one year, he shall receive another certificate or diploma, stating the period he has been in the College, and the studies there pursued by him, provided he shall have satisfactorily accounted for all the books and other property committed to him; but no student shall receive a certificate of dismissal if he be dismissed for misconduct; and in each certificate it shall be stated that the recipient is furnished with a statement of his standing in the College, as it appears on the records, during his whole connection with the institution. If a student absents himself for two weeks without obtaining permission, his name is stricken from the rolls, and he loses his right to a certificate of good standing on leaving the institution.

DISCIPLINE.

The rules of conduct are but few, and laid down in view of securing prompt attention to duty and correct behavior. Any infraction of these rules involves punishment, which, according to the offense, consists of demerit marks, private admonition, admonition by the President in the presence of the section and of the instructor in the recitation-room, suspension by the direction of the President, public admonition by the President in presence of all the students at roll-call, final admonition by the President in a meeting of the Faculty, and dismissal for misconduct, the latter to be directed by a vote of the Faculty.

Every violation of the rules is recorded in the Book of Discipline, together with the degree of punishment inflicted, and the amount of demerits received. No student is demerited without receiving notice of the fact and the cause.

TERMS, VACATIONS, ETC.

The classes are annual, and each year is divided into two terms.

There are three vacations in each Collegiate Year—the summer vacation, from the 3d of July to the 3d Wednesday in September; the winter vacation, from the 25th day of December to the 2d day of January, inclusive; and the spring vacation, from the last day of April, inclusive, one week. There are no College exercises on Saturday, on the day celebrated as the Anniversary of American Independence, on the 22d day of February, and on Thanksgiving Day. The first Collegiate Term commences at the end of the summer vacation, and the second at the end of the first examination.

The exercises, during term-time, begin at 9 A.M., and continue until all the classes are heard. The doors are closed for roll-call at precisely fifteen minutes before 9 o'clock, when all the students are to be in their seats in the Chapel, and all the instructors in attendance.

EXAMINATIONS.

There are two public examinations during the Collegiate Year. The first commences on the first Monday of February, the second on the third Monday before Commencement, each continuing eight days. The examinations are conducted by the officer in charge of each study, and no student is allowed to advance to the next class without being found qualified for such advancement. If any student shall, in any of his studies, have made so little progress as not to have an average rate of at least half the maximum on the last Merit Roll, he is rated as deficient, and so recorded; and, if rated as deficient on two successive Merit Rolls, he is dismissed from the College.

THE COLLEGE.

The College of St. Francis Xavier, incorporated with the privileges of a University by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, is conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus.

It is a Day College, situated in West Fifteenth street, New York city, affording the two-fold advantages of a complete Classical and Catholic education.

The course of studies is divided into five distinct departments, the Post Graduate, Under Graduate, Grammar, Commercial, and the Preparatory.

It embraces the Greek, Latin, English, and French Languages, Rhetoric, Poetry, Elocution, History, Geography, Mythology, a complete course of Mathematics, Chemistry, and Natural, Intellectual, and Moral Philosophy.

The Commercial Course, which is completed in three years, comprises the English and French Languages, English Literature, Elocution, History, Geography, Mythology, the use of Globes, Book-keeping, Arithmetic, Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy.

There are four Preparatory Classes for younger students, in which they are carefully taught Spelling, Reading, Writing, English Grammar, Geography, History, and Arithmetic, so as to fit them for the higher branches of study.

There are two examinations—one in February, the other for promotion at the close of the Collegiate Year.

During the course of the year any student found fit for a higher class may be promoted thereto, and this promotion is equivalent to the honors of the class from which he passed.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must stand an examination in Natural, Intellectual, and Moral Philosophy, and in Mathematics.

When a student presents himself for admission, he is examined and placed in the class for which his previous acquirements have prepared him.

A daily exercise in Latin, Greek, French, Mathematics, etc., according to the degree of the class and the branches taught therein, is required of each student. A weekly exercise in English composition is given in all the classes above the Preparatory Course; the subject-matter is marked out by the Professor.

Every second week a composition on the subject-matter of the class is given throughout all the classes. The result of these compositions determines the progress of the student, and decides the annual prize of proficiency.

Once every month an account is given before the Faculty and all the students of each pupil's behavior and application, and a report thereof is sent to the parents or guardians.

To insure success, private study at home is much insisted upon, for the space of two hours and a half in the evening and half an hour in the morning.

Punctual attendance is earnestly recommended ; hence, in case of absence, a note is required from the parents or guardians, who shall be informed of the non-attendance of their children or wards.

The hours of class are from nine o'clock in the morning until a quarter before three in the afternoon. The younger students of the Preparatory Course are allowed home at half-past two o'clock. The doors are opened in the morning for the reception of the students at half-past eight o'clock. The professors and prefects are then in attendance.

Within the precincts of the College, two court-yards, entirely cut off from the street, are reserved for recreation, so that the students are entirely secluded, and continually under the eyes of their prefects and professors, from the time of their arrival, at nine o'clock in the morning, until that of their departure, at a quarter before three in the afternoon.

The Collegiate Year commences on the first Monday in September, and ends about the beginning of July. It is divided into quarters of about ten weeks each.

The lectures will be given in the building adjoining the New York Hospital, as they were last year.

The graduates of the University will perceive at once the important advantages arising from a connection with this the largest Surgical Hospital in America. There were treated in it last year nearly three thousand cases, more than half of which were surgical. Owing to being located in the midst of a dense population, the College Clinics are carried forward on a scale elsewhere unattained.

The Hospital is open to students every day throughout the year.

The object of this institution is to afford students the means of acquiring the highest grade of university education, by combining the advantages of a college and of a polytechnic school. The plan of studies embraces a thorough course of humanities, and both the higher mathematics and the natural sciences receive more attention than is usually bestowed on them in literary institutions.

The religion of the non-Catholic portion of the students will not be interfered with in any manner, but facilities will be afforded those whose parents desire that they should attend their respective places of worship on Sundays.

The College occupies an elevated position on the east bank of the Hudson, about eight miles from the City Hall; the location is not surpassed in landscape beauty or salubrity. On one side it commands an extensive view of the river, comprising some of its grandest and most picturesque scenery, and on the other, the hum and bustle of the busy world are excluded by sloping hills and shady groves, the tout ensemble of which, as seen from the recitation-rooms and dormitories, is well calculated to give to the youthful mind a studious and thoughtful turn.

The House Physician is in attendance from 9 o'clock A.M. until 4 P.M. to receive the names of applicants for the services of the Visiting Physicians, supervise and classify patients, and act in any department in the absence of the Attending Physician; also to prescribe for cases requiring immediate relief.

An Attending Physician for each department is present at the hour above specified to treat patients able to attend at the Dispensary.

The Visiting Physicians are at the Dispensary at least twice each day. A Register is kept at the building to receive the name and residence of applicants who are too sick to come to the Dispensary.

The Apothecary is in attendance to put up prescriptions from 9 o'clock A.M. till 5 P.M. (except Sundays), from the 1st of October to the 1st of March; and during the remainder of the year from 8 A.M. to 6 P.M. On Sunday, from 9 to 10 A.M., and from 1 to 2 P.M.

The rooms of the Dispensary are open at hours corresponding to those of the attendance of the Apothecary. Patients are not treated at the building on Sunday ; but applications are received for the services of the Visiting Physicians, and their prescription dispensed, at the hours stated above.

The benefits of this Charity are not intended for any who are able to supply themselves.

The Dispensary building is situated at the corner of Second avenue and East Twenty third street.

All who desire to obtain a better personal knowledge of the necessity for such institutions, their practical benefit to the sick poor, and their claims on the liberality of our citizens, are invited to visit the Dispensary and judge for themselves.

The sum of ten dollars constitutes the donor an Annual Member.

The sum of fifty dollars, paid at one time, constitutes the donor a Life Member.

This institution furnishes, without charge, medical and surgical aid and medicines to the sick poor of the Eighteenth and Twenty-first Wards.

It is designed to relieve and restore to health and labor the poor who are afflicted by sickness.

It restores to many their only means of support, and thus prevents pauperism and crime.

It vaccinates all who apply, and furnishes vaccine matter, free of charge, to physicians in any part of the State.

It is a most important sanitary protector of the citizens of these wards, and by far the most inexpensive, and least susceptible of abuse by the poor.

It looks after and checks the spread of contagious diseases—the Visiting Physicians being the first to be apprised of their existence and apply the remedy.

It is economical to the tax-payers, for it keeps many of the sick poor and their families from becoming a charge on the city in the hospitals and alms-house.

Its Managers and fourteen Attending Physicians all serve it without any charge.

It is dependent upon voluntary contributions for its support.

To enable it to do this useful and humane work, it asks contributions for its necessary expenses.

Donations may be handed to either of the Managers, or to the Treasurer

OFFICE HOURS AND GENERAL REGULATIONS.

The House Physician is in attendance at the office from 9 o'clock A.M. until 3 P.M. to receive the names of applicants for the services of the Visiting Physicians, to supervise and classify patients, and to act in any department in the absence of the Attending Physician; as well as to prescribe for cases requiring immediate relief. He has also charge of vaccination at the Dispensary. His attendance on Sundays and holidays corresponds to the time of the Apothecary's presence.

The Visiting Physicians come to the Dispensary before noon each day. A register is kept at the office to receive the names of applicants for their services. On Sundays and all legal holidays they call at 9 A.M.

The Apothecary is in attendance to put up prescriptions from 8 o'clock A.M. until 6 P.M., Sundays and all legal holidays excepted, from the first of April to the first of October, and during the remainder of the year from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. On Sundays and holidays, from 9 to 10 A.M., and from 1 to 2 P.M.

The rooms of the Dispensary are open at hours corresponding to those of the attendance of the Apothecary. No patients are treated at the office on Sundays or holidays, but applications for the services of the Visiting Physicians are received, and their prescriptions are dispensed at the hours stated above.

* These Districts, which are subdivisions of the General Dispensary Districts, as nearly equally divided in population as possible, are assigned to separate Physicians, to secure more thorough and prompt medical care of those who are confined to their homes by sickness.

The purpose of this Dispensary, which is one of our city's medical charities, is to supply medicine and the most approved medical and surgical services, gratuitously, to the sick and destitute poor within that section of the city which is bounded by Pike and Allen streets, First avenue, Fourteenth street, and the East river, from Fourteenth street to Pike street, the place of beginning.

It also gives great attention to vaccination, which is freely performed upon all who apply for it, without respect to the station, or to the pecuniary circumstances of the applicant. The great public benefit immediately conferred by vaccination induces this Dispensary to consider every application for it a case of emergency which fully justifies this course.

Those able to pay for vaccination are always invited to, and generally do contribute to the funds of the Dispensary.

From this it will be apparent that the medical benefits of this charity are not conferred upon those who are able to supply themselves.

Any one who is desirous to participate in the good work of medical relief to the poor may do so by contributing the sum of five dollars, which will constitute the donor a member of this Dispensary for one year from the time of payment.

Donations may be handed to any of the Trustees, or to the Treasurer, ROBERT R. CROSBY, Esq., No. 118 East 24th street.

APOTHECARY.

William J. Shields.

The benefits of this charity are not intended for any that are able to supply themselves; but all those who have not the means of procuring medicines, and medical and surgical aid, can here be furnished, free of charge, in a manner unsurpassed in excellence on the face of the globe; in evidence of which, please glance over the names of the medical staff.

This Dispensary is supported entirely from the munificence of its Board of Managers, aided by the humane and well-disposed men and women who are willing to send in private subscriptions, of all of which honorable and lasting record is made.

No one attached in any way to the institution receives the slightest reward for his services, except the House and Visiting Physicians and Druggist.

Not only do the officers and managers give their entire services to the institution, but the distinguished list of Consulting and Attending Physicians and Surgeons labor cheerfully and unceasingly for this noble charity, without any charge whatever, and attendance is rendered to the necessitous at their own residences by the Physicians as well as at the Dispensary.

Any person, man or woman, can become a life member on payment of thirty dollars. Any person can also become a yearly member on payment of five dollars.

Open from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. every day, except Sundays and holidays.

On Sundays and holidays from 9 to 10 A.M., and 1 to 2 P.M.

This Dispensary, though small, serves amply the requirements of its district, and, although only incorporated since 1867, it has already proved most invaluable in dispensing medicines to, and alleviating the sufferings of the poor and needy. All medicines and services are gratuitous. It is open daily; a physician being always in attendance during office hours.

All who desire to obtain a better knowledge of this institution, its practical benefits to the sick poor, and its claims upon the liberality of the public, are invited to visit the Dispensary and judge for themselves.

Persons may apply for the admission of patients any time at the Hospital, but not bringing the patients with them, as these must first be examined by the House Physician at their residences.

The board of patients is seven dollars per week, payable for four weeks in advance. This is paid by the patients themselves, or by those who apply for their admission, or by the associations who adopt them as beneficiaries, or by their having one of the free beds of the Hospital. The board for children is four dollars per week. Security must be given for payment and for the removal of the patient when required, and in certain cases for burial.

Cases of sudden injury, requiring immediate care, are received at once, and, if need be, without charge.

No cases of contagious disease are admitted.

Incurable cases, needing the particular benefits of the Hospital, are received, their continuance being extended from month to month at the discretion of the Executive Committee, as the patients have their places in general wards. None are received who can not be conveniently treated there, or who, from the nature of their disease, would occasion discomfort to their neighbors.

Chronic cases will not be retained longer than medical treatment and nursing are essential to the relief or amelioration of suffering; that is to say, after the acute attack has subsided, and the patient is restored to the ordinary health of persons in their condition.

The Hospital is not a home for chronic invalids, except in peculiar circumstances.

Patients are admitted without regard to their religious creed. The subject of the spiritual care of the patient will be understood by reference to the report of the pastor of the Hospital.

The friends of patients are admitted from half-past ten to twelve of every day in the week, except Sunday.

Female visitors, unless near relatives, are not admitted into the male wards, nor male visitors into female wards.

All visitors are respectfully requested to leave when the bell rings at the expiration of the visiting hour.

No eatables, bottles, or packages of any kind may be taken by visitors into the wards. All such must be left at the office, marked with the names of the persons for whom they are intended.

On Sundays, visits to the patients are permitted only by members of associations to their beneficiaries, or in cases of extreme sickness.

The building corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-eighth street has, for many years, been occupied by this institution, where large numbers of the poor have found kind and skillful treatment of impaired vision and medicines free of charge, and where physicians and medical students have been well instructed in the theory and practice of Ophthalmology. Of late the number of patients (chronic, for the most part) has increased beyond the accommodations afforded by these premises. The Board, therefore, look forward with no regret to the early expiration of their lease of them. 1. Because they have become inadequate to the demands for relief which are made upon the hospital from the rapidly augmenting population of the city. 2. Because its present location has become too far removed from the residences of the afflicted poor to confer upon them the benefits of first treatment. 3. Because the Directors repose with confidence on the benevolence of affluent individuals, who may know nothing from personal experience of the horrors of injured sight, but who "feel for others' woes." 4. Because they can not believe the public authorities, who have chiefly nursed this hospital into life and strength, will suffer one of the most efficient charities of the State to want for a permanent home in which to carry on its benevolent work. A building fund of several thousand dollars already has been received, with some bequests, and with subscriptions to a large amount conditioned upon the hospital's obtaining equal sums from other sources.

The Homeopathic system here adopted has been found successful, beyond the expectations of the Board, in treating (at the rate of twelve hundred per year) the most obstinate forms of ophthalmic disease in patients, from different parts of the city and State, who have sought out this hospital and come to it for relief.

The Directors and all the officers and surgeons give their time and thought and aid to promote its usefulness without any remuneration except the consciousness of doing good, and they appeal to every citizen who would lighten the burden of taxation by transforming consumers into producers, every philanthropist who is pained at human suffering, and every legislator who feels the responsibility of caring for the innocent and helpless children of the State, to sustain, enlarge, and establish this hospital upon a basis of permanent usefulness for generations to come.

Mr. John M. Seaman, President, No. 10 East Twelfth street ; Mr. Thomas C. Smith, Vice-President and Chairman of Finance Committee, No. 15 Park place ; and Mr. C. C. Corson, Treasurer, East River Bank, will receive the contributions of the friends of this Hospital.

The Hospital is open for the reception of patients every day at 2 o'clock, Sundays excepted.

CLERICAL BOARD.

William Adams, D.D.,	John N. McLeod, D.D.

The city of New York has many general hospitals, as well as others appropriated to specific purposes ; it also contains several under the control of nationalities and religious denominations. Among the latter, the Jewish, the German, St. Vincent's and St. Francis' (Roman Catholic), and St. Luke's (Episcopal) Hospitals may be named. Recently, the large and influential body of Presbyterians have organized such an institution, which has been liberally endowed by James Lenox, Esq. It has not yet erected hospital buildings ; but the site donated for that purpose is that large and eligibly situated plot of ground lying between Madison and Fourth avenues and Seventieth and Seventy-first streets.

A donation of five thousand dollars entitles the donor to nominate patients to a free bed in perpetuity.

A donation of four thousand dollars entitles the donor to a like privilege during the life of the donor and the life of a successor, or for two lives ; and the same amount from a corporation confers a like privilege for twenty years. The appointment of a successor in each of the two classes named to be in writing, by Will or otherwise, and failing of such appointment the right to cease.

A donation of three thousand dollars entitles the donor to nominate patients to a free bed for life.

A donation of one hundred dollars constitutes the donor a Life Member of the institution.

A yearly donation of ten dollars constitutes an Annual Member.

St. Francis' Hospital,

(UNDER THE CHARGE OF THE "SISTERS OF THE POOR OF ST. FRANCIS,")

Nos. 407 and 409 Fifth and No. 173 Sixth streets.

ALEXANDER T. GORSKI, Visiting Physician and Surgeon.

This institution was incorporated by a special act of the Legislature under chapter 201 of the Laws of 1866. Its object is the gratuitous care of the sick, infirm, and aged poor, without distinction as to nationality or creed, deriving its support from the charitable contributions obtained through the solicitations of the Sisters, together with donations from both State and city governments.

It was first opened in the fall of 1865 at Nos. 407 and 409 Fifth street. The following year, finding the accommodations too limited to supply the increasing demand, an additional house was purchased in Sixth street. There are now ninety-five patients and invalids under the care of the Sisters. Also attached to this institution is a poor-room, where meals are dispensed to the poor; the daily attendance averaging about ninety.

GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR THE HOUSE.

The undertaker of the house has volunteered to bury all destitute persons free of charge, but any person dying in the hospital, whose friends may wish to bury the body, said friends, if they do not wish to employ this undertaker, must pay to him the sum of ten (10) dollars, as a remuneration for the expenses he may be put to in other cases of destitution.

REGULATIONS FOR VISITORS.

1. The friends of the sick are allowed to visit them twice a week, viz.: On Tuesdays and Sundays, between the hours of three (3) and five (5) o'clock in the afternoon.

2. Visitors are respectfully requested to retire when the bell announces the expiration of the visiting hours.

3. No article of food or drink is to be given to the sick by their friends; all must be left with the Sister in attendance, who will give or withhold it, according to the condition of the patient.

Pay and Day Pupils of good moral character may be received at such age as the Board of Managers may in such case approve.

The regular charge for pay pupils, including board, washing, and lodging, as well as tuition, is $300 per year, to be paid quarterly in advance. The aims of the Mission are twofold. First, to rescue fallen women from the snares and temptations which surround and entangle them, with the hope of restoring them to virtue and to society. Secondly, to save their souls from spiritual death, by pointing out to them the symbol of Redemption as their only refuge for this life and the life to come.

To accomplish these objects, Christian men go out upon the streets two evenings in the week, with cards of invitation and religious tracts, trying, by kind words and urgent appeals to conscience, to persuade these poor despised ones to forsake their evil ways, and to come to the Mission Rooms, where a kind reception awaits them, where Christian ladies lovingly welcome them, listen patiently and sympathizingly to the story of their wrongs and their confessions of guilt, offer them simple refreshments for the body, counsel them in their various difficulties, and draw them to that Saviour who never turns a deaf ear to the penitent.

The House of Refuge is located on the easterly bank of the Harlem river, on Randall's Island, and directly opposite that portion of the city of New York which is included between One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets. The buildings are of brick, erected in the Italian style. The two principal structures front the river, and form a facade nearly a thousand feet in length. The line of their fronts is exactly parallel with the city avenues. The larger of the two buildings is for the accommodation of the boys' department, the other for the girls'. Other buildings are located in the rear of these, and are inclosed by a stone wall twenty feet high. A division-wall of like height separates the grounds of the boys' department from that of the girls', and in each department walls separate the inmates into two divisions.

The boys' house is nearly six hundred feet long. The dome-surmounted portions are devoted to the use of the officers; the central mass also contains the chapel; while the extreme portions contain the hospitals and lavatories. There are six hundred and thirty-six dormitories, five feet by seven, and seven feet high, in the portion between the center and end buildings. In the rear is the school and dining-hall building, seventy by one hundred and thirty-eight feet. A central brick wall divides the building in each story into two equal parts, one for each division. The lower story is appropriated to dining-rooms, and the upper story to school-rooms. In the rear of the school building are the kitchen and bakery, occupying a space twenty-five by ninety feet. The work-shops are at the northerly and southerly extremities of the yard, and are each thirty by one hundred feet, and three stories high.

The girls' house is two hundred and fifty feet long—the central portion of which contains the apartments of the matron, assistants, and female teachers, while the wings contain two hundred and fifty dormitories for the inmates. In the rear, connected by two corridors or covered halls, is a building for school-rooms and dining-halls—the hospitals, sewing-rooms, and lavatories being at each end, with the laundry in the rear.

The whole establishment is supplied with Croton water, brought across the Harlem river in a three and one-quarter inch lead pipe. Tanks are in the attics of the principal buildings, and a reservoir, one hundred feet diameter, located beyond the inclosure, affords a reserve for extraordinary occasions, as well as a plentiful supply of ice in the winter.

By thus associating individual with collective efforts an efficient and economical provision is made for the material and moral well being of a portion, at least, of the destitute children of the State and city.

The Protectory, by its charter, is empowered, and, to the extent of its means, even bound to take and receive into its care three classes of children, all of which must be between seven and fourteen years of age.

1. Those intrusted for protection or reformation.

BY-LAWS RELATING TO APPLICANTS FOR CHILDREN.

Persons applying for children must be regular attendants at a Protestant place of worship, and recommended by their pastor. The children must live in the family, and regularly attend church on the Sabbath, and, when not too inconvenient, Sunday-school. Only those approved by the Board or Executive Committee may select children.

If mechanics, or to teach any business, they must have recommendations from at least two respectable persons that they are capable of teaching them the trade.

Neither boys nor girls will be permitted to go to tavern or boarding-house keepers, nor where liquor is sold.

Girls may be placed in private families, but where there are apprentice boys or young men employed a more vigilant oversight must be exercised.

Employers and children will be allowed three months' trial; at the expiration of this time, if either be dissatisfied, the child may be returned to the Home. Girls over the age of ten, thus returned, shall be entitled to two dollars per month, or an equivalent in clothing; said wages or clothing to be accounted for to the Indenturing Committee.

Persons having children indentured to them must provide them suitable education and maintenance, inform the Executive Committee of their welfare at least once a year, and, at the expiration of their indenture, give them such sum of money, or its equivalent, as shall be agreed upon by the Indenturing Committee when the children are apprenticed.

Should circumstances occur, by death in the family where the child has been apprenticed, or should there be other sufficient reason, the indenture may be transferred to another person, with the consent of the Executive Committee, or the child may be received again at the Home.

Those who have children sent out to them will be expected to pay the expense incurred in sending them.

This Institution comprises St. Catharine's Convent, occupied by the Sisters of Mercy, and the House of Mercy, occupied by destitute young women, of whom the Sisters take charge.

The average number of these is one hundred. They receive religious instruction, and are supplied with food and clothing until employment can be procured for them elsewhere.

The Sisters also visit the sick and dying poor in their own homes and in hospitals.

The State Prison at Sing-Sing and the City Prison in Centre street are regularly visited by them, and they instruct the inmates in their moral and religious duties.

House of the Good Shepherd,

Eighty-ninth street and East river.

This institution is situated at the foot of Eighty-ninth and Ninetieth streets, East river, in the city of New York, on a plot of ground containing about thirty-two city lots.

The Convent and Chapel were erected in 1861. In 1864, a building fifty by ninety feet, and five stories high, was built on Eighty-ninth street, one hundred and twenty-five feet west of the Convent, and in September, 1868, another building of the same dimensions was commenced on Ninetieth street, which was finished on the first of April, 1869, forming a continuous building fifty by one hundred and eighty feet, extending from Eighty-ninth and Ninetieth streets, capable of containing eight hundred persons.

The cost of erecting the above-mentioned buildings is nearly two hundred thousand dollars.

The institution was commenced in Fourteenth street, New York, on the second day of October, 1857, by five Religious of the Order of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd. By reception of novices since that period the community has increased to eighty-three members and six out-door Sisters, eleven of whom are engaged in forming a foundation of the Order in Boston, and twelve more in Brooklyn.

Their aim is nothing less than to reclaim and thoroughly reform the most hardened, the most abandoned, and the most loathsome of the human family.

It is a House of Correction, attempting by moral means alone to reform the worst abuses, and to provide a home, a quiet and happy retreat for the inmates of the houses of infamy. Although the Sisters live in separate houses, yet one or more of them are always present, night and day, to direct and control the penitents in their various duties, striving always to gain their affection in order to be able to bring them to contrition and remorse.

On application to the institution, so long as any room remains to accommodate them, young women coming from any part of the country, or of any religion whatever, are received without being questioned, and the same uniform kindness is paid, and the same accommodations and training provided for all, without the least regard being paid to the particular religion in which they have been educated.

As no force is used to compel persons to enter the institution so they are under no restraint to remain, but, on application to the Mother Superior, can at any time leave, though while under protection they remain always within the inclosure, where they are trained, educated to useful occupations, and, when thoroughly reformed, the Religious give them a perpetual home, or send them into the world safe, useful, and virtuous members of society.

The labors of the Sisters have been attended with the happiest results, not only on account of the number who have been received into the establishment, but because, in most instances, those who have entered have been entirely and thoroughly converted.

The number in the institution on the first of January, 1869, was 480.

The inmates are divided into four classes, each of which is entirely separated from the others, no communication being allowed between the different classes.

The first consists of Magdalens, who are penitents, who have been converted, and are leading the life of Religious, under the rule of the third Order of St. Teresa.....	50
The second class is that of the penitent women and girls who have been received in the Asylum in order to be converted.....	200
The third class is that of the Preservation, composed of children who are in danger of falling, and mostly those of bad parents.....	100
The fourth class is composed of girls within the age of fourteen and twenty-one, committed by the Magistrates.....	130

The New York Port Society and the American Seamen's Friend Society are so frequently confounded with each other that justice to both requires that the boundary line between them should be distinctly traced.

The New York Port Society was organized in 1818, and the American Seamen's Friend Society not until ten years afterward.

Their operations are entirely independent, and neither derives pecuniary aid from the other.

The distinctive work of the Port Society is that of promoting the Gospel among seamen in the port of New York, and it is the only general union society engaged in this undertaking. The Seamen's Friend Society aims to do a similar work in other ports.

Both societies are laboring harmoniously for the welfare of seamen, but in different directions and by distinct methods.

It is the oldest organization of the kind in the city, entirely unsectarian, designed to give the Gospel to the needy. It employs thirty-eight Missionaries, male and female, who are daily visiting the poor. It has fourteen Mission Stations. It holds one hundred meetings weekly. It sustains preaching services, Sabbath-schools, reading-rooms, etc. It gives popular lectures and social entertainments to the people. It furnishes a field for the employment of the lay talent of the churches. It has erected a new Mission Station at No. 63 Second street, to be known as Olivet Chapel, at the cost of $20,000, which has been pronounced a model of its kind, and has purchased two other houses for missionary purposes, and holds in all real estate to the value of $60,000. The money contributed for the Mission Building Fund is kept entirely distinct from donations to the general work, and is either represented in real estate unincumbered or good investments.

The design of this Association is the elevation of the moral and physical condition of the indigent, and, so far as is compatible with these objects, the relief of their necessities. The first principle of the Association is founded in the admission that the alms of benevolent societies and of private liberality are often misapplied and as often abused by those who receive them. To guard against these evils, it covers, by a minute division of labor and responsibility, the entire city.

Its arrangements are: First, a general division of the entire city into twenty districts, with a local Advisory Committee in each, one of whom is also a manager in the Central Board. Next, it subdivides the districts into three hundred and fifty sections, and appoints a visitor to each section, whose field of labor is compressed to a limit which admits of his personal attention to all the needy therein. It thus covers every avenue, street, and alley within the bounds of this great metropolis. It ministers to all, not otherwise provided for, irrespective of creed, color, or country, in a way to benefit the recipient, and promote the best interests of the community.

The income last year exceeded that of any former one, and enabled the Trustees to replace to the credit of the Permanent Fund the $10,000 taken from it in the year 1865, when the expenditures reached over $40,000. The Permanent Fund now stands at $100,000. There is also, in addition, $10,000, which the Trustees have not deemed advisable to place in the Permanent Fund, but have continued it among their available means, the same being safely invested, and in such a manner that it can be used without delay in case of any emergency arising needing its use.

As the public, as well as many new members elected to the Association, are not acquainted with the mode of transacting the business affairs of the Board of Trustees, the following brief summary is given:

The city is divided into ten districts, bounded by the different ward lines; a Trustee is assigned to each district, whose duty it is to examine and attend to all applicants for relief, and afford the necessary assistance. No Trustee is allowed to act, except in urgent cases, outside of his own district, unless with the consent of the Trustee of the district. Each Trustee acts on his own judgment in regard to ordinary applications, and is held responsible to the Board for his acts. He is required to attend to any applicant who may be in the hospital, having a residence in his district, and see that proper attention is given to his comfort. The President of the Board has charge of the recipients residing out of the city; these constitute the Donation Committee, each of the members of which make their report in writing, with the names of the various applicants to whom assistance has been granted, with the circumstances connected with the same, and the amount of money paid to each applicant. These accounts are read and examined at the quarterly meetings of the Board, then passed to the Chairman of the Committee, who enters them in a book provided for the purpose, and the bills placed on file. Application for placing the name of a widow on the Pension List is referred to the Trustee of the district in which the applicant resides, whose duty it is to examine the Firemen's Register and ascertain that the applicant applying is entitled to be placed on the Pension List according to the Rules and By-Laws. (The deceased husband must have been an exempt fireman.) The Trustee of the district also furnishes the coal to the applicants residing in his district.

The Treasurer pays all the pensions of the widows at his office on the last day in each quarter, viz.: January, April, July, and October. The revenues derived from all sources are required to be paid to the Treasurer, who is under bonds to the amount of twenty thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his trust. All moneys exceeding one hundred dollars received by him are required to be deposited in the National Butchers' and Drovers' Bank to the credit of the Exempt Firemen's Benevolent Fund, and can only be drawn therefrom by resolution of the Board, the Treasurer drawing the check to the order of a Trustee, specifying the amount and object of the appropriation, which is then indorsed over to the party who is to receive it. The money on deposit draws interest at the rate of four per cent. When any bond and mortgage is canceled, the amount must be reinvested at the earliest opportunity, as no portion of the Permanent Fund can be expended.

The disbursements for the year have amounted to seventy thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight dollars and three cents. Of which twenty-eight thousand and six hundred dollars is re-investments, and ten thousand dollars added to the Permanent Fund, leaving a balance in the Butchers' and Drovers' Bank to the credit of the Fund of ten thousand and seventy-four dollars and forty-eight cents, and making the total net expenditures in the various deeds of charity thirty-two thousand and two hundred and ninety-eight dollars and three cents.

The Permanent Fund is now one hundred thousand dollars; invested in bonds and mortgage, ninety-five thousand and five hundred dollars; United States Government securities, four thousand and two hundred and fifty dollars; Manhattan Bank stock, two hundred and fifty dollars; and to the balance in the Butchers' and Drovers' Bank must be added the ten thousand dollars temporary loan as belonging to the available means, showing a very gratifying and prosperous situation of affairs.

There are two free scholarships in the New York University where the sons of exempt firemen can be educated in the higher branches of education, free of expense, and it is a lamentable fact that, with the large number of exempt firemen in the city of New York, the Trustees have not been able to keep the same filled, both now being vacant. The School Committee, with all their exertions by advertising and other ways, have not succeeded in finding pupils for the two free scholarships; an appeal is therefore made to the members of the Association for their assistance in getting these scholarships filled.

Academy of the Sacred Heart,

Manhattanville, New York.

S. BOUDREAU, Superioress.

This institution, incorporated in 1851, is under the direction of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart. It is about eight miles from the city of New York, in the vicinity of Harlem and Manhattanville. The site, formerly known as the property of Jacob Lorillard, and purchased in 1847, is elevated, healthy, and beautiful. The grounds for recreation and promenade are cultivated and spacious, surrounded by shrubbery, and pleasantly shaded by grove and forest trees.

The education of young ladies of the higher class being the special object of this institute, every advantage is afforded the pupils to pursue all the useful and ornamental branches becoming their sex. Difference of religion is no obstacle to the admission of young ladies, provided they be willing to conform to the general regulations of the school.

The annual vacation commences the first week of July, and scholastic duties are resumed the first Wednesday of September.

The Academy numbers three hundred and twenty-five boarding pupils. A day school is attached to the institution where three hundred children from the surrounding district receive gratuitous instruction.

This institution was organized in the month of February, 1853, and in May, 1854, was incorporated under the title of "Wilson Industrial School for Girls." Since that time it has had under its care 7,200 girls, between the ages of five and twenty. It embraces Day Schools, open from 9 A.M. until 3 P.M., where, during the morning session, they are instructed in the rudimental branches of education, and, in the afternoon, are thoroughly instructed in sewing. They receive a daily dinner, and earn their clothing by their credit marks. In addition there are two trade classes (dress-making and family sewing), in which the older girls are instructed from 8 A.M. to 6 P.M. There is also a "housework" class, to which a certain number are detailed each week, and in which they are instructed in household duties. In 1867, in order to supplement a work otherwise incomplete, a Mission Church, under the care of this association, was organized on a union basis, which, with its Sabbath Schools, Bible Class, and "Mothers' Meetings" exerts a marked influence upon the congregation. In consequence of the remarkable growth of the work during the last fifteen years, it became necessary to enlarge the accommodations, and, accordingly, in March (1869) the present building was purchased, which will afford room for some branches of work long neglected.

A "Night Refuge" for homeless girls will be opened, with which will be connected a bath-room, supper-room, and reading room.

Free bath-rooms for the poor will also be opened, and a "Nursery," where workingwomen, by the payment of a nominal sum, can have their infants cared for while they are engaged in daily service.

This institution is unique, there being at present no similar one established in the United States so complete in its various departments of mental, moral, and practical training. For fifteen years it has had in successful operation a Training School in its industrial classes. The association does not propose by the large numbers under its care to command attention, but by its complete influence, brought to bear on families in various ways, to help those who, under our present tenement-house system, strive amidst ignorance and poverty to bring up their children to lives of virtue and of industry.

This institution relies for support wholly on voluntary contributions, having no claim upon moneys dispensed by the Board of Education; and its Board of Managers being composed of members of different denominations it can not claim the aid of a particular church.

The Irish Emigrant Society of New York was organized in 1841, and on April 29, 1844, received a charter from the State Legislature. Its objects, as set forth in the act, were "to afford advice, information, aid, and protection to Emigrants from Ireland, and generally to promote their welfare."

The principal objects of the Society are:

1. By the sale of its bills on the Bank of Ireland, and by keeping ample funds there to meet the same, to furnish to the Irish people in this country a safe remittance to their friends in Ireland, thereby protecting them from false, fraudulent, and dubious bills.
2. To receive moneys from persons having no knowledge of responsible shipping-houses, and to purchase for them passage-tickets by steamer, and to transmit the same to their friends in Ireland, for whom the passages were ordered.
3. To receive moneys from persons residing out of the city of New York, and who have no responsible agent here, and to apply such moneys to forwarding into the interior, according to their direction, their friends and families who may arrive at this port from Ireland.
4. By and through the official position of the President (he being by law of the State of New York a Commissioner of Emigration) to protect the persons and property of Irish emigrants.
5. To aid friendless Irish emigrants and their children by an application of the surplus earnings of the Society to their relief.

The earliest remaining record of this Society is dated November 17, 1785. A meeting was held on that day at the public house of Walter Heyer, No. 75 King street (now Pine street), of which Robert Boyd (afterward, from 1787 to 1791, sheriff of the county) was chairman. The Society at that time was composed of delegates from different trade societies then existing in the city. Its objects were such as are usual with such associations, viz.: to act in concert for the mutual advantage of its members in their business. Its first charter was dated March 14, 1792. In this its object is declared to be the "Protecting and supporting such of their brethren as by sickness or accident may stand in need of assistance, and for the relief of the widows and orphans of those who may die leaving little property for their support." This charter was renewed and extended in 1811, and has since been several times amended. In 1820, a school was established for the gratuitous education of the children of poor or deceased members whose circumstances rendered such assistance desirable, and also a free library for the apprentices of mechanics. The school, for a long time, maintained a high position among the best of its class in the city, but the public schools, by the great improvements introduced into them, having led to the withdrawal of most of its pupils, it was in 1858 changed into a school for the instruction of young mechanics in Architectural, Machine, and Free-hand Drawing, Mathematics, etc. The Apprentices' Library has gone on steadily increasing to the present time. It now contains about forty-five thousand volumes, and its readers number between six and seven thousand, about one-third of whom are females employed by mechanics or tradesmen in their business.

In 1833, a course of lectures was established, and other measures adopted for the purpose of disseminating literary and scientific knowledge among mechanics, and of improving the minds and elevating the character of their apprentices.

The operations of the society during the year 1868 may be briefly stated as follows:

LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

This institution was established on the 25th of November, 1820, by the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen in the city of New York, and conducted by a committee of that body.

The Library was at first composed of books presented by citizens, on the solicitation of a number of philanthropic gentlemen, members of the Society, and others. It has since been supported by the Society, out of its own funds, with the exception of a few donations, two legacies from the Demilt family, amounting to $8,000, and one from the late Peter Lorillard, Esq., of $5,000. The increase in the number of volumes for many years was very slow, but as the income of the Society increased its appropriations have been proportionately more liberal. There are now 45,000 volumes, and between 6,000 and 7,000 readers, one-third of whom are females.

The books are loaned gratuitously to the apprentices of mechanics, to females employed by mechanics and tradesmen in their business, and to the members of the Mechanics' Society. A few others may obtain them on the payment of two dollars per annum.

Formation of Wards.

In 1683, the city of New York was divided into six wards, under the designation of "South," "Dock," "East," "North," "West," and "Out" Wards. For map showing the boundaries of these wards see page 212 of Manual of Common Council for 1848.

The Montgomerie Charter, dated January 15, 1730, designates, in addition to the above, the boundaries of the "Montgomerie" Ward.

By an act of the colonial government, passed February 23, 1791, the wards are designated numerically from 1 to 7, and the bounds of each described.

By an act of the Legislature, passed March 8, 1803, the wards are increased to nine, numerically designated, and boundaries described.

The Tenth Ward was erected from the Seventh by act of March 18, 1808.

The Eleventh and Twelfth Wards were formed, and the boundaries of all described, by an act passed April 25, 1825. (Chap. 195, Laws of 1825.)

13th Ward was erected from the 10th Ward, Act April 6, 1827.

* In this table the reader can discover the statistical results of some great fluctuations which have taken place in the population of those wards in which the necessities of commerce and its warehouses have supplanted large masses of inhabitants. For example, it is seen that in the first six wards which comprise the whole region south of Canal street, these fluctuations began to be felt as early as 1845, and the effect became more and more marked in each succeeding census period since that time. In all the wards south of Fourteenth street the encroachments of warehouses and manufactories have produced many changes in the state of the population, but the most important of all is that of concentration.

HISTORICAL.

Marriage of Jacob Milborne and Mary Leisler.

MARRIED—February 3, 1691, Jacob Milborne to Mary Leisler.

The event thus indicated was of a character more interesting in its attendant circumstances than any other of the kind in the history of New York.

The bridegroom was a bachelor, aged about forty years, of English birth, though his father resided at Boston, where one of his brothers was a dissenting clergyman; altogether the family was eminently of a Puritan character. Jacob Milborne had, in the early years of his manhood, been a resident of the city of New York. In 1668 (being then about twenty years of age) he entered the service of Thomas Delavall, who, at that period, was the leading English merchant in the city, as clerk and book-keeper, and was so employed for many subsequent years, but afterward conducted business on his own account, which occasioned his residence from time to time in other parts. While in New York his extreme Puritan principles had been strongly manifested, and had brought him prominently forward as a champion of the party with which he was thus identified. At the present day we can hardly appreciate the intense jealousies which then existed in church matters, and we must refer the reader to general English history for a more particular elucidation of the state of the public mind on that subject. Mr. Milborne showed in the course of these controversies that he possessed a character of great vigor. His eloquence was considered of a high order, though the matter of his orations was criticised by his opponents as being too diffuse and mystical for ready comprehension. In the most conspicuous of these disputes he was so unfortunate as to have Governor Andros interpose against him, who, in his official character, visited Milborne with heavy fines and imprisonment. The indomitable Puritan, however, went to England, where he sued the governor for false imprisonment, and recovered a large amount in damages. In course of time these ancient con-trousers had become quieted, and the political party to which Milborne belonged was for some time overshadowed by the power of King James, and so remained until the revolution, which resulted in the flight of that monarch, and the accession of William and Mary to the throne, at which period the interesting events to be narrated were first introduced.

Mary Leisler, the bride in the matrimonial alliance with Milborne, was at the time of her marriage a girl of twenty summers, a daughter of Jacob Leisler, an enterprising merchant of New York. She was born in this city, her father's residence and place of business being in the present Whitehall street, south of Pearl street, which locality was then called the "Strand." The accompanying view of Leisler's premises is copied from a drawing made in 1679, a period when the young lady now spoken of was in her girlhood.

Jacob Leisler, the father of Mary, was a notable character in every respect. A man of domestic dispositions, strict in his church duties, and rearing his family with all moral restraint, he nevertheless was an adventurous trader on the seas, and carried his vessel, commonly known as "Jacob Leisler's barque," in all parts of the ocean; now searching the depths of the sea for treasure from the wreck of plate ships; now trading for the commodities of the American coast and the West Indies; now captured by Algerine pirates and enslaved in Barbary until ransomed; now engaged in the more peaceful navigation of the Hudson river, trading for furs. Indeed, a thoroughly busy man, whose industry had resulted in affording him a position of wealth only exceeded by that of one or two persons throughout the province.

By birth a German, Mr. Leisler arrived in this city in 1660, in the capacity of a common soldier. After the term of his enlistment, he engaged in business* and married a worthy lady, the widow of Mr. Vanderveen, a merchant of reputation, who is entitled to a name in our local history as the builder of the first brick house erected in our city,† and also as joint owner of the first ship built at this port, a vessel called the "New Love."

The political life of Mr. Leisler was in no wise distinguished. He apparently took no part in local matters of government, his only public positions, so far as we have observed, having been that of justice of the peace for a short period, and that of captain of one of the militia companies in the town. But he had to some extent been marked as a leader in the great question of the day, by having been associated with Jacob Milborne in the struggle with Governor Andros and his party on the church dispute to which reference has been made. Leisler and Milborne alone stood the brunt of that controversy, and were the sole victims of the exacting fines and imprisonment which the imperious governor visited upon the dissenting party. In the events which afterward arose, it was found that in many respects both these persons were deficient in qualities suited to the occasion. Leisler's knowledge of the English language was imperfect, a circumstance which to some extent detracted from his influence with the New England people, whose principles were ostensibly in sympathy with the dissenters, and whose co-operation was highly needful under the circumstances.

The domestic life of Leisler seems to have been peculiarly happy. He had one son, just growing into manhood, and several daughters, one of whom was married to Mr. Walters, an English merchant, afterward mayor of the city. He himself was at the period now referred to about fifty years of age. His education, in his native language, seems to have been very good, though he never mastered the English orthography, nor, apparently, the pronunciation of that language beyond an imperfect ability to make himself understood in both writing and speaking. His personal characteristics, which chiefly marked him as a leader, were his sincerity of mind and vigor of action. He had, however, too little government of his passions and subtilty of intellect to meet the emergencies which were from time to time presented by the various phases of events.

The leaders of the opposite faction were Col. Nicholas Bayard and Mayor Stephanus Van Cortland, both members of the council of the former administration. They were accomplished gentlemen, so far as the facilities of education were afforded by the schools of that day, and ranked from wealth and social connections with the leading families in the province. They were both of Dutch extraction, but seem to have entertained a very disparaging opinion of their fellow-countrymen, as their correspondence teems with abuse of them as a "rabble," "the lowest and meanest of the population," and other similar epithets, from which we can not but infer that these gentlemen had imbibed some elevated notions of aristocracy by their contact with the English cavaliers.

Readers of history are familiar with that great event in British history, which changed the line of succession to the throne, finally established the Protestant interests in that government, and which is generally known as the Revolution of 1688.

Great excitement ensued in all the colonies, and in New England the consequences were an immediate overturning of the constituted authority. The governor with all his court of officials and followers were lodged in the fort at Boston, while a new system of government was established without bloodshed and with general unanimity.

The population of New York had not the same common bonds of feeling and interest which united those of New England, but, on the contrary, was composed of divers nationalities, the Dutch being in the ascendant in point of numbers. The province had been conquered by the English in 1664, and some remains of national jealousy still existed. But probably as serious a cause of discontent as any which existed was the exacting character of the colonial government. The greedy officials who represented the royal proprietor were rapacious and unscrupulous, nor were the masses of the Dutch people any the more reconciled to the government from the fact that many of their own leading merchants followed the fashions of the provincial court, and sought or bought the lucrative offices which were so much the object of popular enmity. The jurisdiction of this English Governor Andros (the same who was then locked up in Boston) also extended to New York, and he had divided his period of residence between the different sections, leaving a lieutenant-governor to officiate during his absence in either part of his government. The members of his council were drawn from various parts of New England and New York. Those of the latter province were three in number, all merchants and all of Dutch descent. They, as was natural, sustained the power from which their greatness arose, and were not enthusiastic in believing in the permanency of the change of dynasty in the mother country, although in point of principle and religious education they could not avow themselves in opposition to it, so long, at least, as it was not certain to meet with defeat. So that, to sum up the situation in New York at the time of the seizure of the governor in Boston, we find the Lieutenant-Governor Nicholson exercising the executive authority, sustained by the three New York members of the council—Bayard, Van Cortland, and Philipse, as well as by all the subordinate magistracy which received appointment from government, and also by a few persons of English descent and of cavalier principles. This party was called by their opponents "the grandees"; while, as to their political position, they were in a state of doubt and hesitancy, they were decided on one point, which was to retain their hold on official power to the last extremity. On the other hand, the rumbling that precedes the storm was plainly heard in the body politic; the old Cromwellian fever stirred up some of the English; while the Dutch, slow to move, began to deliberate and prepare for events of importance.

Revolutionary movements were first initiated in the English towns on Long Island. Magistrates were deposed, and the people marched toward New York to take possession of the fort and maintain it on behalf of their Protestant majesties King William and Queen Mary against the deposed King James and his ally the King of France. It was argued that New York having been the property of the ex-king when Duke of York, he would naturally wish to recover it, and that, with the neighboring French province of Canada on the borders to assist invasion, an assault could be made on the city of New York with every prospect of conquest, especially as the fort was in a poor condition. The revolutionists arrived at Jamaica, having recruited on their way to the number of eighty, a force which was thought to be sufficient to capture the city of New York at that time, as there were not over fifty soldiers in the fort, and a popular support was expected to be freely given by the inhabitants of the city.

In this emergency the officials in the city were assembled in council, and the revolutionary leaders were prevailed upon to send their captain to hold a conference. The assembly thus organized was called "The Convention," at which all classes of the people were represented. The most important result of its negotiations was the consent obtained from the lieutenant-governor, that the militia companies of the city and its vicinity, five in number, and embracing about five hundred men, should hold guard in the fort by turns, and meanwhile that the whole population should aid in repairing the fort and walls of the city. Whereupon the insurgents, expressing themselves satisfied, returned home, though many persons thought it would have been better to have followed the plan of the eastern colonies and ousted all the officers of the old King James, who were certainly, it was argued, little to be depended upon as leaders in case of actual invasion by the forces of the ex-king, or of his friend and ally the King of France.

The suspicions against the lieutenant-governor and his party were no doubt exaggerated by their opponents, for it is found that Nicholson at that time had openly acknowledged the reigning power in Great Britain, and had written to the king and queen setting forth the troubled condition of the province, and urging the speedy establishment of a government of their majesties' choice. This was looked upon by the opposite party as a bid for power, and served but little to mollify the extreme height to which mutual jealousy had arisen.

But a short time elapsed before the spark fell which was to light up the fire of revolution. The government soldiers and the militia did not agree well in the fort. Report was made to the lieutenant-governor by his orderly that the corporal of the militia company insisted upon placing a sentry on guard at a certain sally-port without order from the government officer of the fort. Whereupon the lieutenant-governor having sent for the militia officer treated him with some personal indignity, showing his pistols, and saying in his passion that he would rather see the town set on fire than submit to the pretensions of the militia. That night was passed in turmoil throughout the town, and it was obvious the next morning that the days of the existing administration were numbered. The convention met in the afternoon, and was interrupted by the march of armed troops, who came to demand the formal surrender of the fort and the transfer of the keys, which demand, after due exhibition of force to excuse the official for the relinquishment of his trust, was complied with, and the lieutenant-governor, thus deprived of his government, and, moreover, threatened with more serious results to his person, secretly made his way out of the country and departed for England.

The people having thus taken into their own hands the administration of affairs, it seemed a necessity, from the uncertainty of the time of action of the home government on colonial matters, that some form of government should be established. Accordingly, in the early part of the summer of 1689, a committee of safety was elected by different parts of the province

(although some parts refused to co-operate), and Jacob Leisler received the general support as temporary commander-in-chief of the province.

Leisler being thus seated in the place of power was scouted at by his opponents as a usurper, and threats of an uprising to unseat him were freely made. It then became evident that the whole province was to become the scene of contention. The old fires were rekindled, and the parties began to marshal themselves under their respective leaders.

But the weakness of Leisler's adversaries in point of numbers was apparent, as was evinced on occasion of an alarm arising from the suspected approach of Governor Andros, who had escaped from the Boston prison. The people being required to declare themselves, about five hundred men signed to support Leisler, which was estimated to be three-fourths of the number of citizens in the city and vicinity. But, though outnumbered, the opposite faction was not overawed. They affected to despise Leisler's rabble, as they called them, and under the lead of some of the members of the late government council attempted to maintain themselves in the places of government. Especially the possession of the custom-house was the object of contention, and occasioned violent scenes, the result of which was that the grandees were driven from the city.

Three months having passed in this manner, in the early part of August, 1689, Jacob Milborne arrived in this city from Europe, having abandoned his business operations there to lend a helping hand to his friend who had thus obtained the helm of government. On his arrival, he was at once appointed Secretary to the Committee of Safety, and it may be said that he became practically the guiding spirit of the party to which he was attached.

We have previously mentioned that in May Lieutenant-Governor Nicholson had dispatched a message to the home government, setting forth the distracted state of the province, and asking that orders for a settlement be speedily sent. The same messenger who had carried the letter returned with the answer as follows: "To our trusty and well-beloved Captain Francis Nicholson, our Lieutenant-Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our Province of New York in America, or, in his absence, to such as for the time being do take care for the keeping of the peace and administering the laws of our said Province of New York in America." It authorized the person to whom it was addressed to act as lieutenant-governor and carry on the government until further orders. At the time the letter was written, the retirement of Nicholson from the province was unknown to the home authorities, and it certainly could not have been intended to establish Leisler in authority. But, nevertheless, this interpretation was, after due deliberation, given to it, and having assumed the title of Lieutenant-Governor, Leisler appointed his associates in the Council of Government. Probably the better reasoning would have been to regard the authority conveyed by the mission to be inoperative, as the person for whom it was intended was an absentee. This construction would still have left Leisler with the same power he before possessed without the seeming arrogance of seeking that which it was never designed to be bestowed upon him. There is this, however, to be said favorable to the assumption of Leisler, that the entire community were awaiting with anxiety a final settlement of the succession to the government, and even Leisler's appointment would have been received by the majority of his opponents with satisfaction. This was shown by the conduct of Mr. Philipse, the associate of Bayard and Van Cortland in the former council, who recognized Leisler's assumed authority, and thus, by his example, did his party, as his late associates complained, "irreparable injury."

Meanwhile, Milborne, before these events, had set out with fifty men in three sloops for the purpose of establishing the authority of the new government at Albany, where he arrived in the early part of November.

The population of Albany was divided into parties in about the same disproportions as those of New York, the friends of Leisler being considerably in the majority, but the opposite party possessing the fort and other places of power refused to relinquish; nor could the menaces of the people, who "raging and mutinous" drove the convention from the City Hall in fear of their lives, alter their resolutions. The mayor and his adherents shut themselves up in the fort, having first sent a mission to the Maquas Indians, with whom the Albanians were on intimate terms, to lend them assistance in case of necessity. All accommodation appearing hopeless, Milborne marched against the fort, and approaching the gate demanded entrance, which was denied him, he pushed himself partly in, and was thrust out, whereupon he returned to his forces, and, having marshaled them in front of the fort, he commanded his men to load. At this point of time the Maquas appeared on the hill near the fort, and prepared to take part against the New York troops. Nothing remained for Major Milborne but to retreat; he accordingly marched his men into the town, and a captain having been selected at Albany, troops were left for the protection of the refractory city, which was in great apprehension of an assault during the ensuing winter from the French and their Indian allies.

Milborne thus returned to New York in a state of discomfiture, a circumstance which served to elate the opposite party, who began to "prick up their ears." Leisler was openly assailed in the streets by a mob, and found it necessary to cut his way through them sword in hand. Upon this a general alarm was sounded, and the people flocked to the city by the hundreds, quartering themselves in the houses of the leading persons of the opposite party. The leaders of the faction were obliged to fly to adjacent provinces. But Bayard, who had made his appearance at this time, was chased and captured. He was placed in irons in the dungeon of the fort, and remained a close prisoner for the following fourteen months. He sought in vain to be released from his loathsome confinement, engaging in return for his liberty to recognize the authority of Leisler, but the latter was obdurate.

Almost at the same time with the occurrence of these events in the city happened the massacre at Schenectady, so well known in our colonial annals. This was in the early part of February, 1690. Almost the whole population fell before this murderous fray. Leisler no longer hesitated in his mode of dealing with the refractory Albanians, to whose supineness he attributed this terrible disaster. He at once organized a body of troops sufficient to overcome all resistance, and dispatched them under Milborne with two other companies. Resistance was not thought of, the fort and public places were delivered up to Leisler's delegates, and all together bent their efforts in apparent harmony toward the maintenance of the general safety.

The public voice now called loudly for retaliatory measures, and all the energies of Leisler were devoted to the organization of an invading army against Canada. The various eastern colonies agreed to co-operate, and promised to supply a proportion of troops. The quota of New York, however, was much the largest, and she was to be allowed to name the generalissimo. Leisler made great personal sacrifices to meet his engagements with the other colonies, and indeed the whole province of New York was taxed to the utmost. The spring advanced and, punctual to the time appointed, the New York troops were at Albany. The spring passed away and part of the summer, and still no troops from the East. At last a few arrived from Connecticut, and in return for these she demanded the choice of a general to command all the forces. However unacceptable these terms, they could not be denied. It was either compliance, or the failure and abandonment of the enterprise. The troops set out, but proceeded only a few miles when a council of war was called, and it was decided by the general that the force was inadequate to its object, and the army returned to Albany. Without discussing the judiciousness of this movement, we will only refer to the exasperation of Leisler upon finding all his efforts turned to naught by a general forced upon him by a pretended friendly power. He did not hesitate to proceed in person to Albany and seize upon the general, whom he placed under arrest. The general was not, however, long held in confinement. The only result of this expedition, of which so great hopes had been entertained, and such sacrifices made, was the estrangement of the colony of Connecticut under the indignity offered to her general, and perhaps from an innate sense of her own unfairness toward an ally who deserved more consideration than was accorded him.

The close of the summer of 1690 found Leisler shattered in fortune and suffering under the misfortunes of his administration. He looked forward to the arrival of his successor with an anxious desire to be relieved of cares and responsibilities to which he found himself unequal, and perhaps with not a little foreboding as to the results to himself, for it became known at this time that a successor had been named by the government whose unfriendly sentiments toward Leisler were not concealed. The enemies of his administration had grown bold to the point of insult, and his life was again attempted by a mob. But however hopeless his cause his friends still sustained him, and their numbers forbade any organized resistance to his authority.

Apparently the home government had deliberately condemned the authority assumed by Leisler, as we must infer from the fact that the former Lieutenant-Governor Nicholson had been invested with the high position of Governor of Virginia, and his friend, Colonel Sloughter, named as Governor of New York; but, in the instructions to the latter, he was enjoined to examine into the state of affairs at New York, and report the result to the home government.

Governor Sloughter set out from England with a squadron of ships of war and store ships, carrying a considerable number of soldiers for garrison duty. In the course of the voyage the vessels became separated, that of the governor going into one of the southern islands to refit, while that of his second officer, Major Ingoldsby, accompanied by two store ships, entered the bay of New York on the 25th January, 1671. Ingoldsby was at once surrounded by the impatient opponents of Leisler, and a concert of action was established between them. Being without authority to take upon himself the act of superseding the existing government he was embarrassed as to the course to be pursued, but it was decided to demand possession of the fort for his quarters and that of his soldiers.

This proceeding had been anticipated by Leisler and his council, who, after full deliberation, resolved to maintain their position until the delivery of formal orders for the relinquishment of their authority. Accordingly, when, on the 29th of January, the ships were brought in front of the fort, and a demand made for the opening of its gates to the forces of the king, an answer was returned, couched in friendly terms, setting forth the impropriety of the demand and the impossibility of complying therewith before the delivery of orders. Meanwhile quarters were offered in the city to the major and his forces. The latter, however, refused any accommodation, and proceeded to land his men with the same warlike movements as if in the face of an enemy. Proclamations were issued through the country by both leaders calling upon their respective friends to rally to their support. The adjoining colonies were traversed for recruits, and the whole country responded in accordance with their long-pent prejudices. But Leisler's friends greatly preponderated in numbers. It was estimated that not less than nine hundred men were in arms on his side, a number which effectually destroyed all hope of the success of his opponents by force. Nothing remained, therefore, but to await the arrival of the governor, whose presence, it was conceded, would put an end to the dispute. Weeks passed, and at the middle of March no news had yet arrived of the missing vessel, so that it was on all sides feared that it was lost. Additional excitement was occasioned by this apprehension, and the anticipation of a conflict of arms as the only method of settlement became universal.

On the 16th of March Leisler issued his formal protest against the aggressive acts of Ingoldsby and his forces; and all forces acting with him, raised in this province, were ordered to disperse at once on pain of being treated as enemies. This mission being delivered to Ingoldsby, and an evasive answer returned, the guns of the fort were turned upon the town, and firing commenced, which was continued until evening, and was returned by the opposing forces. Several were killed and wounded in the town, but none in the fort were injured. The action then ceased by passive consent of both parties. Three days afterward (on the 19th of March) the long expected vessel was descried entering the harbor. The governor hastened to land, and the scene of warfare closed, but only to open on one more melancholy than any that had yet transpired. The blood of Leisler and Milborne was demanded.

The culmination of the exciting events above narrated by the commencement of actual war and the shedding of blood for the moment paralyzed the action of both parties, although vigorous preparations were silently going forward for a final contest for the possession of the government, in case the loss of the governor's vessel should be verified.

Three days thus passed in preparation, but without further action, when on the 19th of March the lookouts on the headlands reported a vessel in the offing. All hearts beat high with expectation. It was the last hope for the maintenance of peace, and proved indeed to be its harbinger. The vessel sailed into the harbor surrounded by the welcoming streamers of the various crafts then in the port and moored opposite the fort. Within that edifice all was silence, and generally the Leislerians observed the stately proceedings attendant upon the reception of the representative of the crown with a sense of foreboding. Meantime the barges of the war vessel were manned, the aquatic procession was formed without delay, and landed in the vicinity of the City Hall, to which the public concourse directed its way. The governor was led to the court chamber, and having called his councilors around him, published his commission, and the establishment of civil government was once more recognized in the province.

In the fort at the same time Leisler was surrounded by his councilors and military officers, all desirous of relieving themselves of the cares of office, and of retiring with dignity from its responsibilities. Upon information of the proceedings at the City Hall, and that the governor's commission had been promulgated, a subordinate officer was dispatched from the fort to arrange with the governor for the formal transfer of its possession. His mission being announced to that dignitary, the messenger was at once placed under arrest amidst the exulting plaudits of the anti-Leislerians. So also all further attempts on the part of Leisler to be treated with respect.

It was apparent that, so far as official action was concerned, the popular party was to be crushed down and stamped upon, but the loyalty of that party was consistently maintained; they offered no resistance to the royal representative, and on the demand of an officer sent with a squad of soldiers to take possession of the fort its gates were thrown open. Leisler's soldiers marched out, but himself and all the officials of government by whom he was surrounded were placed in the dungeons of the fort.

While these momentous events were transpiring the fortunes of the leaders of the popular party were more closely allied by the marriage of Milborne with Leisler's daughter. The king's ships, which first arrived, were arrayed opposite the fort, and the outlawry of the popular leaders was plainly foreshadowed. They knew that the triumphant faction, which had been held down by them with unsparing rigor, thirsted for their blood. The alliance which took place under these circumstances can only be regarded as the devotional act by which these two men testified their mutual attachment. Fate seemed to have thrown these two characters of different nationalities, creeds, habits, and associations into such close communion as that the relation of father and son seemed a fitting close of their record. Thus amid the storms of war, pent up in their citadel, this melancholy marriage, in short anticipation of the death of the parent of the bride and of the bridegroom, was solemnized.

The final catastrophe is well-known matter of history. The execution upon the scaffold of Leisler and Milborne took place on Saturday, the 8th day of May, 1691, amid a conflict of the elements, only equaled by the prostration of the hearts of much the largest portion of their fellow-citizens.

The Fort at the Battery.

This edifice was a point of great interest during the century and a half of our colonial history. Most of the chief political and military events of our early history either originated or were carried out within its walls, while, in social aspects, from the fact of its embracing within the inclosure the residence of the successive chiefs of the province, and also of their families when they accompanied them from Europe, a tone was given to the society of the city by its inmates.

Originally constructed by the Dutch, at an early period after the original settlement of the island, it was for a long period an earthwork, though planned on scientific principles, and of the shape and size which it always afterward maintained. As emergencies arose for strengthening it, additional stonework was raised in place of the earthen walls, and thus, in course of time, it was made to present solid walls all around, and was a formidable military work. It was never, however, its fortune to be tested in point of strength, and, therefore, the incidents of its history are limited to social and political events connected with it. The object of this article is to present some few reminiscences connected with its occupants and their families.

The first of the Dutch governors who made any pretensions to ceremonious official life was the distinguished Chief-Governor Stuyvesant. The earlier directors were of less ostentatious character. They had been bred in civil professions, while he was a soldier and had been accustomed to command in other parts of the world. His abilities would have warranted a more important position than that to which he was assigned in this colony. But his maimed condition, having lost a leg in the service of his country, impaired his usefulness in some respects. Governor Stuyvesant brought his family with him, and, as is always the case with colonial governors—those who have places to give—was attended by various poor but respectable relatives. These were of a better class, socially, than the mere emigrants, and gave a tone to society which was profitably exhibited in the attention soon after given to educational objects. The cultivated Bayards, who were not only classical scholars but were acquainted with the French and English languages, could not but influence the community in which they established themselves, and a classical school soon supplied the wants of the community.

It would be interesting to know something more concerning the wife of the governor, as the lady who forms the head of the family of an executive officer is of great social importance in the community ; she establishes the tone of society to a great extent, and her influence for weal or woe is of no little extent. The histories of the time give little information concerning her family. But in one of the local records the entry occurs of "Judith Isendoorn weduwe von de Heer Dr. Gen. Stuyvesant"; we have here, therefore, the maiden name of the lady in question. She must have been accompanied by some of her family, as we find among the early marriages that of Domine Luyck to Judith Isendoorn, which took place a few years after the governor's arrival in New York. In the absence of other data, we give the lady credit of being a worthy partner of her distinguished husband. To what extent she took part in the inauguration of the governor, who, according to cotemporary though inimical accounts, came "like a peacock with great state and pomp, is not known." Some of the principal inhabitants going to welcome him were left to wait "for several hours bareheaded," while Stuyvesant himself remained covered, "as if he was the Czar of Muscovy." The whole community was brought together to witness the ceremony, but the governor's haughty carriage "caused some to think that he would not be a father" to them.

The fort appears to have been a disagreeable place of residence to the governor's family. They at first removed to a private habitation in the town, and then built a "bouwery," or farmhouse a few miles distant from the town, where, after the official term of the governor closed, they passed in dignified retirement the remainder of their lives.

The tenancy of the mansion in the fort now fell into the possession of a stranger. Red coats paraded in the court where for half a century the Dutch soldier held undisputed sway. A strange language was introduced into the records of the secretary's office; and, in short, all the evidence of a complete revolution of dynasties characterized the appearance of the fort, while the town still presented little change. The new governor, Colonel Nichols, was not accompanied by his family as far as we know. He was on a military expedition, and his business was to settle the change of government. Notwithstanding the unpleasant nature of his functions, he does not seem personally to have been on bad terms with the inhabitants; and after a few years' successful labor he left the place on friendly terms, and amid the well-wishings of the people. He was succeeded by a functionary of the civic class, Francis Lovelace, who appears to have been a clever gentleman, somewhat out at the elbows, as he was arrested for debt some time during his American experiences. With the English, the colonies afforded many nice pickings for the aristocracy and nobility of that nation; the rule of appointments to high office seems to have been, when there was trouble to send able men to quiet it, so that needy men without ability might succeed them and reap the harvest of a time of peace and plenty.

The flaunting flag of England waved over Fort James eight or nine years, not much, it may be presumed, to the satisfaction of the Dutch burghers, whose habitations surrounded it. A momentary gleam of the old nationality then presented itself. The warlike Benkes (Bencas), with a Dutch squadron entered the port. The English governor was away on a visit to Connecticut, and had left no sufficient means of defense to his deputy. The Dutchman would admit of no apologies for delay, but demanded that the fort rightfully belonging to the Dutch must be surrendered. Men were landed on the North river shore above the city, marched across the fields into Broadway, and fixed their standards and planted their cannon on the north end of the present Bowling Green (then the "Parade"), and facing the fort gate. The circumstances admitted of little delay, and the fortress was surrendered. The English marched out, and the Hollanders took possession. Once more manifestoes, oaths, and proclamations issued from the public offices in the Dutch language. A civic functionary, who accompanied the squadron to inaugurate any new government which might fall into its hands, was established in office with due ceremonies, and all the people joined in a vigorous preparation for resistance against any attempt to recapture it.

But treaties sometimes do the work of armies, and much to the chagrin of the people of the colony their labors in increasing the strength of their fortifications were turned by the scrawl of a pen to the advantage of their enemies, as on the cessation of the war the province of New York was finally relinquished to the English, in return for other places captured from the Dutch. "Fort William Hendrick," therefore, was rechristened. It presented at this period a more warlike appearance than in the old times of the sod work; stone bastions had been built, and a stockade erected around it.

The successor to the government was an able administrative officer, who had received a military education. His early life had been in the royal household, where his father held an important office, so that he naturally was inclined to present a show of ceremony to the public eye. Lady Mary Andros, an accomplished daughter of an aristocratic English family, accompanied her husband, and presided over the provincial court circle. It was at this period that English society began to make a figure in the affairs of New York, though the circle was limited for a time. In such matters nationality gives way to circumstances, and the leading families among the Dutch, who could make pretensions to official positions in the local government, soon adapted themselves to the new régime and conformed their social habits to those of the refined circle surrounding the governor's family. Marriages between the two races frequently occurred, where the inducement on one side was a daughter of a wealthy old settler, and, on the other, a gay young Englishman on good terms with the officials. For the first time state carriages with postillions and outriders entered the fort, grooms and lackeys mingled in the fort premises with the soldiers, and a grand display of ceremonials characterized its precincts. Lady Andros died at Boston a few years subsequently.

Now arrived a governor, Colonel Dongan, who excited much commotion in the religious community. He was an Irishman by birth and of a noble family (afterward Earl of Limerick), and of military antecedents. He was pretty well understood to be a Catholic; we infer that he was not in an independent pecuniary condition, as he was not without pressing creditors. He is described as a crafty man. The people never took to him kindly; stories of religious ceremonies in the fort excited apprehensions on the part of the Protestant inhabitants, and, upon the whole, his administration was gloomy and uninteresting in a social point of view. He was a money-making man, and became largely interested in land operations, so that, after his administration ceased, he remained here for some years to see to his estate. Meanwhile the fort was under the jurisdiction of a subordinate to Sir Edmund Andros, who had been invested with the government of all the north-eastern colonies.

The capture of the fort by the people of the colony resulted from the fall of the dynasty of the Stuarts in England and the success of the Protestant party. This capture took place in the early summer of 1689, and thenceforward for nearly two years the fort was the center of attraction. It was in civil war that its guns first shed the blood of an enemy. During this period a family of the colonists for the first time occupied the mansion in the fort as the residence of the Chief of the State, a residence of the most melancholy nature, characterized by a wedding, soon after which the bridegroom and his father-in-law departed for a prison and a death on the gallows.

Succeeding these unfortunate occupants, came again one of the military adventurers common to the period, Colonel Sloughter, who, however, soon breathed his last within its walls, the qualms of conscience, it is supposed, having expedited his illness. He had signed the death-warrant of the people's representatives but two months before, and thereafter had no peace. But his successor, Colonel Fletcher, was, perhaps, the most unscrupulously rapacious individual who had yet handled the government. Instead of a scene of courtly splendor the fort was the rendezvous of adventurers of all descriptions. Those were the days when piracy was among the fashionable amusements of the day. Under the mask of privateering or slave trading the seas were traversed by rovers, under the patronage of officials who, for a consideration, supplied them with characters and sea-papers. Of these officials Fletcher was the most unscrupulous, and did not hesitate to invite well-known pirates to his table. At this period New York was the notorious rendezvous of this class of robbers, where they could always find protection. So loud a voice was raised throughout the civilized nations of Europe against the policy of England in respect to the police of the sea that political affairs were affected by it, and the administration was forced to yield to the general voice, and make an effort to suppress these official marauders.

The Earl of Bellomont brought his wife with him, and once more the headquarters of the governor were made respectable by the amenities of society. Again the ceremonious state of an English nobleman diffused its magic influence on the population. A fourth of a century under the permanent English rule had not been without its results upon the general affairs of the province. The accession to the English class of the population had been steady, and a fair proportion of that nationality was numbered among the merchants and leading citizens. Lawyers and professional characters had established their residences here. Some families even sent their children to Europe to attend the colleges of Oxford or Cambridge. The affairs of the government kept pace with these advancing steps in the fortunes of the province. The fort was garrisoned by a large number of soldiers, while a ship of war rendezvoused in the harbor, enlivening the scene by the passage of barges, and the music of the bands at the military and naval headquarters, while the officers of the army and navy gave zest and variety to social life in the fort and town. Lady Bellomont, who was a courtly dame, was popular with all classes, and the public generally sympathized with her at the loss of her husband, who was the first of the colonial governors who died while in official life.

In point of rank the successor of Lord Bellomont was his superior, being allied to royalty itself, his aunt having married King James II. ; but in respect to personal character, as also in ability in administration, Lord Cornbury was much inferior to his official predecessor. Lady Cornbury, after long illness, died in the fort mansion, aged 34 years, soon after which her husband returned to England, where, by the death of his father, he became Earl of Clarendon.

Lord Lovelace succeeded Lord Cornbury, but never had a well day after his arrival, a circumstance attributed to a cold caught at sea. His family accompanied him, but misfortune seemed to attend them from the first. One of his young sons died soon after his arrival, and a fortnight later his eldest son, and the heir of the title also died, and within a year from his arrival the governor died. The misfortunes of the family excited great commiseration toward Lady Lovelace. In preparation for a long occupancy the mansion in the fort underwent extensive repairs. This house faced upon the court fronting to the west. Its various modifications under the predecessors of Lord Lovelace had made the building of an imposing appearance. The upper windows overlooked the ramparts, and embraced an extensive view of the Hudson river, and of the harbor toward the Narrows.

Brigadier Robert Hunter, an officer under Marlborough, married Lady Hay, relict of the son of the Marquis of Tweedale. He was appointed to the government of New York in 1708, and was accompanied hither by his family; but he, too, suffered the loss of his wife while residing here.

William Burnet, a son of the celebrated bishop of that name, succeeded

Governor Hunter. He apparently had a double object in his coming to the New World—a government and a wife. Having become comfortably established in his quarters in the fort, and settled the important public matters requiring his attention, he cast about among the American ladies for a suitable companion. The fortunate object of his choice was the daughter of a New York merchant descended from the old Dutch stock. Miss Van Horn became Mrs. Burnet, and assumed the duties of the head of the governor's extensive household, but not without the envious remarks of others; and a very powerful social combination seems to have been formed against the governor, led by Mr. Delancey, an aspiring gentleman of aristocratic pretensions. Mr. Burnet was subsequently Governor of Massachusetts.

A revival of the show and elegance of courtly observances in the fort occurred upon the installment of John Montgomerie in the executive chair. He had been a member of the royal household, and was of very agreeable presence. But his government lasted only two or three years prior to his decease in the city. The inventory of his effects shows the style in which he lived. His cellars were filled with wines of costly description. In his stables were sixteen horses, with a state coach, a chaise, and saddles with gold lace, horse furniture, postillion equipments, and gilded harness. In his domestic service were a private musician, three white servants, and seven negroes, male and female.

We come now to a curious interregnum, when another native became the executive of the government. At the time of Mr. Montgomerie's death Rip Van Dam was the oldest member and President of the Governor's Council, and virtute officii became the Chief of the State. He was one of the old-fashioned, respectable citizens. In early life he married a daughter of Vanderspiegle, a baker, and having become engaged in mercantile pursuits acquired a considerable fortune, with which he retired to his comfortable, two-story house in Maiden lane. Whether he removed his family to the fort we have no knowledge, but he performed the executive duties for a considerable period, until the arrival of Colonel Cosby, his regularly appointed successor. He naturally expected full compensation for the period during which he actually served, but Colonel Cosby claimed half the emoluments from the date of his commission, which covered a period of many months of Mr. Van Dam's service. The dispute between the parties took a political turn, and occasioned great excitement. The aristocracy against the plebians was the sentiment evoked, and was by some considered as foreshadowing the independent sentiment which resulted in the Revolution.

Colonel Cosby was followed to this country by the son of an English duke who had become enamored of the governor's daughter. This was Lord Augustus Fitzroy. The visit was one which in those days was considered as reflecting distinguished honor upon the humble city of New York, inasmuch that the Common Council made a public matter of it, and waited upon his lordship in a body to tender him the freedom of the city. Governor Cosby employed his time to the best advantage in securing all the pecuniary advantages incident to his office. He died, however, after a few years' residence.

In succeeding years the fort was occupied by various governors and generals until subsequent to the Revolutionary War, when it was demolished to form a site for the residence of the President of the United States, which, though erected, was never used for the purpose designed. Upon its demolition, the land was sold off in lots, embracing nearly the block inclosed by State, Pearl, and Whitehall streets and the Bowling Green.

Advantages of New York

AS SET FORTH A CENTURY AGO.

About the middle of the last century the attention of the different sections of the country became especially directed to the encouragement of colonization from Europe, and a competition arose between the different cities of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia in respect to the advantages afforded to settlers by the situation and commerce of the cities and the climate and soil of the country adjacent to them. The leading minds of the colonies engaged in publications to further the views of their respective localities, and the newspapers devoted considerable space to articles designed for the information of the European public. We copy one of these publications dated in 1753, which, perhaps, will give to people of the present day as novel an idea of the olden time as it was new to the people of the old countries at the time of its publication :

A brief consideration of New York with respect to its natural advantages : Its superiority in several Instances over some of the neighboring Colonies.

"O fortunatos nimium Bona si sua norint."—EBORACOS voig.

"Awake the Muse bid Industry rejoice

And the rough Sons of lowest Labour smile."—THOM. BRIT.

With respect to what Nature has done for us there is not a happier People in the World, than the Inhabitants of this Province. I hope the assigning of a few Instances from whence this Happiness is derived, will not be displeasing to them as it tends to inflame them with a Love of their Country, and at the same time excite their Gratitude for the Happiness they enjoy.

The necessaries of Life, which, for that Reason are its most substantial Blessings we possess with the richest Affluence. The natural Strength and fertility of the soil we live upon will by Grazing and Tillage always continue to us the inexhaustible Source of a profuse Abundance. There is nothing we possess that Mankind can well be without and scarce anything they really want but we either enjoy or may easily procure in luxuriant plenty.

PROVISIONS in short are our staple and whatever country sufficiently abounds with so necessary a commodity can never fail of Wealth a sure magazine ! which will always be attended with Power and Plenty, and many other springs of social happiness as its natural Concomitants. The Want of such an unfailing Staple is a Fountain of Misery to a Province on the East, of more Show than Substance, Pomp than Riches. By constant supplies from our Exuberance, we hold them in Debt, and annually increase it ; while we are so happy as to taste the Sweets of the truth of what they have remarked that there are fewer poor Men in this, than in any one of the Plantations on the Continent. I have myself spent a month in their Metropolis, the most splendid Town in North America, not without some Pleasure in reflecting that I had not a morsel of Bread, even at their common Tables, that was not the Produce of this colony. Nor has the prettiest Beau in the Town, so easily an Access to their Ladies, as a certain Baker of ours universally celebrated there for the Goodness of his Biskets.

But this Opulence is not our only Advantage for raising the Trade of this Province and enlarging its Extent : Everything in it conspires to make New York the best mart on the Continent. Our Coasts are regular, and the Navigation up to the City from the Sea short and bold and by a good Lighthouse might be rendered safe and easy.

High Roads which in most trading Countries are extremely expensive and awake a continual Attention for their Reparation demand from us comparatively Speaking, scarce any public Notice at all. The whole Province is contained in two narrow Oblongs extending from the City East and North having Water Carriage from the Extremity of One, and from the Distance of One hundred and Sixty Miles of the other ; and by the most accurate Calculation, has not at a Medium above Twelve Miles of Land Carriage throughout its whole Extent. This is one of the strongest Motives to the settlement of a new Country as it affords the easiest and most speedy Conveyance from the remotest Distances and at the lowest Expense. The effects of this Advantage are greater than we usually observe and are therefore not sufficiently admired.

The Province of Pennsylvania has a fine Soil, and thro' the Importation of Germans abounds with inhabitants : but being a vast inland Country, its Produce must of Consequence, be brought to a Market over a great extent of Ground and all by Land Carriage. Hence it is that Philadelphia is crowded with Waggon Carts Horses and their Drivers : A Stranger at his first Entrance would imagine it to be a place of Trafic beyond any one Town in the Colonies ; while at New York in particular to which the Produce of the Country is all brought by Water there is more Business at least Business of Profit, tho' with less Show and Appearance; Not a Boat in our Rivers is navigated with more than two or three Men at most and these are perpetually coming in from and returning to all Parts of the adjacent Country, in the same Employment that fill the City of Philadelphia with some Hundreds of Men who in respect to the public Advantage may justly be said to be laboriously idle: For, let any one nicely compute the Expence of a Waggon with its Tackling; the Time of two men in attending to it; their Maintenance, four Horses, and the Charge of their Provender, on a Journey of One, tho' they Often come Two Hundred Miles; and he will find these several Particulars accumulate a Sum far from being inconsiderable. All this Time, the New York Farmer is in the Course of his proper Business, and the unincumbered Acquisition of his Calling, for at a Medium there is Scarce a Farmer in the Province that cannot transport the fruits of a Year's Labour from the best Farm in three days at a proper Season to some convenient Landing where the Market will be to his Satisfaction, and All his Wants from the Merchant cheaply supplied: Besides which one Boat shall steal into the harbour of New York with a Lading of more Burden and Value than forty waggons, One hundred and Sixty Horses, and Eighty men into Philadelphia and perhaps with less Noise, Bluster, or Show than One.

PRODIGIOUS is the Advantage we have in this Article alone; I shall not enter into an Abstruse Calculation to evince the exact Value of it, in all the Lights in which it may be considered; thus much is certain that barely on Account of our Easy Carriage the Profits of farming with us, exceed those in Pennsylvania at least by Thirty per cent and that Difference in favor of our Farmers is of itself sufficient to enrich them, while the others find the Disadvantages they are exposed to, so heavy (especially the remote Inhabitants of their Country) that a bare Subsistence is all they can reasonably hope to obtain. Take this Province throughout, the Expence of transporting a Bushel of Wheat is but two pence for the distance of One Hundred Miles, but the same Quantity at the like Distance in Pennsylvania, will always exceed us One shilling at least. The Proportion between us in the conveyance of everything else is nearly the same. How great then are the Incumbrances to which they are exposed: What an immense Charge is saved to us: How sensible must the Embarrassments they are subject to, be to a trading People.

There is nothing more common in Connecticut and the Massachusetts Bay Colonies in discoursing of their Provinces than for Gentlemen to urge the great Number of their Towns as a Proof of the Prosperity of their Country: Whereas Nothing can be of more mischievous Consequence to all New Settlements. Sound policy will teach them, that Husbandry calls for their first Attention: Erecting Townships being never advisable till the Number of Planters can supply their Necessities; nor even then are they to be encouraged unless the Rise of Arts and useful Manufactures render the reciprocal Aids of the Inhabitants indispensably necessary: Every Town unemployed in these is a dead Weight upon the Public for when Families collect themselves into Townships many Tracts of Land must of consequence lie unimproved; Besides such persons will always endeavor to support themselves by Barter and Exchange, which can by no means augment the Riches of the Public: The same Commodity passing through never so many different Hands in one community tho' it may enrich an Individual others must be poorer in an exact proportion to his gains, but the Collective body of the people not at all: Now suppose what really is true that not a Town in those Provinces of which there are not less than three Hundred is in the least degree supported by any kind of manufacture whatsoever; how vast must be their consumption: How incredible their Expense: How ruinous the Loss of their Time and how difficult the Remedy! This subject puts me in mind of the story a Gentleman in this Province told me of his Tenant. James had to his wife's portion a barrel of Rum upon the strength of which he set up for a Tavern Keeper: He purchased a License and the married couple settled it as an inviolable Rule that not a dram should be drawn but for cash on the Nail. A Dram was sold and James had a groat for it. The day after with that Groat James purchased a dram of Betty. It was not long before Betty's Qualms extorted the groat for a Dram to relieve her; then James took the money. The Cash kept a constant circulation till the barrel was emptied. The Application of this story to the Provinces I have mentioned is as easy as to determine whether James had increased his Wife's Portion or not.

ANOTHER consequence of their clustering into Towns is Luxury—a great and mighty Evil carrying all before it and Crumbling States and Empires into slow but inevitable Ruin. Like sweetened Poison it is soft but strong, enervates the Constitution and triumphs at last in the Weakness and Rottenness of the Patient. It is almost impossible for a number of People and absolutely so, if they are idle to live together but they will very soon attempt to outvie each other in Dress Table and the Like. This is the Case in the Massachusetts Bay. Let a man enter one of their Country Churches and he will be struck with the Gaity of the Ladies in Silks and Lawn, while perhaps the Houses they came out of shall scarce afford a clean chair to sit on. Boston is their Pattern and too—too closely imitated. I knew a Gentleman that could tell his distance from it by the Length of the Ruffles of a Belle of the Town he was in. And perhaps it may deserve the serious Consideration of their Society for the Promotion of Industry and Employment of the Poor whether the first step they took should not be to dissipate their Towns and multiply the number of Farms. I am sure it would turn out in the End more to their advantage than peopling their Eastern Frontiers tho' it had no other Effect than to sink the Ballance we have against them in Trade, which as some of their own merchants of Truth and Intelligence have informed me is not less than Forty thousand Pounds per annum lawful money of this Province.

Of the inconvenience of too many Towns we have as yet no cause of Complaint. The Lands near New York and at a considerable Distance from it were in the Infancy of this Colony taken up by a few Gentlemen in large Tracts, which tho' it has been some Discouragement to the Improvement of the Lands within those Grants, has nevertheless had its use; as in consequence thereof our Settlements have been carried up Hudson River to the Extremes of this Province, and thereby made that the heart of the Colony and the securest Retreat which at every Indian War would otherwise have been what our Northern Frontiers were the last, derelict and abandoned or a miserable Aceldama and Field of Blood; but contains now many Thousands of Flourishing Farms which are daily improving and increasing as well to the advancement of Private Estates as the public Emolument.

THURSDAY, November 22, 1753.

The consideration of the natural Advantages of NEW YORK resumed and concluded.

*Lo! swarming o'er the new discovered World,
Gay colonies extend; the Calm retreat
Of undeserved Distress, the better Home
Of those whom Bigots chase from foreign Lands
Nor built on Rapine Servitude and Woe,
And, in their Turn some petty Tyrant's Prey;
But bound to social Freedom, firm they rise;
Of Britain's Empire the Support and Strength.*—THOM. LIB.

Tho' Boasting in general be a Foible of contempt, yet when our Country is the Subject, our warmest Commendations are, methinks, neither illaudable nor disgraceful. So early do we receive this patriot Passion, and so intimately are we concerned in that Object of our Affections, that the Praises we bestow upon the place of our Nativity tho' often repeated justly admit of Apology and even of Excuse. For my own Part, to dwell upon so interesting a Theme affects me with singular Pleasure; and the Evidences which appear in my Papers of an unfeigned Regard to this Province I esteem with their greatest Ornament. My countrymen at least can have no Reason to Repine at the Continuation of the Subject. The Public Weal is my only Aim; and I flatter myself that the Display of our Superior Advantages naturally tends to advance it. I proceed therefore according to my Promise, to resume the Detail and make it the Subject of another Reflector.

With regard to our situation in respect of foreign Markets New York is to be preferred to any of our Colonies. It lies in the centre of North America and is therefore most happily situated for supporting a Trade with all the Plantations from Georgia to Hallifax. Connecticut on the East and New Jersey on the West, are fertile and well cultivated Colonies and thro' natural Necessity, must always contribute their Aids in rendering this City a plentiful Mart, because their Exports cannot with equal Ease and Safety be conveyed to any other Port of considerable Traffick. The Projection of Cape Cod into the Ocean renders the navigation from Connecticut to Boston at some seasons extremely perillous. Nor is it uncommon for their Coasters to be driven off the Cape and obliged to winter in the West Indies. But their Vicinity to us affords them a safe and easy conveyance to New York thro' the Sound. Philadelphia indeed joins New Jersey on the West; but it is well worth remarking that the Lands adjacent to the River Delaware, on New Jersey shore below Philadelphia are unprofitable Barrens, and the River navigable but a few miles above it; and that a Voyage from the eastern Port of New Jersey to Philadelphia exposed to the open Sea on one side and a hazardous Coast on the other and then to a dangerous Navigation in Delaware is a Circuit of not less than Three Hundred Miles; while four Rivers rolling from the Heart of that Colony disembugue within a few miles of our city, and thus two Provinces both capable of the highest Improvements from their natural Situation conspire to aggrandise New York almost as effectually as if they were part of this Colony. Not one of the Provinces has a River so far navigable into the Country as ours, whence it is that the Indian trade from those vast Territories on the North determines its course to Albany and thence down Hudson River to New York as naturally as a Stream gliding in its proper Channel.

Our harbour or rather Road is as safe as others generally are, most of them being subject to important Objections, and often indebted for their Security to very expensive Improvements of Art. The mooring Ground is good, free from Barrs and not incommoded by Rocks, the Water of an equal and convenient Depth and the Shore bold to the very Edges; and but for floating Cakes of Ice in the Winter our Shipping would be entirely exempted from Danger. Nor is it difficult perfectly to secure them from that Inconvenience. The Place called Rotten Row has hitherto been their only asylum, tho' unhappily of late it annually becomes less and less fit for that Purpose. The Scheme I propose to perpetuate or rather increase its former usefulness is both simple and cheap. The whole Length of this opening should be filled up to the Extent of One Hundred Feet and from each End of it a strong Open Pier carried out into the River; between which our Shipping will have all proper Security and the greatest Conveniency for lading unlading and careening that can either be expected or desired. The free Passage of the Tides under the Bridges of the Piers will always Preserve a sufficient depth of Water. The Part proposed to be filled up will be very Spacious and being an equal Distance from the two Extremes of the Town the fittest Place for erecting a large Market house very advantageous to the adjacent Inhabitants, as well as ornamental and convenient to the whole City. By this Alteration also, the putrid Stench arising from that sink of Corruption, so prejudicial to the Healths and lives of the People will be effectually prevented. The continual Evacuations of the Sewers at the Slip and meal markets as well as the main Stream of the River have already made Rotten Row much shallower than it was and will make it in Time incapable of Skreening our Ships from the Ice. But this Project will always protect them from that Hazard and Damage.

The City of New York consists of about Two Thousand Five Hundred Buildings. It is a Mile in Length, and at a Medium not above half that in Breadth. On the South it forms a Point into a large Bay. The East side lies on a Streight which at eighteen or twenty Miles Eastward opens to the Sound. It adjoins to Hudson River on the West; and such is its Figure, its Centre of Business and the Situation of its Buildings, that the Cartage in Town from one part to another does not at a Medium exceed one Quarter of a mile. The prodigious Advantage of which to a trading City is more easily conceived than expressed. It facilitates and expedites the lading and unloading of Ships and Boats, saves Time and Labour and is attended with unnumerable Conveniences to its Inhabitants.

The City of Philadelphia is situated along a fresh Water River at the Distance of near Two Hundred Miles from the Sea. The Navigation up to it is tedious and as I said before difficult and dangerous. During the Severity of Winter it is locked up from all marine Correspondence with the rest of the World and thus necessarily for several months every Year exposed to an almost total Stagnation of Trade. Numberless must be the Inconveniences resulting from this their melancholy Imprisonment,—commerce groans—a listless constrained Inactivity prevails, and an unprofitable Consumption devours the Fruit of their Labours 'till the returning Spring takes off the Embargo, unlocks their River and again opens the Theatre of Business and Profit. But the Trade of New York boasts an Exemption from such Embarrassments. No Season prevents our Ships from launching into the Ocean and pursuing their traffick. The Depth of Winter scarce obstructs our commerce, and during its greatest Severity an equal unrestrained Activity runs thro' all Ranks Orders and Employments. Even then our merchants exult in the Return of their Ships, while our Neighbors of Philadelphia wait for Intelligences they are unable to improve or concert Schemes which it is beyond their Power to execute.

Though we abound in no one Kind of Fish sufficient for a Staple, yet such is our Happiness in this Article that not one of the Colonies affords a Fish-Market of such a plentiful Variety as ours. Boston has none but sea Fish, and of these Philadelphia is intirely destitute, being only furnished with the Fish of a Fresh Water River. New York is sufficiently supplied with both Sorts. Nor ought our vast plenty of Oysters to pass without particular Observation. In their Quality they are exceeded by those of no Country whatsoever. People of all Ranks amongst us in general prefer them to any other Kind of Food. Nor is any Thing wanting save a little of the filings of Copper to render them equally relishing even to an English Palate, with the best from Colchester. They continue good Eight Months in the Year, and are for two Months longer the daily Food of our Poor.

Their Beds are within view of the Town and I am informed that an Oyster-man industriously employed may clear Eight or Ten Shillings a Day. Some Gentlemen a few Years ago, were at the Pains of computing the Value of the Shell fish to our Province in general. The Estimate was made with Judgment and Accuracy, and their Computation amounted to Ten Thousand Pounds per Annum. Their Increase and Consumption are since very much enhanced and thus also their additional Value in Proportion. I confess it has often given me great Pleasure to reflect how many of my poor Countrymen are comfortably supported by this Article who without it could scarcely subsist and for that Reason beg to be excused for the Length of this Reflection on so humble a subject, tho' it might justly be urged to the Honour of our Oysters that considered in another View they are serviceable both to our King and Country.

It is generally believed that this Province abounds with a Variety of Minerals. Of Iron in particular we have such plenty as to be exceeded by no Country in the World of equal Extent. It is a metal of intrinsick Value beyond any other and preferable to the purest Gold. The former is converted into numberless Forms for as many indispensable Uses; the latter for its Portableness and Scarcity is only fit for a medium of Trade. But Iron is a branch of it, and I am persuaded will one Time or other be one of the most valuable Articles of our Commerce. Our annual Exports to Boston Rhode Island and Connecticut and since the late act of Parliament to England, are far from being inconsiderable. The Bodies of Iron Oar in the Northern Parts of this Province are so many, their Quality so good and their Situation so Convenient in respect of Wood Water Hearth Stone proper Fluxes and Carriage for Furnaces Bloomeries and Forges that with a little Attention we might very soon rival the Sweeds in the Produce of this Article. If any American Attempts in Iron Works have proved abortive and disappointed their Undertakers it is not to be imputed either to the Quality of the Oar or a Defect of Conveniences. The Want of more Workmen, and the Villany of those we generally have are the only Causes to which we must attribute such Miscarriages. No Man who has been concerned in them will disagree with me if I assert that from the Founder of the Furnace to the meanest Banksman or Jobber they are usually low profligate drunken and faithless, and yet under all the innumerable Disadvantages of such Instruments very large Estates have in this Way been raised in some of our Colonies.

Edward Hyde Lord Cornbury. afterw. 3rd Earl of Clarendon.

Lord Cornbury.

Edward Hyde, by courtesy called Lord Cornbury, was the grandson of Edward Hyde, Earl of Clarendon, Lord Chancellor, and Prime Minister of Charles II., and the son of the second Earl of Clarendon, who was brother of James the Second's Queen. The father of the subject of this sketch remained faithful to the cause of his brother-in-law the banished king, and on the revolution, by which William and Mary were seated on the throne, declined to take the oath of allegiance to the new power. But his son was of a more facile disposition, and more apt to reconcile himself to the change of dynasty where his fortunes were so greatly interested, and being an officer commanding a body of cavalry set the example of defection by leading his troops to the standard of William, an event which was considered of such importance as to entitle him to recompense.

Lord Cornbury was commissioned as Governor of New York, as successor to the Earl of Bellomont, who died in the city of New York in 1701. His qualifications for an executive position of such consequence were of an inferior order, in an intellectual point of view, while his pecuniary circumstances are described as being in a straitened condition. He was, however, first cousin to the heiress to the throne (Queen Anne) and his qualifications in other respects received a gloss which covered many defects.

Lord Cornbury arrived in New York in May, 1702, accompanied by his family and a numerous suit of followers. Katherine Lady Cornbury was daughter of Lord O'Brien, son of the Earl of Richmond, of Ireland, and of Lady Katherine Stuart, sister of the Duke of Richmond and Lenox. She was married to Lord Cornbury on the 10th of July, 1688, and on the death of her mother, Lady O'Brien, became Baroness Clifton of Leighton Bromswold, Warwickshire, England. Such weight as attended upon aristocratic connections were, therefore, not wanting to secure dignity and success to Lord Cornbury's administration.

The official term of his office lasted six years, and is generally admitted to have been characterized by an inconsiderate zeal for the suppression of religious liberty, and by a high tory principle little calculated to find sympathy in the body of the community. He found the country in a state of tumult and distraction, and his conduct added fuel to the flame. Avarice was his ruling passion. Resolved to aggrandize himself and accumulate riches, he directed all the machinery of his official position to that end.

The portrait accompanying this article represents the governor in women's clothes, a circumstance which probably arose from the facts of history, as we find it alluded to in various historical works, and in a public communication made by the Hon. Lewis Morris to the Secretary of State, at London, we find the following reference to his lordship. Recommending a certain gentleman for governor, he says: "He is an honest man, and the reverse of my Lord Cornbury, of whom I must say something which, perhaps, nobody will think worth their while to tell, and that is his dressing publicly in women's clothes, every day, and putting a stop to all public business while he is pleasing himself with that peculiar but detestable magot."

Lord Cornbury had the misfortune to lose his wife in this city. She died, after a lingering sickness, at half-past eleven o'clock on the night of Sunday, August 11, 1706, in the thirty-fourth year of her age, and was interred on the 13th of the same month in Trinity Church, New York. By her marriage with Lord Cornbury she had seven children, of whom only one son and two daughters survived their mother.

Lord Cornbury was superseded as Governor of New York by Lord Lovelace, whose commission was dated in April, 1708. Soon after that period, by the death of the second Earl of Clarendon, the subject of this sketch succeeded to that title. Before his departure from New York severe proceedings were taken by creditors for the enforcement of their claims, from which they had been restrained during his official period. So that, in all respects, the residence in this city of this high-born personage was characterized by indignities which testified to the light respect in which he was held.

George Clarke.

This gentleman occupied a prominent position in public life in New York during nearly half a century. He was born in England, and descended from a respectable family in Somersetshire. Having made the law a profession he availed himself of the patronage of Lord Cornbury, whose relative, Ann Hyde, he married, and was appointed Secretary of the Province of New York in 1703. From that time, until his departure to pass the close of his life in his native land, he was seldom out of office, and so husbanded his gains, and operated to increase his store, that he retired finally with an immense fortune.

The most interesting event in his political history was that consequent upon the death of Governor Cosby, in the spring of 1736. Very grave disputes had arisen between that governor and an opposition party which then existed, and which has been credited with laying the foundation of the revolutionary spirit which took final root a generation later. Mr. Rip Van Dam, who was the oldest member of Governor Cosby's Council, had been the leading personage on the liberal side, from the fact that by his age and position in the council the administration of the government devolved upon him in the event of the decease of the governor.

Governor Cosby was seized with illness, and, in anticipation of a fatal result, two days after he was taken ill he summoned a council and suspended Mr. Van Dam from the council board, which left Mr. Clarke at the head of the council. After sixteen weeks' sickness Governor Cosby died. About an hour after his death all the council who were in town met in the council chamber, and having caused his majesty's commission and instructions to Governor Cosby with his suspension to be read, they all, with one exception, declared their opinion that the administration of the government devolved on Mr. Clarke, and accordingly administered the oath to him. The next day, about five in the afternoon, Mr. Van Dam came to the fort gate with some witnesses and demanded admittance to Mrs. Cosby, but being told that she was not in a condition to see him he gave a letter to the officer of the guard to deliver to her. It contained a demand of the commission seal and instructions. Van Dam also sent to speak with Mr. Clarke, who went out of the gate, when Mr. Van Dam made demand of the like purport. An answer was returned the next day by Mr. Clarke declining to surrender the government, upon which a protest was delivered by Mr. Van Dam, and the dispute was referred to the home authorities. In the meantime the public business was, to a certain extent, suspended, inasmuch as a quorum of the assembly could not be brought together. The opinion of the attorney-general upon the legality of Mr. Van Dam's suspension was taken, and the question was finally settled by the issuing of a commission to Mr. Clarke as Lieutenant-Governor. This commission was dated in July, 1736. It was not received until October, and in the meantime violent scenes of disorder prevailed. Mr. Van Dam acting upon the presumption that, having been unlawfully displaced, he had authority to exercise the functions of his office, proceeded to name the mayor and other city officials, and a dispute between these officers was imminent when the vessel arrived containing the indorsement of Mr. Clarke's authority, an event which occasioned an immediate cessation of the excitement.

Mr. Clarke continued in the administration of the government until October, 1743, a period of seven years, when Governor Clinton arrived and assumed the government.

In 1745 Mr. Clarke sailed for England, having accumulated an estate while in this country estimated at the time at £100,000. On the passage out he had the misfortune to be captured by the French, but was soon after released, and was indemnified by Parliament for his losses. He retired to a handsome estate near Cheshire, and died there, at an advanced age, in 1759. Mrs.

Clarke died in New York: she is represented as a woman of fine accomplishments. The son of Mr. Clarke (George Clarke, Jr.) afterward enjoyed many lucrative offices in New York, which it is said he farmed from the government, and performed by deputy. These offices were enumerated by Governor Tryon as Prothonotary, Chief Clerk, Clerk of the Crown, Secondary Filazer, Chirographer, Examiner, Clerk of the Judgment, Clerk of the Dockets, Clerk of the Enrolments, Clerk of the Essoins, and some other offices of less consideration which had been in his or his father's hands for nearly seventy years. The income was estimated as being as lucrative as that of the governor.

General Gage.

Hon. Thomas Gage was the second son of the first, and father of the third Viscount Gage of Castlebar, in the county of Mayo, Ireland. In 1755, he accompanied the expedition under General Braddock against Fort Duquesne as Lieutenant-Colonel of the 44th Regiment, and commanded the van-guard in the fatal engagement of the 9th of July, when he was slightly wounded. After the battle he carried the general off the field. In May, 1758, he was appointed Colonel of the 80th Regiment, and Brigadier-General, and on the 8th of December following, married Margaret, daughter of Peter Kemble, Esq., President of the Council of New Jersey. In 1759, he accompanied the expedition under General Amherst, and led the second column against Fort Ticonderoga, which, however, had been abandoned by the French before the arrival of the English troops. On learning the death of General Prideaux, General Amherst dispatched Brigadier Gage on the 28th of July to take command of that division of the army, but Fort Niagara had been already reduced by Sir William Johnson. On the 11th of July, in the following year, he departed from Oswego with the army to Montreal, of which city he was appointed governor after its capitulation. He was promoted in May, 1761, to the rank of Major-General, and in March following became Colonel of the 22d Regiment of Foot. At the departure of General Amherst for England in 1763, Major-General Gage succeeded him as Commander-in-Chief of His Majesty's Forces in North America. He rose to be Lieutenant-General in 1770, and resided in New York until May, 1774, when he removed to Boston on being appointed Governor of Massachusetts.

Several regiments soon followed him, and he began to repair the fortifications upon Boston Neck. The powder in the arsenal, in Charleston, was seized. Detachments were sent out to take possession of the stores in Salem and Concord, and the battle of Lexington became the signal of war. In May, 1775, the Provincial Congress declared Gage to be an inveterate enemy of the country, disqualified from serving the colony as governor, and unworthy of obedience. From this time the exercise of his functions was confined to Boston. In June, he issued a pardon to all the rebels, excepting Samuel Adams and John Hancock, and proclaimed martial law, but the affair of Breed's Hill a few days afterward proved to him that he had mistaken the character of the Americans. In October, he embarked for England, and was succeeded in the command by Sir William Howe. In 1782, he was appointed Colonel of the 17th Light Dragoons, and rose to the rank of General of the Army in the following month of November. General Gage died in England on the 2d of April, 1787. His widow survived him until the 9th of February, 1824, when she died aged 90 years.

Lord Loudoun.

John Campbell, fourth Earl of Loudoun, Baron Mauchlane, one of the sixteen Peers of Scotland, was born in the year 1705, and succeeded to the title on the death of his father, Hugh, the third earl, in November, 1731. On the landing of the Pretender in Scotland, in 1745, the Earl of Loudoun repaired to Inverness, where he raised for the crown a regiment of Highlanders, of which he was appointed colonel in April. On the approach of the enemy, however, he abandoned his position and retired to the Isle of Skye without making scarcely any show of resistance. This regiment having been broke in 1748, his lordship became Colonel of the 30th Foot, November, 1749, Major-General on the 17th of February, 1755, and, on the 25th of December, 1755, was appointed Colonel of the 60th, or Royal American Regiment, which was to be raised in Virginia, of which province he was appointed Governor in February, 1756, when he also became Commander in Chief of all His Majesty's Forces in North America. He sailed in the latter end of May for this country, where he arrived in the latter part of July, 1756. His career in America was distinguished mainly by arrogance and inefficiency, and his military operations confined principally to the celebrated "Cabbage-planting Expedition" at Halifax, in 1757; so that, though promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-General in January, 1758, not only his military skill, but his courage and integrity were questioned. It is, therefore, not surprising to learn that "the multitude exulted at the news of his being recalled to England" in the course of the latter year. In 1763, or 1764, he was appointed Governor of Edinburgh Castle, at a salary of £300 a year, and on the 30th of April, 1770, became Colonel of the 3d Regiment of Foot Guards (Scotch), and a General in the Army. His lordship died unmarried, at Loudoun Castle, Ayrshire, on the 27th of April, 1782, aged 77 years.

Lord Loudoun was engaged in and about New York in 1756 and 1757, in connection with the Halifax expedition. In 1758, his residence was in the governor's house in Fort George.

Sir Edmund Andros.

The family of Sir Edmund Andros was of some consideration in the island of Guernsey, where, by marriage with an heiress of that island, the fief of Sausmarez was brought into the family. In 1611, Thomas Andros was lieutenant-governor of the island. His son Amice, the father of Sir Edmund, married a sister of Sir Robert Stone, and at the time of his son's birth was master of the ceremonies to King Charles the First.

The subject of this sketch was born in London, 6th of December, 1637, and was brought from a boy in the royal family, and in its exile commenced his career of arms in Holland, under the Prince of Nassau. Upon the restoration of Charles the Second in 1660, the inhabitants of Guernsey thought it right to petition for pardon for having submitted to Cromwell. An order was issued granting said pardon, but declaring at the same time that Amice Andros of Sausmarez, Bailiff of said island, Edmund, his son, and Charles, brother of Amice, had to their great credit during the late rebellion continued inviolably faithful to his majesty, have no need of being comprised in the general pardon.

To reward the loyalty of Edmund he was made Gentleman in Ordinary to Elizabeth Stuart, Queen of Bohemia, the king's aunt. He subsequently distinguished himself in the war waged by Charles the Second against the Dutch, and which ended in 1667. He married, in 1671, Mary, the daughter of Sir Thomas Craven, of Appletreewick, in Yorkshire, and of Combe Abbey, in Warwickshire, and heir to the barony of Craven of Hampsted Marshall, then held by Lord Craven, who, in 1672, was commander of the forces in Barbadoes.

In 1672, Major Andros was promoted to a regiment armed with the bayonet, which was the first introduction of that arm in the English service; and the four Barbadoes companies under his command were advanced to be troops of horse in it. In the same year the Palatine and proprietors of the province of Carolina, making allusion to his services and merits, conferred on him and his heirs the title of Landgrave, with four baronies containing 48,000 acres of land. The distinction bestowed by the proprietors, honorable as it was to him, does not appear to have been otherwise beneficial; neither he nor his heirs, it is believed, at any time derived advantage from the land attached to the dignity.

Sir Edmund Andros. Kent.

In 1674, on the death of his father, the subject of this sketch became seigneur of the fiefs, and succeeded to the office of Bailiff of Guernsey, the reversion to which had been granted to him by his majesty during his father's lifetime; and in the same year he was commissioned to receive the surrender of the province of New York, in accordance with the terms of the treaty between England and Holland, made on the cessation of the war between the two nations. This treaty provided that all captured places be restored, and among these New York, which had been taken by the Dutch under Colve, was included.

Governor Andros, accompanied by his wife, arrived in the city of New York in October, 1674, and entered at once on the government. He found the inhabitants disposed to acquiesce in the measures of his government under the same system as had been allowed under the previous administration of the English, but he imposed more stringent conditions, and subjected them, among other things, to the laws of impressment, from which they had formerly been exempted. Their religious freedom was also somewhat curtailed, so that many of the leading citizens were disposed to give up their residence here and return to Holland.

The subject of religion, and the efforts made by the various sects to secure pre-eminence, was then the principal field of contention, and political affairs were to a great extent affected by the church question. Andros, at an early period of his administration, exhibited his intention of furthering the cause of the Church of England, and thus brought himself in antagonism with the body of the people, not only of New York, but of the neighboring colonies of New England.

The Indian affairs of that period were of considerable interest. The war, known as King Philip's war, filled the Eastern states with alarm, and its influence approached the borders of New York. A suspicion seemed to have been entertained by the New England colonists that the Indians were encouraged and supplied with arms from New York; and, in consequence, a state of jealousy existed which it required the governor's active efforts to dispel. Having tendered arms and ammunition to the people of the East, which were refused, he proceeded through Long Island and disarmed the Indians of that locality, and also made new treaties with the New Jersey Indians. Thus the vicinity of the city being quieted, he went up the Hudson river to Esopus and Albany, and brought together the leading chiefs of the warlike tribes inhabiting the Mohawk country, at which the friendly treaties between the whites and the natives were renewed with imposing solemnities. Meantime measures of defense were taken, on notice that the Eastern Indians were prosecuting the war in a westerly direction.

In November and December, Philip and other Indians, about a thousand in number, in two parties, approached within forty miles of Albany. Measures were taken by the governor to assail them, but upon requesting permission from the authorities of Connecticut to pursue them within their district, he was denied. The Hudson unexpectedly opened in February, 1676, and the governor went up to Albany with forces and six sloops. On his arrival he found about three hundred Maquas Indians in town, returned the evening before from the pursuit of Philip, and a party of five hundred with him. The trophies of prisoners and scalps were exhibited as evidence of their successful expedition. A new fort was then built with four bastions, each for six guns, and so seated as to command the whole town of Albany.

In 1677, Governor Andros requested permission to visit England on private matters, which was granted. When in England, he was consulted by the authorities in respect to colonial affairs, and gave detailed statements of the general condition of New York. He says: "Our principal places of trade are New Yorke and Southhampton, except Albany for the Indians. Our buildings most wood, some lately stone and brick; good country houses, and strong of their several kinds" "We have about 24 townes villages or parishes in six precincts divisions Ridings or Courts of Sessions." "Our merchants are not many but with inhabitants and planters about 2000 able to bear arms" "In and near New York of Dutch Extraction and some few of all nations, but few servants much wanted and but very few slaves" "A merchant with £1000 or £500 is accounted a good substantial merchant and a planter worth half that in moveables accounted rich. All the Estates may be valued at about £150.000." "There may lately have traded to the Colony in a year from ten to fifteen ships or vessels of about 100 tons each, of which five small ships and a Ketch now belonging to New York four of them built there." "There are about twenty churches or meeting places, of which about half are vacant, their allowance from £40 to £70 a year and a house and garden."

At this visit Governor Andros was knighted, and in May, 1678, sailed from England on his return to New York. He was accompanied at this time by his chaplain, the Reverend Charles Wolley, and by several gentlemen who afterward became prominent citizens of New York, among whom were William Pinhorn, afterward Mayor of New York; James Graham, afterward Attorney-General; John West, afterward City Clerk, and others, who gave an English tone to the society of New York which it had not previously sustained. The ship arrived at New York after a passage of nine weeks, finding things quiet, but alarmed with rumors of a French war and of Indian troubles. The measures on the part of the governor seem to have been taken with his customary prudence and energy, and to have served to relieve New York from the savage warfare which prevailed in the Eastern and Southern colonies at this period.

In 1680, Governor Andros received an intimation from the Duke of York that it was thought necessary he should repair to England by the first convenience, that a better opportunity might be afforded for information from himself, and that he might "also have the satisfaction to obviate such matters as, if unanswered, might leave some blemish" upon him, how little soever deserved. Governor Dongan was appointed to the government of New York in 1682.

On the return of Governor Andros to England he was sworn Gentleman of the King's Privy Chamber, and thus again brought into close connection with the royal household. In 1684, the island of Alderney was granted to him and Lady Andros for ninety-nine years at a nominal rent, and in 1685 he was made Colonel in her Royal Highness Princess Anne's Regiment of Horse.

In 1686, James the Second appointed him Governor of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, New Plymouth, and afterward of Rhode Island and Connecticut, to which, in 1688, New York and New Jersey were added; so that the extent of authority bestowed upon him comprehended a vast increase of dignity, and the governor entered upon the functions of his vice-regal office with a paraphernalia of ceremonies and state which were conformable to the importance of his condition, but not very palatable to the people under his jurisdiction. He was received, however, in Boston, with great acclamations, and entered upon his government of the New England colonies in 1686. In 1689, he had the misfortune to lose his wife, who died at Boston. The corpse was carried by torch-light from the governor's residence to the South Church, in a hearse drawn by six horses, and accompanied by a suitable guard of honor.

The administration of Governor Andros in New England was highly unpopular, and brought about an active opposition, which employed all the faculties of the governor to keep within limits. The opportunity afforded by the revolution in England was not allowed to go without immediate action against the representatives of the defunct royalty of the Stuart's, and Andros found himself a prisoner in the fort at Boston. This event took place in April, 1689, and after being kept for some months in confinement, together with other chief persons of his government, he was sent to England in the following year.

He continued, notwithstanding, in favor of the court, and in 1692 was appointed by King William the Third to the office of Governor of Virginia and Maryland. Governor Andros brought over to Virginia the charter of William and Mary's College, of which he laid the foundation. He likewise encouraged other praiseworthy measures for the advancement of the interests of the colonies, and succeeded in gaining the esteem of the people. His administration closed in 1698, and he returned to England.

In 1704, he was distinguished by having the government of Guernsey bestowed on him, which he held for two years. He continued Bailiff until his death, which took place in the parish of St. Anne, Westminster, in February, 1713, in his 76th year. Sir Edmund was married three times, and died without issue.

The First Negro Plot in the City of New York.

The institution of slavery, as it existed in early times in New York, was a source of constant anxiety to the inhabitants of this city, arising from the turbulent character of that class of the population. This arose partly from the fact that the slave trade was then in active operation, and New York city was the mart from whence the other parts of the colony were supplied. A slave market was established where the imported negroes were exposed for sale, and where other slaves stood for hire. The negroes, when newly arrived, were ill at ease, and differed greatly from the same class who had been born on the soil. Ignorant of the language of the country, and unused to labor in the fields, and to the restraint under which they were held, the imported negroes were disposed to deeds of desperate outrage, reckless of the fact that no good result to them could arise from their wild endeavors to rid themselves of thralldom. Their known dispositions, however, excited fear, which was kept alive by the occasional murders in different parts of the country, and especially by various plots of still more serious nature.

Among these was one in the spring of 1712. At this time a combination of from thirty to fifty newly-imported negroes was formed, with the intention to make a general assault upon the town. Their plans were laid with secrecy, and do not appear to have been suspected before they were ripe for execution. The design appears to have been simply to murder the people and burn the town, and the time selected for beginning their bloody work was midnight of the 6th of April, 1712. The method adopted was to set fire to a house and await the coming forth of the inmates, when they, as well as others who came to quench the flames, were to be killed. The negroes were well armed, while it might reasonably be expected that citizens aroused from their slumbers by the cry of fire would be defenseless. The alarm took place at about two o'clock, and the whole town was at once in uproar. Upon reaching the burning house one citizen after another was dispatched until those numbered among the killed and mortally wounded amounted to about twenty persons. The cry of murder, added to the general din, soon changed the character of the affray. The citizens speedily armed and charged upon the blacks, who, after a brief resistance, fled to the woods, pursued by the excited crowd of whites. Meantime, as morning broke, the whole town was placed under arms under apprehension that the conspiracy was more generally diffused, and that there was danger of a general uprising of the slave population.

This state of things continued several days, in the course of which a large number of suspected negroes were arrested in the town, while the hunt was being continued throughout the forest, with which nearly all the upper part of Manhattan Island was then covered. These wild fancies offered peculiar facilities for concealment, as their rocks and caves were almost unapproachable. The negroes, however, had no friends to whom they could fly for ultimate safety, and starvation brought them forth from their hiding-places.

Some of these misguided persons committed suicide in the woods, using for that purpose the arms which they had brought with them. Others were taken, and were brought to summary punishment in the most tormenting manner; some by burning at the stake; others by being broken on the wheel; and others by being hung up alive. No leniency was shown to any who were known to have been in any way cognizant of the plot. Self-preservation was felt to exist in putting the abject race in fear, and thus extreme measures were resorted to without stint.

The horrors of that event long dwelt as a cause of disquiet to the townspeople, and occasioned a morbid subject of household gossip, until the minds of the inhabitants became infected with one ever-existing apprehension—that of a negro plot. The influence of this state of feeling affected even the best classes of the population, so that in the course of a generation afterward, upon the happening of some suspicious circumstances, as to which the proof in the light of history appears entirely inadequate to sustain the grave accusations, hundreds of the negro race were visited with terrible punishment.

Social Amusements in the Olden Time in New York.

The amusements of New York in by-gone days partook much more than at present of local gatherings, such as supper parties at the public gardens and "tea-houses," dancing parties, etc. Public exhibitions, such as might attract amusement seekers to an evening entertainment, were comparatively rare, although a house for theatrical performances was erected as early as 1751, and a regular company was for many subsequent years established in this city. Itinerant performers of various sorts also traveled through the city, and erected temporary places for their exhibitions; but these failed to take the place of the social entertainments with which the descendants of the old Dutch stock delighted to pass away their festive hours, of which dancing parties were the leading feature. For a long time prior to the Revolution, the dances in vogue were mostly those introduced from English sources, with others of American production; and they were, all of them, of a lively character, involving swift motions of the feet, and aerial movements upon the toes; the "double shuffle" and "pigeon wing" being steps which marked the proficiency and grace of the performer. It was not alone, however, by individual agility that these dances were characterized. The figures themselves were not, as in the present day, designed to present graceful evolutions, in which the ease of the dancers might be indulged; but, on the contrary, they were of such a nature as to require constant movement and vigorous action. From the diary of an old gentleman, who died many years since in this city, we extract his youthful memoranda of dancing figures then in vogue. The period relates back to about the commencement of the present century.

Family Record,

WHICH SHOWS THE DATE OF BIRTH OF THE FIRST FEMALE BORN IN NEW YORK.

The ship New Netherland, which brought to the New World the first colony of families, arrived at the bay of the Hudson river in the year 1623. The colonists commenced at once to erect cabins for their temporary accommodation on the southerly point of Manhattan Island, their cattle being turned out upon the island in the harbor now known as Governor's Island. Among these colonists were Joris Jansen de Rapelje, and the young woman who was then, or soon after became, his wife, a young couple, whose first child was born in June, 1625. This child is alluded to in the public records, at a period when she had herself become a mother, and a favor was granted her of a public nature, one of the inducements to which was that she was "the first-born Christian daughter" in the colony of New Netherlands.

Under these circumstances the family record of the Rapelje's is of peculiar interest; and, fortunately, it has been preserved in perfect form during the intervening centuries. We have copied the Dutch original, and also given a translation.

Extract

FROM THE REV. DR. LINN'S FUNERAL SERMON ON THE DEATH
OF WASHINGTON, DELIVERED ON 22^d DECEMBER, 1799.

"We are witnesses this day that no character however exalted—that no services however long continued or extensive can save from the stroke of death: What means the melancholy sound of bells that daily strike our ears! What means the sorrow that marks the face of every citizen? What mean these sable ensigns that are hung in our very churches? Have any of our cities been destroyed by fires or swallowed by earthquakes? Do hostile fleets or invading armies threaten us by immediate slavery or death? No. Washington the boast of our Nation under God and the admiration of the world, is no more.

"There is no such another to die: Few such have ever existed upon our earth. God endowed him with superior qualities and afforded him occasions for their full display. Having retired from the command of the army every one supposed that he had attained to the pinnacle of greatness, and would recline in safety the remainder of his days beneath the shades of Mount Vernon. Yet we behold him at his country's call magnanimously renouncing his retreat putting his fame at risk and eclipsing even the glory of his military life by his lustre as a statesman.

"A second time he retires with the blessings of millions and as though God delighted to honor him and to exhibit the greatness of his servant, we behold him afterwards accepting the office of Lieutenant-General of our armies. Under these massy honors he has sunk to the grave. God in mercy has removed him least we should think him immortal and pay to a creature the adoration which is due to the Glorious Creator.

"I stand not here brethren to pronounce his eulogium. Appoint what orator you may, he can never rise to a height so noble as the theme demands. The NAME is above what Grecian or Roman story presents and it would require more than Grecian or Roman eloquence to do it justice. That calumny which has sought to tarnish his fame will soon become dumb and the name of Washington be revered until the fashion of this world has wholly passed away.

"Suffer me only to add, Let us be grateful to God for sparing him so long and making him the instrument of so many services: Let the death we so loudly lament serve to unite us as American Citizens and let us depend upon the Almighty arm which can still protect and deliver us."

Translation of Dutch Record.

The Director-General and Councilors of New Netherland, to all who shall read these presents or hear them read :

Considering the abundant complaints presented to us by many of our inhabitants concerning the poor quality of the large bread and the light weight of the white bread, with other than which the good people can not with the ordinary currency be accommodated by the bakers, the cause and foundation of which is understood to be, that the Indians or natives of the country seek the white bread in preference to the black, and pay the bakers for the same with perfect sewant, which our inhabitants for want of perfect sewant can not do in their purchases, the consequence of which is that, from the inclination of greater profit, the Indians and barbarous natives are better accommodated than the Christians. In consideration of which the Director General and Councilors, with a view to the best service of the community, according to their best ability, as occasion affords, do ordain and command by these presents that for the future no baker shall bake any white bread or cakes for sale, or permit the same to be baked, nor shall sell the same to either Christians or natives, on penalty of forfeiture of all that shall be baked and of fifty Carolus guilders from such as fail to comply. Excepting, nevertheless, that no inhabitant shall be prohibited by these presents to bake, or have baked, a sufficiency of white bread for their ordinary and proper meals, as their occasions shall require, provided they observe in other respects the orders of the court.

Interdicting and forbidding likewise, as we do by these presents interdict and forbid, the public sale and consumption of white bread and cakes, either to the Indians or to the inhabitants, and for the purpose of condemning the frauds used in respect to the ordinary bread ; and in order that neither the Indians nor the inhabitants shall be injured by inferior weight, the above-mentioned Director-General and Councilors order that those following the business of baking bread shall, hereafter, bake the same of pure wheat or pure rye as it comes from the mill, of the weight of five, four, and two pounds, at a price in conformity with the orders that shall from time to time be announced by the court for the purchase of grain.

This done, resolved, and established at our meeting, this 8th November, 1649.

New York, June 18. On Thursday last a Ship arrived here from Fyall, and a Sloop from North Carolina, they were Chased in by a French Privateer, as was Captain Coward who was bound for England, via Virginia.

On the 16th. Capt. Outerbridge and some of his men came to Town and relate, that on the 3d. Instant he Sailed out of Sandy hook bound for Jamaica loaded with Provisions, and was taken by a Privateer from Martinico about 150 Leagues off, and that his Sloop (with Mrs. Antill and her Children who were Passengers on Board) is sent to Martinico.

That on the 14th Instant the same Privateer came to Sandy hook, and in the night sent up her Boat to the Narrows with design to take Capt. Potter who was then Loaden at the Watering place bound for Nevis, but the Boat could not find him; about 10 days before, they took a small Sloop belonging to one Godfrey of this Town, loaded with Pitch and Tarr which they burnt, one Reynolds was Master of her, and 'tis said sides with the French, and is a Pilot to them on this Coast, and has informed them of our Vessels expected and Outward bound. The Privateers perceiving they were discovered, Capt. Outerbridge and his men and Godfrey perswaded them to land them at Sandy hook, which they did, and afterwards stood along shore to the Southward. Yesterday News was brought that they had Landed in East New Jersey a little beyond Neversincks, and had burnt 2 Country Houses. On Sunday the 10th Instant, the Cetty Privateer, Capt. Bond for England, via Virginia, and 2 Sloops Sailed out of Sandy hook, and happily mist this Privateer. A Ship, a Briganteen and 2 Sloops are fitted out here, and will Sail this day under the Command of Col. Peartree in pursuit of her. This Privateer is a Ship of 10 guns, 150 Tons or thereabouts, 120 men, one Clapo Captain, who has a Brother lives at Boston or thereabouts, some say that is a Nick Name, some that he is a Frenchman, & others, an Irishman. They tell us a new Briganteen from New York was carried into Martinico a few days before this Privateer Sailed, which we fear is Capt. Perkins in a fine Briganteen the 1st Voyage, and bound for Barbadoes.

His Excellency has laid an Embargo in this Province. Here are 5 Sachems of the French Indians come to Town as I am told, to treat with his Excellency our Governour, about liberty to Settle among our Indians the 5 Nations, and that they will leave the French; some of them were at Deerfield when the mischief was done there. Our Assembly have Voted the Raising 1607l. for the Defence of the Fronteers.

New York, June 25. On Thursday morning last Sailed out of Sandy hook, the Ship, Briganteen & 2 Sloops which are in pursuit of the French Privateer, they have 350 able men on board the 4 Vessels. We have advice that the Privateer stood off to Sea on Monday last, since which time we have not heard of him. The Embargo I suppose will be continued here till the return of our Vessels.

New York, July 2. On the 29 June arrived here a Sloop from Jamaica, one Seward Master, who Sailed from Porto Morant the 5th of the said Month. The same day our Private Man of War came in to Sandy hook with the 2 Sloops that went in pursuit of the French Privateer; they have been along shore to the Capes of Delaware, but could not hear of him; two of them (the Ship and a Sloop which Sail very well) I am told are ordered to Cruise towards Block Island.

There were no Boston Vessels at Jamaica that Seward knows of. Keersteed and Teller bound for Boston as soon as the Embargo is taken off, and Coward for England, Via Virginia, & several Vessels for other parts.

New York, July 9. On the 5th Instant Capt. Dehart arrived here from Barbadoes; and yesterday Capt. Basset from St Thomas in 16 days, who says, they heard there by a French Privateer that a Briganteen from New York with Horses upon her Deck, was taken and carryed into Martinico, which we suppose to be Capt. Leach, who was bound for Nevis: (Perkins whom we feared was taken being arrived in Barbadoes;) And also that two Privateers who designed for this Coast (a Sloop and a Briganteen) were come out of Martinico, but they wanted men and were gone to Porto Rico to supply themselves. We have heard nothing of Coll. Peartree since he went out last in pursuit of the French Privateer : we suppose he is gone towards Block Island ; he has 140 men on board the Ship, and 80 in the Sloop ; they both Sail well.

New York, July 16. Our Private Man of War is returned from Block Island without seeing the Privateer.

Last night by a Sloop from Virginia in 6 days, we are acquainted, That the Strumbulo Man of War had chased the Privateer on that Coast ; but could not come up with her, but 3 days afterwards he came up with her again and fired a great many shot into her ; upon which Crapo the Privateer threw Overboard his Priaugar, several Casks, & great Guns, and on a sudden it grew calm, which gave him the opportunity of using his Oars, by means whereof he escaped. The Strumbulo sent her Pinnace mann'd under the Quarter of the Privateer, who fired not a Gun at them, but they durst not venture to board her. Capt. Coward from hence bound to England, was arrived in Virginia.

New York, July 23. There is a great prodigious Tooth brought here, supposed by the shape of it to be one of the far great Teeth of a man ; it weighs four pound and three quarters, the top of it is as sound and white as a Tooth can be, but the Root is much decayed, yet one of the Fangs of it holds half a pint of Liquor ; It was lately dug up, a great way under ground in the side of a Bank or Hill 30 or 40 Foot above it, at or near a place call'd Clavarack, about 30 miles on this side of Albany, and is lookt upon here as a mighty wonder, whither the Tooth be of Man or Beast : They also Dug up several Bones, which as they came to the Air crumbled away ; They say one of them which is thought to be a Thigh-bone was 17 Foot long. There is another Tooth taken up in the same place, which is a Fore Tooth flat and broad, and is as broad as a man's Four Fingers, which I have not yet seen ; but the other I did see, and was brought here by a Gentleman of the Assembly : They dug up several Trees in the same place of great bigness.

On the 19th Instant arrived at Sandy hook, Her Majesty's Ship the Lowstoff, Capt. George Fane Commander, she left Plymouth the 19th of May last. The Lowstoff will Cruise some time for our Ships from England.

New York, July 30. A Sloop from Jamaica in 22 days, one Jolin Master arrived here the 25th. No News as yet of the Arrival of the Virginia Fleet, nor when the Homeward bound Fleet Sails. Petty, Smallage and Lawrence Sailed last Week for Boston. The Act of Parliament for the Encouraging the Importation of Naval Stores to England, The Act prohibiting all Trade and Commerce with France ; And an Act to prevent all Traiterous Correspondence with Her Majesties Enemies, were Published here.

New York, August 6. On the first Instant Arrived here Capt. Payne in the Gray-hound Galley from London, she came out with Her Majesties Ship

Triton's Prize outsailed her, and intended to run very close upon her and give her a Broadside, but the Privateer prevented her by giving the first Broadside and Volley of small Shot, whereby we had 4 men killed, and 5 or 6 wounded, besides Capt. Davies who was shot just behind the Ear, and with the Fall brushed himself much upon the edge of a Shot Case, that rendered him unserviceable for some hours, which gave the Enemy a great advantage, yet notwithstanding the Fight was bravely maintained, and a great many Broad-sides given, the Privateer made a running Fight, and the Triton's Prize every now and then upon the Chase came up with her, gave her a Broad-side of Round and Partridge, several of the Frenchmen were seen to fall on his Deck, part of his Gunnel and Spiritsail Yard found swimming; at last the Gale slackening the Enemy threw some of their Guns Overboard and rowed away, and the Triton's Prize returned to Sandy hook to repair her damage. Basset to save them; but after the Ship filled, she sunk immediately with all her Sails up, and every man perished. It being impossible for Basset to Save them, tho' they sunk just by him; (the Wind blowing very hard) She was a very fine Ship, had a woman carved in her head instead of a Lyon, and well painted with green and other colours, but chiefly green; She had an English Pinnace, they said they were from Martinico. Two days after Basset fell in again with the Dutch Fleet, and related to them the way of his escape.

Description of the City of New York

IN THE YEAR 1748.

BY PROFESSOR PETER KALM.

October 29, 1748. At night we took up our lodgings at Elizabeth-town Point, an inn, about two English miles distant from the town, and the last house on this road belonging to New Jersey. The man who had taken the lease of it, together with that of the ferry near it, told us that he paid a hundred and ten pounds of Pensylvania currency to the owner.

Oct. 30. We were ready to proceed on our journey at sun-rising. Near the inn where we had passed the night, we were to cross a river, and we were brought over, together with our horses, in a wretched half-rotten ferry. This river came a considerable way out of the country and small vessels could easily sail up it. This was a great advantage to the inhabitants of the neighbouring country, giving them an opportunity of sending their goods to New York with great ease; and they even made use of it for trading to the West Indies. The country was low on both sides of the river, and consisted of meadows. But there was no other hay to be got, than such as commonly grows in swampy grounds; for as the tide comes up in this river, these low plains were sometimes overflowed when the water was high. The people hereabouts are said to be troubled in summer with immense swarms of gnats or musquetoës, which sting them and their cattle. This was ascribed to the low swampy meadows, on which these insects deposit their eggs, which are afterwards hatched by the heat.

As soon as we had got over the river, we were upon Staten Island, which is quite surrounded with salt water. This is the beginning of the province of New York. Most of the people settled here were Dutchmen, or such as came hither whilst the Dutch were yet in possession of this place. But at present they were scattered among the English and other European inhabitants, and spoke English for the greatest part. The prospect of the country here is extremely pleasing, as it is not so much intercepted by woods, but offers more cultivated fields to view. Hills and vallies still continued, as usual, to change alternately.

The farms were near each other. Most of the houses were wooden; however some were built of stone. Near every farm house was an orchard with apple trees. Here, and on the whole journey before, I observed a press for cyder at every farm house, made in different manners, by which the people had already pressed the juice out of the apples, or were just busied with that work. Some people made use of a wheel made of thick oak planks, which turned upon a wooden axis, by means of a horse drawing it, much in the same manner as the people do with wood; except that here the wheel runs upon planks. Cherry trees stood along the enclosures round corn fields.

The corn fields were excellently situated, and either sown with wheat or rye. They had no ditches on their sides, but (as is usual in England) only furrows, drawn at greater or lesser distances from each other.

In one place we observed a water mill, so situated, that when the tide flowed, the water ran into a pond; but when it ebbed, the floodgate was drawn up, and the mill driven by the water, flowing out of the pond.

About eight o'clock in the morning we arrived at the place where we were to cross the water, in order to come to the town of New York. We left our horses here, and went on board the yacht: we were to go eight English miles by sea; however, we landed about eleven o'clock in the morning at New York. We saw a kind of wild ducks in immense quantities upon the water: the people called them blue bills, and they seem to be the same with our Pintal Ducks, or Linnaeus's Anas acuta: but they were very shy. On the shore of the continent we saw some very fine sloping corn fields, which at present looked quite green, the corn being already come up. We saw many boats, in which the fishermen were busy catching oysters: to this purpose they make use of a kind of rakes with long iron teeth bent inwards; these they used either single, or two tied together, in such a manner, that the teeth were turned towards each other.

Oct. 31. About New York they find innumerable quantities of excellent oysters, and there are few places which have oysters of such an exquisite taste, and of so great a size: they are pickled and sent to the West Indies and other places; which is done in the following manner. As soon as the oysters are caught, their shells are opened, and the fish washed clean; some water is then poured into a pot, the oysters are put into it, and they must boil for a while; the pot is then taken off from the fire again, the oysters taken out and put upon a dish, till they are somewhat dry: then you take some mace, allspice, black pepper, and as much vinegar as you think sufficient to give a sourish taste. All this is mixed with half the liquor in which the oysters were boiled, and put over the fire again. While you boil it, great care is to be taken in scumming off the thick scum; at last the whole pickle is poured into a glass or earthen vessel, the oysters are put into it, and the vessel is well stopped to keep out the air. In this manner oysters will keep for years together, and may be sent to the most distant parts of the world.

The merchants here buy up great quantities of oysters about this time, pickle them in the above mentioned manner and send them to the West Indies: by which they frequently make a considerable profit: for, the oysters, which cost them five shillings of their currency, they commonly sell for a pistole, or about six times as much as they gave for them; and sometimes they get even more: the oysters which are thus pickled have a very fine flavour. The following is another way of preserving oysters: they are taken out of the shells, fried with butter, put into a glass or earthen vessel with the melted butter over them, so that they are quite covered with it, and no air can get to them. Oysters prepared in this manner have likewise an agreeable taste, and are exported to the West Indies and other parts.

Oysters are here reckoned very wholesome, some people assured us, that they had not felt the least inconvenience, after eating a considerable quantity of them. It is likewise a common rule here, that oysters are best in those months, which have an r in their name, such as September, October, &c; but that they are not so good in other months; however there are poor people, who live all the year long upon nothing but oysters and bread.

The sea near New York, affords annually the greatest quantity of oysters. They are found chiefly in a muddy ground, where they lie in the slime, and are not so frequent in a sandy bottom: a rocky and a stony bottom is seldom found here. The oyster shells are gathered in great heaps, and burnt into a lime, which by some people is made use of in building houses, but is not reckoned so good as that made of limestone. On our journey to New York, we saw high heaps of oyster shells near the farm-houses, upon the sea shore; and about New York, we observed the people had carried them upon the fields, which were sown with wheat. However they were entire, and not crushed.

The Indians, who inhabited the coast before the arrival of the Europeans, have made oysters and other shell fish their chief food ; and at present, whenever they come to a salt water, where oysters are to be got, they are very active in catching them, and sell them in great quantities to other Indians, who live higher up in the country : for this reason you see immense numbers of oyster and muscle shells piled up near such places, where you are certain that the Indians formerly built their huts. This circumstance ought to make us cautious in maintaining, that in all places on the sea shore, or higher up in the country, where such heaps of shells are to be met with ; the latter have lain there ever since the time that those places were overflowed by the sea.

Lobsters are likewise plentifully caught hereabouts, pickled much in the same way as oysters, and sent to several places. I was told of a very remarkable circumstance about these lobsters, and I have afterwards frequently heard it mentioned. The coast of New York had already European inhabitants for a considerable time, yet no lobsters were to be met with on that coast ; and though the people fished ever so often, they could never find any signs of lobsters being in this part of the sea : they were therefore continually brought in great well-boats from New-England, where they are plentiful ; but it happened that one of these well-boats broke in pieces near Hellgate, about ten English miles from New York, and all the lobsters in it got off. Since that time they have so multiplied in this part of the sea, that they are now caught in the greatest abundance.

Nov. 1. A Kind of cold fever, which the English in this country call Fever and Ague, is very common in several parts of the English Colonies. There are, however, other parts where the people have never felt it. I will in the sequel describe the symptoms of this disease at large. Several of the most considerable inhabitants of this town assured me, that this disease was not near so common in New York, as it is in Pennsylvania, where ten were seized by it, to one in the former province ; therefore they were of opinion, that this disease was occasioned by the vapours arising from stagnant fresh water, from marshes, and from rivers ; for which reason those provinces, situated on the sea shore, could not be so much affected by it. However the carelessness with which people eat quantities of melons, peaches, and other juicy fruit, in summer, was reckoned to contribute much towards the progress of this fever ; and repeated examples confirmed the truth of this opinion. The jesuit's bark was reckoned a good remedy against it. It has, however, often been found to have operated contrary to expectation, though I am ignorant whether it was adulterated, or whether some mistake had been committed in the manner of taking it. Mr. Davis van Horne, a merchant, told me, that he cured himself, and several other people, of this fever, by the leaves of the common Garden Sage, or Salvia officinalis of Linnaeus. The leaves are crushed or pounded in a mortar and the juice is pressed out of them ; this is continued till they get a spoonful of the liquid, which is mixed with lemon juice. This draught is taken about the time that the cold fit comes on ; and after taking it three or four times, the fever does not come again.

The bark of the white oak was reckoned the best remedy which had as yet been found against the dysentery. It is reduced to a powder and then taken : some people assured me, that in cases where nothing would help, this remedy had given a certain and speedy relief. The people in this place likewise make use of this bark (as is usually done in the English colonies) to dye wool a brown colour, which looks like that of bohea tea, and does not fade by being exposed to the sun. Among the numerous shells which are found on the sea shore, there are some, which by the English are called Clams, and which bear some resemblance to the human ear. They have a considerable thickness, and are chiefly white, excepting the pointed end, which both without and within has a blue colour, between purple and violet. They are met with in vast numbers on the sea shore of New York, Long Island, and other places.

A Considerable commerce is carried on in this article, with such Indians as live further up the country. When these people inhabited the coast, they were able to catch their own clams, which at that time made a great part of their food ; but at present this is the business of the Dutch and English, who live on Long Island and other maritime provinces. As soon as the shells are caught, the fish is taken out of them, drawn upon a wire, and hung up in the open air, in order to dry by the heat of the sun. When this is done, the flesh is put into proper vessels, and carried to Albany upon the river Hudson ; there the Indians buy them, and reckon them one of their best dishes. Besides the Europeans, many of the native Indians come annually down the sea shore, in order to catch clams, proceeding with them afterwards in the manner I have just described.

The shells of these clams are used by the Indians as money, and make what they call their wampum ; they likewise serve their women for an ornament, when they intend to appear in full dress. These wampum are properly made of the purple parts of the shells, which the Indians value more than the white parts. A traveller, who goes to trade with the Indians, and is well stocked with them, may become a considerable gainer ; but if he take gold coin, or bullion, he will undoubtedly be a loser ; for the Indians, who live farther up the country, put little or no value upon these metals which we reckon so precious, as I have frequently observed in the course of my travels. The INDIANS formerly made their own wampums, though not without a deal of trouble ; but at present the Europeans employ themselves that way ; especially the inhabitants of Albany, who get a considerable profit by it.

Nov. 2. Besides the different sects of Christians, there are many Jews settled in New York, who possess great privileges. They have a synagogue and houses, and great country seats of their own property, and are allowed to keep shops in town. They have likewise several ships, which they freight, and send out with their own goods. In fine, they enjoy all the privileges common to the other inhabitants of this town and province.

During my residence at New York, this time and in the next two years, I was frequently in company with Jews. I was informed, among other things, that these people never boiled any meat for themselves on Saturday, but that they always did it the day before; and that in winter they kept a fire during the whole Saturday. They commonly eat no pork; yet I have been told by several men of credit, that many of them (especially among the young Jews) when travelling, did not make the least difficulty about eating this, or any other meat that was put before them; even though they were in company with Christians. I was in their synagogue last evening for the first time, and this day at noon I visited it again, and each time I was put into a particular seat, which was set apart for strangers or Christians. A young Rabbi read the divine service, which was partly in Hebrew, and partly in the Rabbinical dialect. Both men and women were dressed entirely in the English fashion; the former had all of them their hats on, and did not once take them off during service. The galleries, I observed, were appropriated to the ladies, while the men sat below. During prayers the men spread a white cloth over their heads; which perhaps is to represent sackcloth. But I observed that the wealthier sort of people had a much richer cloth than the poorer ones. Many of the men had Hebrew books, in which they sang and read alternately. The Rabbi stood in the middle of the synagogue, and read with his face turned towards the east: he spoke, however, so fast, as to make it almost impossible for any one to understand what he said.

NEW YORK, the capital of a province of the same name, is situated under forty deg. and forty min. north lat. and seventy four deg. and four min. of western long. from London; and is about ninety-seven English miles distant from Philadelphia. The situation of it is extremely advantageous for trade: for the town stands upon a point which is formed by two bays; into one of which the river Hudson discharges itself, not far from the town; New York is therefore on three sides surrounded with water: the ground it is built on, is level in some parts, and hilly in others: the place is generally reckoned very wholesome.

The town was first founded by the Dutch: this, it is said, was done in the year 1623, when they were yet masters of the country; they called it New Amsterdam, and the country itself New Holland. The English, towards the end of the year 1664, taking possession of it under the conduct of Des Cartes, and keeping it by the virtue of the next treaty of peace, gave the name of New York to both the town and the province belonging to it: in size it comes nearest to Boston and Philadelphia. But with regard to its fine buildings, its opulence, and extensive commerce, it disputes the preference with them: at present it is about half as big again as Gothenburgh in Sweden.

The streets do not run so straight as those of Philadelphia, and have sometimes considerable bendings: however they are very spacious and well-built, and most of them are paved, except in high places, where it has been found useless. In the chief streets there are trees planted, which in summer give them a fine appearance, and during the excessive heat at that time, afford a cooling shade: I found it extremely pleasant to walk in the town, for it seemed quite like a garden: the trees which are planted for this purpose, are chiefly of two kinds. The Water beech, or Linnaeus's Platanus occidentalis, are the most numerous, and give an agreeable shade in summer, by their great and numerous leaves. The Locust tree or Linnaeus's Robinia Pseud-Acacia, is likewise frequent: its fine leaves, and the odoriferous scent which exhales from its flowers, make it very proper for being planted in the streets near the houses, and in gardens. There are likewise lime trees and elms in these walks, but they are not by far so frequent as the others: one seldom met with trees of the same sort next to each other, they being in general planted alternately.

Besides numbers of birds of all kinds which make these their abode, there are likewise a kind of frogs which frequent them in great numbers in summer; they are Dr. Linnaeus's Rana arborea, and especially the American variety of this animal. They are very clamorous in the evening and in the nights (especially when the days had been hot, and a rain was expected) and in a manner drown the singing of the birds. They frequently make such a noise, that it is difficult for a person to make himself heard.

Most of the houses are built of bricks; and are generally strong and neat, and several stories high. Some had, according to old architecture, turned the gable-end towards the streets; but the new houses were altered in this respect. Many of the houses had a balcony on the roof, on which the people used to sit in the evenings in the summer season; and from thence they had a pleasant view of a great part of the town, and likewise of part of the adjacent water and of the opposite shore. The roofs are commonly covered with tiles or shingles: the latter of which are made of the white fir tree, or Pinus Strobus (Linn. sp. plant.) which grows higher up in the country. The inhabitants are of opinion, that a roof made of these shingles is as durable as one made in Pennsylvania of the White Cedar, or Cupressus thyoides (Linn. spec. plant.) The walls were whitewashed within; and I did not any where see hangings, with which the people in this country seem in general to be but little acquainted. The walls were quite covered with all sorts of drawings and pictures in small frames. On each side of the chimnies they had usually a sort of alcove; and the wall under the windows was wainscotted, and had benches placed near it. The alcoves, and all the wood work, were painted with a bluish grey colour.

There are several churches in the town, which deserve some attention.

1. The English Church, built in the year 1695, at the west end of the town, consisting of stone, and has a steeple with a bell. 2. The new Dutch Church, which is likewise built of stone, is pretty large, and is provided with a steeple; it also has a clock, which is the only one in the town. This church stands almost due from north to South. No particular point of the compass has here been in general attended to in erecting sacred buildings. Some churches stand as is usual from east to west, others from south to North, and others in different positions. In this Dutch church there is neither altar, vestry, choir, sconces, nor paintings. Some trees are planted round it, which make it look as if it were built in a wood. 3. The old Dutch Church, which is also built of stone. It is not so large as the new one. It was painted in the inside, though without any images, and adorned with a small organ, of which governor Burnet made them a present. The men, for the most part, sit in the gallery, and the women below. 4. The Presbyterian church, which is pretty large, and was built but lately. It is of stone, and has a steeple and a bell in it. 5. The German Lutheran Church. 6. The German Reformed Church. 7. The French Church, for protestant refugees. 8. The Quaker's Meeting House. 9. To these may be added the Jewish Synagogue, which I mentioned before.

Towards the sea, on the extremity of the promontory, is a pretty good fortress, called Fort George, which entirely commands the fort, and can defend the town, at least from a sudden attack on the sea side. Besides that, it is likewise secured on the north, or towards the shore, by a pallisade, which however (as for a considerable time the people have had nothing to fear from an enemy) is in many places in a very bad state of defence.

There is no good water to be met with in the town itself, but at a little distance there is a large spring of good water, which the inhabitants take for their tea, and for the uses of the kitchen. Those however, who are less delicate in this point, make use of the water from the wells in town, though it be very bad. This want of good water lies heavy upon the horses of the stranger that come to this place; for they do not like to drink the water from the wells in the town.

The port is a good one; ships of the greatest burthen can lie in it, quite close up to the bridge: but its water is very salt, as the sea continually comes in upon it; and therefore is never frozen, except in extraordinary cold weather. This is of great advantage to the city and its commerce; for many ships either come in or go out of the port at any time of the year, unless the winds be contrary; a convenience, which, as I have before observed, is wanting at Philadelphia. It is secured from all violent hurricanes from the south-east by Long Island, which is situated just before the town: therefore only the storms from the south west are dangerous to the ships which ride at anchor here, because the port is open only on that side. The entrance however has its faults; one of them is, that no men of war can pass through it; for though the water is pretty deep, yet it is not sufficiently so for great ships. Sometimes even merchant ships of a large size have, by the rolling of the waves and by sinking down between them, slightly touched the bottom, though without any bad consequences. Besides this, the canal is narrow; and for this reason many ships have been lost here, because they may be easily cast upon a sand, if the ship is not well piloted. Some old people, who had constantly been upon this canal, assured me, that it was neither deeper nor shallower at present, than in their youth.

The common difference between high and low water, at New York, amounts to about six feet, English measure. But at a certain time in every month, when the tide flows more than commonly, the difference in the height of the water is seven feet.

New York probably carries on a more extensive commerce, than any town in the English American provinces; at least it may be said to equal them: Boston and Philadelphia however, come very near up to it. The trade of New York extends to many places; and it is said they send more ships from thence to London than they do from Philadelphia. They export to that capital all the various sorts of skins which they buy of the Indians, sugar, logwood, and other dying woods, rum, mahogany, and many other goods which are the produce of the West Indies; together with all the specie which they get in the course of trade. Every year they build several ships here, which are sent to London, and there sold; and of late years they have shipped a quantity of iron to England. In return for these, they import from London stuffs, and every other article of English growth or manufacture, together with all sorts of foreign goods. England, and especially London, profits immensely by its trade with the American colonies; for not only New York, but likewise all the other English towns on the continent, import so many articles from England, that all their specie, together with the goods which they get in other countries, must altogether go to Old England, in order to pay the amount, to which they are however insufficient. From hence it appears how much a well-regulated colony contributes to the increase and welfare of its mother country.

New York sends many ships to the West Indies, with flour, corn, biscuit, timber, tuns, boards, flesh, fish, butter, and other provisions; together with some of the few fruits that grow here. Many ships go to Boston in New England, with corn and flour; and take in exchange, flesh, butter, timber, different sorts of fish, and other articles, which they carry further to the West Indies. They now and then take rum from thence, which is distilled there in great quantities, and sell it here with a considerable advantage. Sometimes they send yachts with goods from New York to Philadelphia, and at other times yachts are sent from Philadelphia to New York; which is only done, as appears from the gazettes, because certain articles are cheaper at one place than at the other. They send ships to Ireland every year laden with all kinds of West India goods; but especially with linseed, which is reaped in this province. I have been assured, that in some years no less than ten ships have been sent to Ireland, laden with nothing but linseed; because it is said the flax in Ireland does not afford good seed. But probably the true reason is this; the people of Ireland, in order to have the better flax, make use of the plant before the seed is ripe, and therefore are obliged to send for foreign seed; and hence it becomes one of the chief articles in trade.

At this time a bushel of linseed is sold for eight shillings of New York currency, or exactly a piece of eight.

The goods which are shipped to the West Indies, are sometimes paid for with ready money, and sometimes with West India goods, which are either first brought to New York, or immediately sent to England or Holland. If a ship does not chuse to take in West India goods in its return to New York or if no body will freight it, it often goes to Newcastle in England to take in coals for ballast, which when brought home sell for a pretty good price. In many parts of the town coals are made use of, both for kitchen fires, and in rooms, because they are reckoned cheaper than wood, which at present costs thirty shillings of New York currency per fathom; of which measure I have before made mention. New York has likewise some intercourse with South Carolina; to which it sends corn, flour, sugar, rum, and other goods, and takes rice in return, which is almost the only commodity exported from South Carolina.

The goods with which the province of New York trades, are not very numerous. They chiefly export the skins of animals, which are bought of the Indians about Oswego; great quantities of boards, coming for the most part from Albany; timber and ready-made lumber, from that part of the country which lies about the river Hudson; and lastly, wheat, flour, barley, oats, and other kinds of corn, which are brought from New Jersey and the cultivated parts of this province. I have seen yachts from New Brunswick, laden with wheat which lay loose on board, and with flour packed up in tuns; and also with great quantities of linseed. New York likewise exports some flesh and other provisions out of its own province, but they are very few; nor is the quantity of pease, which the people about Albany bring, much greater. Iron however may be had more plentifully, as it is found in several parts of this province, and is of a considerable goodness; but all the other products of this country are of little account.

Most of the wine, which is drank here and in the other colonies, is brought from the Isle of Madeira, and is very strong and fiery.

No manufactures of note have as yet been established here; at present they get all manufactured goods, such as woolen and linen cloth, &c. from England, and especially from London.

The river Hudson is very convenient for the commerce of this city; as it is navigable for near an hundred and fifty English miles up the country, and falls into the bay not far from the town, on its western side. During eight months of the year this river is full of yachts, and other greater and lesser vessels, either going to New York or returning from thence, laden either with inland or foreign goods.

I Cannot make a just estimate of the ships that annually come to this town or sail from it. But I have found, by the Pennsylvania gazettes, that from the first of December in 1729, to the fifth of December in the next year, 211 ships entered the port of New York, and 222 cleared it ; and since that time there has been a great increase of trade here.

The country people come to market in New York twice a week, much in the same manner as they do at Philadelphia ; with this difference, that the markets are here kept in several places.

The governor of the province of New York resides here, and has a palace in the fort. Among those who have been entrusted with it William Burnet deserves to be had in perpetual remembrance. He was one of the sons of Dr. Thomas Burnet (so celebrated on account of his learning) and seemed to have inherited the knowledge of his father. But his great assiduity in promoting the welfare of this province, is what makes the principal merit of his character. The people of New York therefore still reckon him the best governor they ever had, and think that they cannot praise his services too much. The many astronomical observations which he made in these parts, are inserted in several English works. In the year 1727, at the accession of King George II. to the throne of Great Britain, he was appointed governor of New England. In consequence of this he left New York, and went to Boston, where he died universally lamented, on the 7th of September 1729.

An assembly of deputies, from all the particular districts of the province of New York, is held at New York once or twice every year. It may be looked upon as a parliament or dyet in miniature. Every thing relating to the good of the province is here debated. The governor calls the assembly, and dissolves it at pleasure : this is a power which he ought only to make use of, either when no farther are necessary, or when the members are not so unanimous in the service of their king and country as is their duty ; it frequently however happens, that, led aside by caprice or by interested views, he exerts it to the prejudice of the province. The colony has sometimes had a governor, whose quarrels with the inhabitants, have induced their representatives, or the members of the assembly, through a spirit of revenge, to oppose indifferently every thing he proposed, whether it was beneficial to the country or not. In such cases the governor has made use of his power ; dissolving the assembly, and calling another soon after, which however he again dissolved upon the least mark of their ill humour. By this means he so much tired them, by the many expences which they were forced to bear in so short a time, that they were at last glad to unite with him, in his endeavours for the good of the province. But there have likewise been governors who have called assemblies and dissolved them soon after, merely because the representatives did not act according to their whims, or would not give their assent to proposals which were perhaps dangerous or hurtful to the common welfare.

The king appoints the governor according to his royal pleasure ; but the inhabitants of the province make up his excellency's salary. Therefore a man entrusted with this place has greater or lesser revenues, according as he knows how to gain the confidence of the inhabitants. There are examples of governors, in this and other provinces of North America, who, by their dissensions with the inhabitants of their respective governments, have lost their whole salary, his Majesty having no power to make them pay it. If a governor had no other resource in these circumstances, he would be obliged either to resign his office, or be content with an income too small for his dignity ; or else to conform himself in every thing to the inclinations of the inhabitants : but there are several stated profits, which in some measure make up for this. 1. No one is allowed to keep a public house without the governor's leave ; which is only to be obtained by a certain fee, according to the circumstances of the person. Some governors therefore, when the inhabitants refused to pay them a salary, have hit upon the expedient of doubling the number of inns in their province. 2. Few people who intend to be married, unless they be very poor, will have their banns published from the pulpit ; but instead of this they get licences from the governor, which empower any minister to marry them. Now for such a license the governor receives about half a guinea, and this collected throughout the whole province, amounts to a considerable sum. 3. The governor signs all passports, and especially of such as go to sea ; and this gives him another means of supplying his expences. There are several other advantages allowed to him, but as they are very trifling, I shall omit them.

At the above assembly the old laws are reviewed and amended, and new ones are made : and the regulation and circulation of coin, together with all other affairs of that kind, are there determined. For it is to be observed, that each English colony in North America is independent of the other, and that each has its proper laws and coin, and may be looked upon in several lights as a state by itself.

The declination of the magnetic needle in this town, was observed by Philip Wells, the chief engineer of the province of New York, in the year 1686, to be eight deg. and forty five min. to the westward. But, in 1723, it was only seven deg. and twenty min. according to the observations of governor Burnet.

From hence we may conclude, that in thirty eight years, the magnet approaches about one deg. and twenty five min. nearer to the true north ; or, which is the same thing, about two min. annually. Mr. Alexander, a man of great knowledge in astronomy and in mathematics, assured me, from several observations, that, in the year 1750, on the eighteenth of September, the deviation was to be reckoned six deg. and twenty two min.

There are two printers in the town, and every week some English gazettes are published, which contain news from all parts of the world.

The winter is much more severe here than in Pennsylvania, it being nearly as cold as in some of the provinces of Sweden: its continuance, however, is much shorter than with us; their spring is very early, and their autumn very late, and the heat in summer is excessive. For this reason, the melons sown in the fields are ripe at the beginning of August; whereas we can hardly bring them so soon to maturity under glasses and on hot beds. The cold of the winter I cannot justly determine, as the meteorological observations which were communicated to me, were all calculated after thermometers, which were so placed in the houses, that the air could not freely come at them. The snow lies for some months together upon the ground; and sledges are made use of here as in Sweden, but they are rather too bulky. The river Hudson is about an English mile and a half broad at its mouth: the difference between the highest flood and the lowest ebb, is between six and seven feet, and the water is very brackish: yet the ice stands in it not only one, but even several months: it has sometimes a thickness of more than two feet.

The inhabitants are sometimes greatly troubled with Musquitoes. They either follow the hay, which is made near the town, in the low meadows which are quite penetrated with salt water, or they accompany the cattle at night when it is brought home. I have myself experienced, and have observed in others, how much these little animalcules can disfigure a person's face during a single night; for the skin is sometimes so covered over with little blisters from their stings, that people are ashamed to appear in public. The water melons, which are cultivated near the town, grow very large: they are extremely delicious, and are better than in other parts of North America; though they are planted in the open fields, and never in a hot-bed. I saw a water melon at Governor Clinton's in September, 1750, which weighed forty-seven English pounds, and at a merchant's in town another of forty-two pounds weight: however, they were reckoned the biggest ever seen in this country.

The first colonists in New York were Dutchmen: when the town and its territories were taken by the English, and left them by the next peace in exchange for Surinam, the old inhabitants were allowed either to remain at New York, and to enjoy all the privileges and immunities which they were possessed of before, or to leave the place with all their goods; most of them chose the former; and therefore the inhabitants, both of the town and province belonging to it, are yet for the greatest part Dutchmen; who still, especially the old people, speak their mother tongue.

Mementos of the Olden Time.

A DUEL.

September, 1713. A duel was fought near New York by Dr. John Livingston and Mr. Thomas Dongan which resulted in the death of the former. Mr. Dongan was tried for murder and found guilty of manslaughter.

THE SEASONS.

1718, January 15. The ice from the rivers had disappeared and the frost was out of the ground. For three weeks previously the weather had been like the spring, and peas, beans, etc., were planted. But a week had scarcely elapsed ere severe cold weather set in and the rivers were filled with ice.

AN EARTHQUAKE

November, 1727. Two shocks of earthquake were felt in New York in one day. Crockery fell from shelves and the clocks in all parts of the town ceased the vibration of their pendulums.

THE COMMERCIAL MARINE.

1730. The number of vessels that entered the port of New York was 211, viz.: From Jamaica 30, from Boston 28, from Barbadoes 14, from Bermuda 13, from Curacoa 12, from Antigua 11, from London 7, from Rhode Island 7, from North Carolina 6, from Bristol 5, from Dover 5, from South Carolina 5, from Newfoundland 4, from Philadelphia 3, from Surinam 3, from Madeira 3.

SMALL POX.

1731. This disease raged fearfully in New York. Inoculation, which was then a novelty, was tried with success. But the safest course was believed to be to retire from the locality where it prevailed. The trade of New York suffered greatly from this cause at this as well as other periods when the epidemic prevailed. In one week fifty persons died of small pox. The disease set in about midsummer and continued its ravages until Christmas, during which period about six hundred persons fell victims to its ravages.

FIRST FIRE ENGINES.

December, 1732. The first fire occurred at which fire engines were used. Two fire engines had recently been imported from England, and companies were formed which became the foundation of the New York Fire Department. Their efficiency was found greatly to exceed the former method of lines of bucket men passing the water from hand to hand from the nearest wells or from the river.

HARD TIMES.

1735. Political troubles and high taxes and imposts drove many people from the city to seek more advantageous places of residence. No less than 158 dwellings were to be let at one period. The wealth of the people was freely drawn upon to sustain the merchants of the Mother country and her officials in this province. Philadelphia was a favorite residence, the more especially as it was a free port.

ELECTION.

1735. A vigorously contested election for representative of New York city in the Provincial Assembly took place. At no period had party spirit run so high. The candidates were two leading merchants, Adolph Philipse and Cornelius Van Horne. The electors appeared in the Fields (now the Park) about 9 o'clock with colors flying and drums beating. Apparently, by the show, the friends of Mr. Philipse, who were the principal merchants and gentlemen, were in the majority, but a poll was demanded, and thereupon the candidates and electors repaired to the City Hall where the poll was carried on all day till about 9 o'clock at night with the greatest warmth on both sides, the drums and music going about during the time. Between 9 and 10 at night the polls closed and the votes were for Philipse 413, for Horne 399. It was agreed that a scrutiny should be had on the following Monday. The zeal of the friends of the candidates was so great that it was supposed every voter in the city was brought out. One gentleman used his chariot in bringing up voters of all sorts, so that the poor women cried out: "These are fine times when carmen and chimney sweeps ride in coaches."

BURNING OF THE ARCHIVES OF TRINITY CHURCH.

February, 1750. A fire broke out in the new Free School-house kept by Joseph Hildreth, Clerk of Trinity Church. The church was frequently in danger but was saved. All the records of the church were consumed.

THE OYSTER PASTY BATTERY.

In May, 1751, some workmen digging down the bank of the North river in the rear of Trinity Church discovered a stone wall four or five feet thick and nearly eight feet under ground. It was supposed at the time to be the breastwork of a battery, but the oldest person then living could give no account of it. We are more familiar with the city antiquities than the residents a century ago, and know from the records which have been published that this was at or near the locality of the fortification at the North river end of the city wall, called "Oyster Pasty Mount."

WHALES IN THE NORTH RIVER.

December, 1755. Two whales were struck south of the Highlands.

WILD PIGEONS.

April, 1759. In one day 75,000 wild pigeons were brought to the market in the city, selling at fifty for one shilling.

SALE OF SLAVES.

November, 1762. "To be sold at Cruger's Wharf, on board the sloops Rebecca and Joseph just arrived from Arrambo in Guinea, a parcel of likely young slaves, men, women, and boys."

PILLORY AND CAGE.

September, 1764. The new pillory, with a large wooden cage behind it, was erected between the new Jail (the present Hall of Records) and the Work-house (the site of the City Hall) the cage being for disorderly boys who publicly broke the Sabbath.

KING GEORGE'S STATUE.

August, 1770. An elegant equestrian statue, the first of the kind in this city, of his Majesty George III., was erected in the Bowling Green in presence of a large concourse of persons and amid music and a discharge of ordnance. It remained six years but was destroyed by the Liberty boys in 1776, and its material (lead) cast into bullets.

THE BATTERY.

July, 1735. The first stone of the platform of the new battery on Whitehall rocks was laid by his Excellency the Governor (Cosby) who named the battery after his son-in-law the "George Augustus Royal Battery." At the close of the ceremonies one of the cannon burst by which three persons were killed, viz., John Symes, Esq., High Sheriff, Miss Courtland, daughter of Colonel Courtland, one of the members of His Majesty's Council, and a son-in-law of Alderman Romer.

THE DUTCH CHURCH IN THE FORT.

June, 1790. While engaged in the work at the Government-house on the site of the old Fort, a flat stone was taken up from under the ruins of the chapel which formerly stood there, on which was found to be the tablet of the Dutch church erected within that inclosure in 1642. It had upon it the following inscription :

“An. Do. MDCXLII W.
Kieft. Dr. Gl. Heeft
de Gemeenten Deese
Temple doen Bouwen ”

Translation, “Anno Domini, 1642. W. Kieft, Director-General, hath caused the congregation to erect this temple.”

PIRATES AND PRIVATEERS.

July, 1723. Captain Peter Solgard, commander of H. M. Ship Greyhound, the station ship of this Province, on a cruise on the coast, on intelligence given him pursued and overhauled two pirate sloops commanded by one Low, a “notorious inhuman pirate,” after much resistance, capturing one and shattering the other, which, however, escaped in the night, whereupon the freedom of the city was presented to the gallant officer.

THE WINDMILL ON THE COMMONS.

December, 1723. The land lying near the windmill formerly of Jasper Nessepot, near the Commons of the city, was surveyed, with the view of laying out at regular width the high road now known as Chatham street.

THE CITY FATHERS.

1728. The members of the City Government generally personally attended to the laying out of the public lands, and on such occasions a fine collation was served at the public expense.

BEEKMAN'S SWAMP.

1728. Ten lots sold by the City 25x120 for £100.

THE FIRST PUBLIC LIBRARY.

July, 1729. The Rev. Dr. Millington, Rector of Newington, in England, bequeathed to the Society for Propagating the Gospel 1642 volumes of miscellaneous works, which became the foundation of the present Society Library.

NEGROES AND SLAVES.

1731. The law for regulating required that no negro or Indian slave above fourteen years should appear in the streets south of the Fresh Water Brook (Pearl and Chatham streets) in the night, after an hour succeeding sunset, without a lantern by the light of which they could be plainly seen, or else to be in company with a white person.

OFFICE HOLDERS.

1732. William Sharpas had then been City Clerk for over forty years, and continued to hold the office some years subsequently, when he died. At the time above stated he petitioned for an increase of salary.

TRINITY CHURCH.

1696. During this year Trinity Church was begun; it was opened for worship by the Rev. Mr. Vesey in the year 1697. This building was enlarged in 1735-6, and burnt down in 1776, and another building erected in 1788. It was consecrated by Bishop Provoost, in 1791. The last has in its turn (1839) been demolished, with the intention of erecting a third Trinity. The cemetery of this church was granted by the Common Council gratuitously to the vestry in 1703, on condition that it be neatly fenced, and that the fees for burial be limited to 3s. 6d. for grown persons and 1s. 6d. for those under twelve years of age. By the records, it appears that this cemetery had received more than 160,000 bodies before the conflagration of 1776.

BOLTING AND BAKING MONOPOLY.

1696. "Upon inquiry, it is found that there is not more than seven hundred bushels of corn within the city, and the number of inhabitants being computed six thousand or more, therefore found that the stock of corn would not be sufficient for a week's maintenance. The cause assigned by the common council for this scarcity, is 'the liberty and latitude that every planter had lately taken, of making his house or farme a market for his wheat, or converting the same into flour by bolting of itt, and that under pretence of a privilege they conceived they have obtained, by virtue of a law of the general Assembly, entitled an act against unlawful By-Laws,' which had deprived the city of the monopoly formerly enjoyed.

"The mayor craves advice to remove this intolerable greivance, that the city may be restored to its rights and privileges; they recommend an address to his majesty for the repeal of said law, and a committee is accordingly appointed. An assize of rye bread agreed on—'a loaf weighing five pounds for 4½d—Rye being at 3s. 3d. the bushel.'"

WATCH AND POLICE REGULATIONS.

1676. "Ordered that the watch be set every night by eight o'clock; immediately after the ringing of the bell. That the city-gates be locked up by the constable or deputy, before nine of the clock, and opened in the morning presently after day-light, at the dismissal of the watch: 'and if any person goes from, or absent himself without consent, hee, or they, shall forfeit for every such default, ten guilders.' That the sergeant or corporall of the watch, shall at all times, succeed the deputy constables on the watch for the execution thereof. That if any one come upon the watch overcharged with drink, he shall pay two guilders: but if abusive or quite drunk, he is to pay the same as if he absented himself, four guilders. If any person shall quarrel 'upon the watch on account of being of different nations' or other pretence, he shall pay four guilders. Any centinal leaving his post before he is relieved, shall pay twenty guilders, and suffer three days imprisonment. The centinal to stand on his post one hour. That frequent rounds about the city be made, especially towards the bridge. No cursing and swearing shall be allowed upon the watch, nor any gaminge at dice or cards, nor any exercise of drinkinge, upon the penalty of four guilders. That a list of the fines be brought by the prevost unto the mayor. 'The sergeant belonging to every watch shall come with his halbert; and see that every one of the watch bring his arms, that is to say, his sword and good half pike.' Every head of family to have 'one good musket or firelock, with six charges of powder and six of ball at least, on penalty of four guilders for the first offence, eight for the second, and twelve for the third; and the officers of each county are to search four times a yeare. A NOBLEMAN'S MOTHER.

1760, April. Mrs. Mary Alexander died. She had kept a store in New York for many years. Her husband was a distinguished lawyer, who acquired wealth and distinction here. Her son was educated in England, and after his father's death visited that country, where he attempted to procure recognition of his claim to the title of the Earl of Stirling. His relationship to the last Earl was so far established as to secure the indorsement of a jury, though not under forms which were recognized by the House of Peers. He assumed the title, but was specially enjoined from its use. He returned to America, where, by courtesy, he was addressed by his title. He became a distinguished American General.

AFTER THE GREAT FIRE OF 1776.

Proclamation by Major General James Robertson.

Whereas there is ground to believe that the REBELS not satisfied with the Destruction of Part of the City entertain Designs of burning the Rest. And it is thought that a Watch to inspect all the Parts of the City to apprehend Incendiaries and to stifle Fires before they rise to a dangerous Height might be a necessary and proper means to prevent such a calamity. Many of the principal Inhabitants have applied to me to form such a Watch and have all offered to watch in Person. I do therefore require and direct That all Persons may take a Part in this Matter and turn out to Watch when called for. A Sense of duty and Interest will lead all good Subjects and Citizens cheerfully to give their Attendance. And any who refuse to take Part in preserving the City will be judged unworthy to inhabit it. I have appointed Persons to summon and Superintend the Watch of each Ward and the number of Men to be given by each is subjoined. Signed James Robertson Major General Commander in New York.

The Out Ward to furnish 14 men each night.

Montgomerie Ward to furnish 15 men each night.

North Ward to furnish 15 men each night.

These to meet at the Guard Room near Cuylers Sugar house.

West Ward to furnish 6 men each night.

South Ward to furnish 4 men each night.

Dock Ward to furnish 10 men each night.

East Ward to furnish 16 men each night.

These to meet at the Guard house in Hanover Square.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.

To the Representatives of the People of the State of New York in Senate and Assembly convened :

The Memorial of the Subscribers, inhabitants of the City and County of New York,

HUMBLY SHEWETH :

That your memorialists in the Month of January one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, associated for the relief of distressed Debtors confined in the Goal of the city and county of New York.

That your memorialists, since that time have, in rotation, made weekly visitations at the Goal in order to enquire into the situations of the unfortunate debtors, and administer such relief to their necessities as the charitable contributions of their fellow citizens have enabled your memorialists to afford.

That your memorialists in prosecuting the purposes of their association have, with unspeakable regret, observed a large number of persons confined within the walls of the Goal, deprived of the comfort of their families, prevented from the opportunity of obtaining the means of subsistence by their own industry, subjected to the danger arising from putrid and contagious disorders occasioned by crowded rooms and corrupted air, and liable to become useless if not pernicious members of society from the great danger they are in of acquiring habits of intemperance and debauchery, while attempting to drown the recollection of their present misfortunes and distresses by the excessive use of spirituous liquors.

That your memorialists are persuaded the existence of these evils will be fully evinced when it is considered that from the 2d of January 1787 to the 3d of December 1788 there have been eleven hundred and sixty-two commitments to the Goal of this county for Debt.

That seven hundred and sixteen of these have been for sums recoverable before a justice of the peace and many of these under twenty shillings.

That there are at present eighty Debtors in Goal forty of whom are confined for sums under twenty pounds.

That your memorialists have endeavoured to discriminate between those who had any means of subsistence and such as were absolutely destitute yet they have constantly had from twelve to twenty-five on their list, and have furnished necessaries to one hundred and eighty-four persons.

That your memorialists conceive the interest of the community is greatly injured by the confinement of debtors for small sums, as thereby the certain profit which would arise to the society from the labour of the debtor, is sacrificed for an indefinite time, to the precarious prospect of recovering a debt, which the creditor has in most instances improvidently suffered to be contracted and which very often does not amount to one fourth of the value the public would derive from the labour of the debtor, during the time of his confinement.

That your memorialists submit these matters to consideration, in humble confidence that the wisdom of the Legislature will provide a remedy for our evil productive of consequences dangerous and destructive to an alarming degree.

Particulars of the Riot,

SOON AFTER THE CAPTURE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK BY THE ENGLISH IN 1665.

At the City Court held 22d June 1665 in the City Hall, present the Hon. Thomas Willet Mayor Thomas Delavall Olof Stevensen Van Cortlant John Lawrence Aldermen and Allard Anthony Sheriff

Coenraet Ten Eyck Joost Goderus Stoffel Van Laer and Hendrick Jansen

Vandervin appeared in Court to testify the truth regarding the riot which occurred on the 19th instant.

The above named Coenraet Ten Eyck declared that he was standing on the bridge where some children came, who said "There come three soldiers who say they will clear the street" which soldiers coming on the Bridge exclaimed (so far as we could understand) "Let every one go home and attend to his business" One of them then drawing his sword from its scabbard attacked him, whereupon deponent ran away

Joost Goderus City burgher aged 36 or 37 years declares that he was standing on the Bridge about Seven o'clock in the Evening of the 19th of this month of June, and saw three soldiers come on the Bridge, one of whom drew his sword and struck Coenraet Ten Eyck, Joost Carelzen and deponent three blows. Whereupon Hendrick Obe the Constable charged deponent to go to the Fort to call the Soldiers and having run a little way in the street, he stopped and saw that they had drawn their swords and struck the Constable That the Constable called for help, whereupon deponent turned back and took up some stones to go to the Constables assistance. He then saw one Jonck Kerel come running out of the house of Thomas Kock, who fired with his gun, whereupon the soldiers retired. The Soldier who struck deponent and the others was freckled in the face, had on a blue shirt and was the first to commence the affray

Stoffel Van Laer aged 26 years declares that he was standing on the Bridge near Hans Dreppers about seven o'clock in the evening of said date when three soldiers came to sit on the Bridge, one of whom stood and drew his sword, driving the boys from the Bridge. After which he ran at Coenraet Ten Eyck who having retreated he followed and struck him, whereupon deponent retired and went to stand on the shore. The soldiers then went to Hendrick Obe. Some persons called for help for said Hendrick. Whereupon deponent with others went to him and saw that he was wounded.

Hendrick Jansen Vandervin aged about fifty years declares that he was standing on Nicholas Backers stoop after the trouble had ceased between the soldiers and sailors, and saw two soldiers coming from the Fort one of whom apparently much excited drew his sword and went to the Bridge where many people were standing among them Hendrick Obe the Constable. The soldiers drove away the boys who were standing about the Bridge after which coming on the Bridge they also drove away the People who were standing on both sides striking them with their naked Swords. Hendrick Obe stood by one of the soldiers at the corner of Hendrick the Bakers fence speaking to him and holding him by his coat, and apparently would have the soldier go with him. Whereupon the two soldiers fell on Hendrick and struck him with all their might with their naked swords, so that he was obliged to retire. He saw as Hendrick was retiring that one soldier ran after him with a gun and discharged the same.

Dogs in New York City a Century Ago.

New York, Dec 16, 1752

Sir

Tho' you have in your two last Papers given us your Thoughts on Subjects of sufficient Moment, to merit the sage Deliberation of our Superiors ; yet I presume, you are not unwilling, sometimes to quit your more elevated Speculations, and for a while, condescend to take Cognizance of inferior Grievances. The true Sportsman does not confine his Diversion to the Pursuit of a Deer, or the Chace of a Fox ; but will often stoop to the meaner Game of the timorous Hare, or the humble Covey. In confidence of this, I shall lay before you the following Reflections, without troubling my Head about an introductory Apology, convinced as I am, that immediately proceeding to the subject of my Complaint, will be more acceptable to you than any Compliment I can make.

It appears, Sir, from the most accurate Calculation, that we have in this City, at least a Thousand Dogs ; I do not mean of the human kind ; for the Extirpation of those, would prove such an Augean Stable, as to require a Labour perfectly Herculean. The Dogs I intend, are that real canine species, which, with their dismal Howlings, disturb the repose of the Healthy, break the interrupted Slumbers of the Sick, add fresh Horrors to the Night, and render it perillous to traverse our Streets after the Sun is sunk beneath our Horizon. These Creatures are a perfect Nuisance to the Inhabitants, and with respect to Forty Nine in Fifty, answer not one valuable purpose in Life. Nay, should any of them run mad, as have lately sundry of their species, in many parts of the Country, how inexpressibly dreadful would be the Consequence to so populous a City.

I may venture to take it for granted that our Dogs daily consume as much eatable Provision, as would suffice Five Hundred Men : A monstrous Extravagance, and a Piece of Luxary, that would almost redden the cheek of a Lucullus ! The Expence of a Thousand Dogs at a Penny a Day, amounts to £1520-16-8. per Annum. Or, allow only 500 Dogs, to eat to the value of a Penny a Day, that will amount to £760-8-4, a year. What Clamour should we hear was such a Sum to be annually raised by a Tax on the Inhabitants for the Maintenance of our Poor ! We should even be stunned with Murmurs, was such a Sum to be levied for the Support of the Clergy : Yet so preposterous are we, as to lavish our Superfluities on the brutal Creation, while our ears are sealed against the plaintive Voice of our own Species ; and to caress the grovelling Quadrupede, when we turn aloof from the human Face divine.

There is nothing more common, than daily to behold at our Doors, the shivering pale visaged home born Poor, and the penurious half clad Stranger, banished by the Rage of Persecution, from his native Soil, imploring with the persuasive Eloquence of flowing Tears, and silent Sorrow, the cold Morsel, and the scanty Boon, which he is inhumanly refused, while Towser, Tray and Mopsy are pampered with Dainties, and gorged with the Fat of the Land!

It may indeed, be objected, that to Gentlemen they are useful Animals, in guarding their Yards, and proclaiming the Approach of Robbers: But not One in Fifty, to speak within Compass, is kept for that Purpose; and where it really is the Case, let such Persons be compelled to confine them to their Yards, and prevent them from being a Terror and Disturbance to their Neighbors.

I am so great a Lover of Fidelity and Gratitude, in which those Animals often surpass our own perfidious Race; that Impartiality obliges me, not to apply for their Banishment, without doing Justice to their virtues; I must also allow, that to the Husbandman they are a valuable Part of his Possession. But in a City they are generally worse than useless. They are noxious, and a meer Burden to the People.

As you, Mr. Reflector, seem both able and willing, to contribute to the Redress of our Grievances, I beseech you, to roar like a Lion against those useless Curs; that, by a Law of the Corporation we may speedily be Witnesses of their perpetual Exile

Yours &c

SHADRECH PLEBIANUS.

Suggestions as to the Fire Department a Century Since.

A Proposal of some further Regulations, for the Speedier and more effectual Extinguishing of Fires, that may happen in this City. January 11, 1753.

—Vaga per veterem dilapso flamma culinam
Volcano, summum properabat lambere Tectum.—HOR.

It is a common observation that the Inhabitants of this City are remarkable for their Agility in extinguishing Fires: And since so judicious a Poet as Virgil, hath compared the Industry of the Tyrians, to the Labours of the Bee; I think the amazing Celerity, with which my Fellow-Citizens cluster together, at the ringing of the Fire-Bell, may fitly be resembled, to the Swarming of those curious Insects, at the sound of the Instrument used for that Purpose. To pursue the Simile, there is not a Drone amongst them; but the Rich and the Poor, are alike indefatigable in preserving their Neighbors Property, from the devouring Flames. It is one universal Hurry and incessant Activity: Nay, they have often exposed themselves to the Peril of their Lives, and performed Feats almost surpassing Comprehension or Belief. They toil with unwearied Diligence, and seem insensible of the Danger which threatens them. In a Word, they stand in the Midst of the Flames, as unconcerned as Salamanders, mocking at Fear, and Striving to outvie each other in suppressing the general Calamity. A noble Emulation, and worthy the highest Eulogium.

Nor ought the Companies, lately formed for the preservation of Goods at Fires, be passed over, without that Share of Applause which is due to so laudable an Undertaking. An Undertaking that deserves to be commemorated with Gratitude and Honour, as it exhibits a glaring Attestation of their public Spirit and exemplary Devotion to their Country. They have been at a considerable Expence, in furnishing themselves with a proper Apparatus; and given undeniable Proofs, of the extensive Utility of their respective Societies. Animated by their Example may others project Expedients, equally tending to the public Benefit; and reap for their Reward, an equal Share of public Gratitude.

For my own Part, as my future Speculations will, on the one Hand, evince my Reluctance, at sparing the Rod, where Correction is necessary; so they will, on the other, show my Readiness, to bestow all due Honour, upon whatever deserves the Approbation of the Public. Would to Heaven, I never had an Opportunity but to praise, with an absolute Privation of the least Necessity for the Exercise of my Chastisements! From this disinterested Impartiality, I cannot refrain from paying to Merit, its just Tribute of Commendation and Renown. I shall therefore, take the Liberty, still a Moment to detain the Reader, in order to express my own, and my Countrymens grateful Sense of the Corporations Liberality, in making such ample Provision for the Extinguishing of Fires, that we are in want of but few Things requisite to that End. As most Inventions, however, arrive at Perfection, by gradual Improvements, there is, I conceive, a Possibility of superadding sundry Regulations for the speedier controuling the Rage of that terrible Element.

It hath more than once been observed that our Engines are incapable of throwing water to such a Height as is sometimes necessary. Of this we had a dreadful Instance when the Steeple of Trinity Church took Fire. On that Occasion we observed, with universal Terror, that the Engines could scarce deliver the Water to the Top of the Roof. The Spire however, was far beyond its Reach; and had not Providence smiled upon the astonishing Dexterity and Resolution of a few Men, who ascended the Steeple within, that splendid and superb Edifice, had, in all Probability, been reduced to Ashes

We are therefore in want of at least one Engine of the largest Size, which throws Water about One Hundred and Seventy feet high, discharges two Hundred Gallons in a Minute, and costs about Sixty Five Pounds Sterling. Such an Engine would have another Advantage besides carrying the Water to so great a Height. The prodigious Quantity it delivered, would be of unspeakable service at all Fires.

Another Thing, in which our present method of extinguishing Fires, is capable of farther Improvement, is this: It is usual for People, in Cases of Fire, to form themselves into two Lines, the One to convey the full Buckets to the Engine, and the Other to return the empty Ones. Now it frequently happens, that when the Engine is full, Word is given, to Stop Water. This occasions a total Cessation in the Conveyance of more Water to the Engine, as well as the greatest Confusion in the Ranks; the Consequence of which is, that the Engine is empty before the Ranks regain their former Regularity, which creates a considerable intermission in its playing. The mischievous effects of this are apparent, on the least Reflection; for these Interruptions, be they ever so small, give the Fire Time to resume its Fury, and which, if often repeated, requires a much greater Quantity of Water for its total Suppression, than would be necessary, was the Engine continued in one regular and uninterrupted Exercise. This Inconvenience might, I conceive, be easily remedied by supplying each Engine with a large Tub, of at least the Size of an Hogshead; which being made of Cedar, might be sufficiently strong, and at the same Time light enough to be portable by two Men. This vessel ought to be placed near the Engine, and all the full Buckets to be emptied into it. From this capacious Tub, three or four Men might constantly and equally keep the Engine replenished; which would enable it to play an equable and uniform Stream. The happy Effects resulting from such an Expedient, would, I am persuaded, be immediately visible; And indeed, the Truth of the Proposition, is evident and constantly exemplified in Life; For a Pail of Water, sprinkled by Degrees on a common Fire, will very little affect it; In Reality, all the Water may be wasted without extinguishing it; which nevertheless, thrown on it together, would be sufficient entirely to quench it.

Again, Fires often happen so remote from Water, as to occasion a Want of People, and in Places where the Passage is too narrow, to admit of a sufficient Number of double Lines to supply the Engines. In such cases, I would propose, that People should form themselves into three single Lines, instead of two double Ones; the two exterior Ones for the full Buckets; which, as they are emptied into the great Tub, should be laid at the Feet of the first Man of the inner Line, to be reconveyed to the Water. This Line would be sufficient, to return the empty Buckets of the other two, and by that Method, three Men might do the usual business of four, and in three quarters of the Space of Ground.

This Economy is well worthy our Consideration; nor can We, on these Occasions, be too well supplied with Water, with respect to the Tubs before mentioned. I must take the Liberty, to entreat our Magistrates, that we Remain no longer without them. For could they be applied to no other Use, than what I have already pointed out, that alone would render them extremely serviceable. But they will also, be of signal Advantage in other Respects; They will, in a great Measure, secure the Engines against being clogged and choaked with the Sand and Pebbles scooped into the Buckets at the River Side; For the Buckets being emptied into them, the Sand and Pebbles will sink to the Bottom, and the Water only be thrown into the Engines.

Another advantage that would arise from the Use of such Tubs, is, that no Movement or Change of Situation in the Engine nor any other Accident that might impede its Playing, need occasion any Interruption to the Ranks, in conveying Water; to which they are at present greatly subject, on every such Emergency; For there being no Reservoir to receive the Water, when the Engine is full, or changing Place, the Lines must, during that Interval, either cease conveying it, or set the full Buckets on the Ground, where they are generally overset, and the Water lost.

It is further to be remarked, that many Parts of the City, too remote from the River, to be supplied with Water from thence, are very deficient in public Wells. I am sensible, that when this has been mentioned, it hath often been esteemed a full Reply, that the People have Wells enough in their Yards. But the Inconveniences generally attending the bringing Water from thence, are sufficient Reasons, for making more public Wells in the Streets; For, without assigning any other, the Opportunity it affords for robbing the Houses, thro' which the Water is brought, is an Evil almost as bad as the Fire itself.
